

Poverty Program Funds To Aid 29,000 Students

More than 29,000 students at 477 colleges and universities will receive aid this semester under the War on Poverty's work study program, which is currently getting underway.

Initial grants totalling $8,939,291 to support the program were announced by the U.S. Office of Education last week. The grants will pay 90 percent of the wages of low income students working part-time in newly created on and off-campus jobs. The college or other employment agency pays the remaining ten percent.

On campus jobs include library, laboratory, research and employment maintenance aides. Off campus employment is limited to welfare, social work or participation in community action anti-poverty programs.

Each student will receive about $250 for an estimated 17 weeks of work between January and the end of the spring semester. Under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which includes the work study program, work is limited to 15 hours weekly.

The grants just awarded were based on proposals submitted by 605 institutions as of Dec. 19, 1964. Of those not yet approved, more than half are being held up pending receipt of assurances that the institutions will comply with the non-discrimination re-

Speech Meeting Opens Tomorrow

Department of speech chairman and assistants from several universities in the Midwest will hold their annual meeting at the University Center tomorrow and Saturday.

Dr. Leroy T. Laase, chairman of the University's department of speech and chairman of the Mid-West Universities' Basic Speech Association, said the group will concentrate on plans for cooperative research.

Dr. Laase explained that there is a need for speech departments in major universities to cooperate in deciding what areas of speech research are needed most.

Representatives attending and their schools include:

- Thorell Fest and Robley Rhine, University of Colorado;
- Donald Bryant and John W. Bowers, State University of Iowa;
- Victor Hornack, University of Illinois;
- Terry A. Weiden, Donald Darnell, Kansas State University;
- Wilmer A. Linkugel, University of Kansas;
- Carl Dallinger, Illinois State Normal University;
- Bob Friedman, University of Missouri;
- Roger E. Nebergall, University of Oklahoma;
- Fred Jewell, Leslie R. Kreps, Oklahoma State University;
- John Thurber, Charles R. Gruner and Leroy T. Laase, University of Nebraska.

Women's Clubs Grant $500 To Foundation

The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs contributed $500 this week to the University Foundation for use as grant-in-aids to worthy foreign students.

Harry Haynie, Foundation president, said the funds may go to either graduate or undergraduate students attending the University. According to the trust agreement, the recipients will be selected by the University's Foreign Student Office.

The recipients must have demonstrated their ability to do satisfactory college work and must be in need of financial assistance to carry on their schooling, according to the agreement.

Mrs. Walter Kirchhefer of Sutton, president of the Federation, said the aid not be given to nationals of a foreign country which in recent years has exhibited hostility to the United States.

quirement of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

A total of $56 million has been appropriated for the current fiscal year to finance the work study program. This is enough to aid approximately 125,000 low income students.

If amendments to the program proposed by the Johnson administration in the Higher Education Act of 1965 are passed, the program will aid up to 300,000 students.

The proposed amendments would also extend the opportunity to participate in the program to middle income students.

Even if the Johnson amendments to the program are passed, however, less than seven per cent of all students enrolled in college next year would receive work-study aid.

The largest work-study grant of those announced went to the University of Wisconsin at Madison ($379,520). The smallest grant, $612, went to Sacred Heart College, Cullman, Ala., which has 17 students.

In addition to Wisconsin, 11 institutions received work study grants of more than $100,000. They were the University of Alabama, San Jose State College, UCLA, University of Connecticut, University of Hawaii, University of Minnesota, Wayne State University, University of Tennessee and the University of Puerto Rico.

Kerrey To Keep Profits

there had been some complaints made concerning student assistants in the dormitories.

He said the complaints concerned the selection process and the quality persons being selected as assistants; and the fact that neither students nor assistants fully understand the position of the assistant.

Plans of the Service include incorporating the Counseling Service in the selection of assistants and looking into "how involved assistants are with students." According to Neumeister, the Service wishes to change the role of the assistant from a negative police role to a positive counseling role.

Neumeister also told the Council that in the next few weeks, Dean Walter Militzer of the Arts and Sciences College would speak before the Council on his idea to change the University's grading scale from 9-8-7- to an A-B-C or 1-2-3 scale. Neumeister urged all students to attend this meeting, since the issue "is important to all students."

Applications for two graduate college representatives for the Council will be accepted at the Student Council office for one more week, according to Kerrey. Letters should be written to the Student Council office.

Miss Stratemann reported that the Faculty Senate had accepted the constitutions of Tau Rho, Young Democrats, University Friends of SNCC and Capital Hall. The Judiciary Committee accepted the constitution for the African Students' Association.

The University was selected as one of the schools to nominate persons to win the Robbins Award, a national award given in eight areas.

The Council selected eight persons as the University's nominees. They are Bill Mauldin, special; Martin Luther King, religion; Robert McNamara, government; Gerald Phillippe, industry; Red Skelton, entertainment; Don Shollander, athletics; Sargent Shriver, promotion of international relations; and James Conant, education.

The award is given in memory of a Utah State student who was killed in 1954. It is given to living American citizens in the various categories. John Kennedy was given the award posthumously last year.

The program for the Senators' Committee, which was scheduled to be discussed at the Council meeting was postponed until next week, according to Lydick, because "some of the action will involve talking with other organizations this week."

Institute Grants Increase

A $44,000 grant to train 30 teachers in educational media brings to $186,000 the amount of money allocated to the University by the U.S. Office of Education for 1965 summer institutes.

The University will receive a $57,000 grant for a U.S. History Institute and an $85,000 grant for an English Institute. The institutes, designed for secondary school teachers, will be among the first offered in these fields since the National Defense Education Act was amended in 1964.

Dr. Robert Stepp, assistant director of the Extension Division and head of the bureau of audio-visual instruction, will serve as director of the Educational Media Institute. Dr. Wesley Meierhenry, assistant dean of Teachers College, will be assistant director.

Both men have received national recognition in the field of audio-visual education. In addition, the University's Extension Division pioneered in establishing the first film rental library in the Midwest and KUON-TV was the seventh educational television station on the air in the U.S.

The Educational Media Institute will be designed to train teachers to serve as coordinators of instructional materials in school buildings. During the eight-week session June 14-Aug. 6, participants will be introduced to and given experience in all phases of the operation of audio-visual equipment, production of materials and administration of an instructional materials center.

Participants may earn six hours of graduate credit in the Institute plus three hours in a related seminar. The 30 teachers selected to participate will receive tuition and $75 per week plus $15 per week for each dependent while attending the Institute.

Application forms may be obtained by writing Dr. Robert Stepp, NDEA Institute—Educational Media, Room 421C, Nebraska Hall, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

NYU Sponsors Study in Poland

New York University will offer the first seminar in a Communist country this summer at the University of Warsaw, Poland, on Public Law and Administration.

It will meet at NYU June 28 and from July 3 to Aug. 18 at the University of Warsaw. All lectures will be given in English.

Enrollment will be limited to 18 graduate students selected from NYU and other schools. The tuition cost is $315, but the U.S. State Department will provide assistance in transportation and living allowance.

Applications should be sent to Dr. James Crown at New York University, 4 Washington Square North, New York City, 10003.

Michigan State Offers European Study Plan

Students can study French, German and Spanish in Europe this summer by enrolling in a Michigan State University overseas language program.

Credit courses are scheduled from July 5 to Aug. 20

Three credit courses will be offered in Paris, France; Cologne, Germany, and Madrid, Spain, under the auspices of MSU's American Language and Educational Center (AMLEC) and the College of Arts and Letters.

Students will be housed with private families in all but the Paris program, according to Dr. Sheldon Cherney, NSU's AMLEC director. He feels that the family setting will result in more frequent use of the language.

The courses, taught or supervised by Michigan State language professors, will each carry nine credits.

Cherney adds that both the credit and noncredit courses will be supplemented by optional lectures and trips to points of historic, cultural or geographic interest.

Noncredit language programs will also be offered in Paris; Lausanne and Neuchatel, Switzerland; Barcelona and Madrid, Spain; Cologne, and Florence, Italy.

Fees for the AMLEC programs are extremely modest when contrasted with similar overseas language courses. This has been made possible through the family housing arrangements and special charter air rates for round-trip travel.

Angel Flight Planning AF Week Workshop

Two programs will be sponsored by Angel Flight during Air Force Week, Mar. 1-5.

Cherney reports that costs for credit courses will range from $625 to $750, and include tuition, transportation, orientation program, housing, two daily meals and other incidentals. Noncredit programs will run between $325 and $675, he adds.

The first program, "What's Inside the USAF?" will be presented by the Family Services Department of the LAFB, March 2 at 7 p.m. in the Union Auditorium.

An optional eight-day tour following the course is $125, and a 13-day tour, $225. These prices include travel, housing, three meals daily, services of a skilled tour leader and certain other extras.

The Blue Yonder Workshop will be held Mar. 3. This will feature an invitational tea for wives, fiancées and pinettes of AFROTC cadets at the home of Col. Shimonkevitz.

Applications for AMLEC programs must be received no later than April 1, 1965.

Additional information on either the credit or noncredit programs can be obtained by writing AMLEC, Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich.

THE BEARD OF AVON

Topic for today is that perennial favorite of English majors, that ever-popular crowd pleaser, that good sport and great American—William Shakespeare (or "The Swedish Nightingale" as he is better known as).

First let us examine the persistent theory that Shakespeare (or "The Pearl of the Pacific" as he is jokingly called) is not the real author of his plays. Advocates of this theory insist the plays are so full of classical allusions and learned references that they couldn't possibly have been written by the son of an illiterate country butcher.

To which I reply "Fugh!" Was not the great Spinoza's father a humble woodcutter? Was not the immortal Isaac Newton's father a simple second handman? (The elder Newton, incidentally, is one of history's truly pathetic figures. He was, by all accounts, the greatest second baseman of his time, but baseball, alas, had not yet been invented. It used to break young Isaac's heart to see his father get up every morning, put on uniform, spikes, glove, and cap, and stand alertly behind second base, bent forward, eyes narrowed, waiting, waiting, waiting. That's all—waiting. Isaac loyally sat in the bleachers and yelled "Good show, Dad!" and stuff like that, but everyone else in town sniggered derisively, made coarse gestures, and pelted the Newtons with overripe fruit—figs for the elder Newton, apples for the younger. Thus, as we all know, the famous moment came when Isaac Newton, struck in the head with an apple, leapt to his feet, shouted "Europa!" and announced the third law of motion: "For every action there is an opposite and equal reaction!")

Figs for the elder Newton, apples for the younger.

(How profoundly true these simple words are! Take, for example, Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades. Shave with a Personna. That's the action. Now what is the reaction? Pleasure, delight, contentment, cheer, and facial felicity. Why such a happy reaction? Because you have started with the sharpest, most durable blade ever honed—a blade that gives you more shaves, closer shaves, comfortabler shaves than any other brand on the market. If, by chance, you don't agree, simply return your unused Personnas to the manufacturer and he will send you absolutely free a package of Beep-Beep or any other blade you think is better.)

But I digress. Back to Shakespeare (or "The Gem of the Ocean" as he was ribaldly appelted).

Shakespeare's most important play is, of course, Hamlet (or, as it is frequently called, Macbeth). This play tells in living color the story of Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, who one night sees a ghost upon the battlements. (Possibly it is a goat he sees; I have a first folio that is frankly not too legible.) Anyhow, Hamlet is so upset by seeing this ghost (or goat) that he stabs Polonius and Brer Bodkin. He is thereupon banished to a leather factory by the king, who hollers, "Get thee to a tannery!" Thereupon Ophelia refuses her food until Laertes shouts, "Get thee to a beanery!" Ophelia is so cross that she chases her little dog out of the room, crying, "Out, damned Spot!" She is fined fifty shillings for causing, but Portia, in an eloquent plea, gets the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Thereupon King Lear and Queen Mab proclaim a festival—complete with kissing games and a pie-eating contest. Everybody has a perfectly splendid time until Banquo's ghost (or goat) shows up. This so unnerves Richard III that he drowns his cousin, Butt Malmsey. This leads to a lively discussion, during which everyone is killed. The little dog Spot returns to utter the immortal curtain lines:

Our hero now has croaked,
 And so's our prima donna,
 But be of cheer, my friends,
 You'll always have Personna.

Yea and verily, And when next thou buyest Personna! buyest also some new Burma Shave! regular or menthol, which soak-eth rings around any other leather. Get thee to a pharmacy!
