The winners tied from a field of 23 teams in the second annual duplicate bridge tournament.

Second place was taken by Tom Brandzel and Ralph Kasmicke of Phi Gamma Delta. Third place in the overall and first in the sorority division were won by Jean Barber and Jean Enceel of Kappa Alpha Theta.

YD's Announce Intern Program

A political internship program was announced last week by J. Albert House, Jr., president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

A small group of college students will be chosen to work in the YDCA national office at the Democratic National Committee for ten weeks this summer.

The Young Democratic interns will participate in a broad range of responsibilities. They will assist in the development and execution of YD political organization, coordinating activities of state and college clubs through the national headquarters, and will work closely with the YD's administration legislative support program.

Any junior, senior or graduate student who is a member of a YD club is eligible to apply. The program will run from June 15 to Sept. 1 and will entail a $500 grant to help defray the expenses. Applications must be mailed by midnight, Apr. 15. Anyone interested is urged to contact Bob Cherny, 435-4774.

Proposed Law Threatens Future Of Tractor Testing

The future of the Tractor Testing Laboratory, which operates through the University, is in for a "tough test of its own," according to an article in the Lincoln Journal.

LB552, which provides that tractors manufactured, sold and used primarily for heavy construction and earth moving by contractors and governmental bodies would be excluded from the tests now required by state law, is the shadow on the testing program.

If large tractors are excluded from the tests, other manufacturers may ask for exemptions too, according to Prof. George Steinbruegge of the Tractor Testing Laboratory.

The result, he said, would be the deterioration of the tractor testing program that has won world-wide attention.

Supporting LB552, the Nebraska Heavy Equipment Dealers Association said that very few, if any, heavy construction-type tractors have been tested at the laboratory since 1959.

They have argued that the test is meaningless because manufacturers have extended the warranty period on their equipment and have provided manufacturing programs that are more rugged than the Nebraska test.

According to Robert Phillips, vice president of the Lincoln Equipment Co., it would cost $7,640 to test a large D9 Caterpillar, with considerable depreciation involved on the equipment and no useful information provided the people using the equipment.

"The testing fees must be added to the purchase price by the distributor and, in turn, to the cost of construction work," according to Charles Thone, counsel for the Nebraska Heavy Equipment Dealers.

To protect the agricultural aspects of state law, the Nebraska Heavy Equipment Dealers Association will support an amendment to LB552, according to Thone.

This amendment would provide that any tractor model which the Nebraska Railway Commission determines to be used in the state 25 per cent or more for agricultural purposes would not be exempt.

Horsemen To Meet For Clinic

Horses and horsemen will occupy the spotlight in a "three-ring circus" at the University and the State Fairgrounds Coliseum the weekend of Apr. 29-May 1.

However, unlike a circus, the triple-barreled event will inform and educate as well as entertain horse fanciers from throughout the Midwest and 4-H light horse club leaders from Nebraska.

Beginning the week-end will be the third Horseman's Clinic and Quarter Horse Judging School, sponsored by the University, in cooperation with the Nebraska and American Quarter Horse Associations and the Ak-Sar-Ben Foundation.

Dovetailing with the latter part of the clinic will be the 10th annual Nebraska Block & Bridle Club Quarter Horse Show on Apr. 29-30, and the Nebraska Intercollegiate Championship Rodeo Apr. 30 and May 1.

The Clinic and Judging School will emphasize the "how to do" aspect of riding and showing horses, according to Prof. R. B. Warren of the animal science department.

The event is designed to deal with problems and subjects which have been of concern to 4-H horse club leaders and breeders and has been planned on the basis of their requests, Warren commented. The clinic and judging school does qualify as official 4-H leader training, and leaders who attend will receive financial assistance from Ak-Sar-Ben.

Prof. William Verdugo of Fresno State College, Clovis, Calif., will head the clinic program. Verdugo coaches collegiate livestock judging and is a director of the American and California Quarter Horse Associations, as well as being a Quarter Horse breeder. He has worked closely with nationally-famous Horse Science Schools held in California and the Midwest in 1963 and 1964.

Outstanding show horse exhibitors and riders from Midwestern states also will be on the program.

Wireless microphones and video tape equipment will bring the demonstration portion of the clinic "right into the laps" of those registered for the sessions.

Verdugo will judge the Quarter Horse Halter Show and all performance classes except the cutting classes. Buck Johnston and Don Strain will judge the cutting classes.

The Nebraska Block & Bridle Quarter Horse Show has been the big kickoff show of the Midwest, with the 1963 and 1964 shows being solid "A" shows.

Danforth Fellowship Offered For Summer

Freshman and junior home economics majors interested in applying for the Danforth Summer Fellowship Award should pick up and complete application blanks in Dr. Fowler's office, first floor of the Home Economics Building, by Friday.

The Danforth trip for freshmen includes two weeks at Camp Miniwanca, near Muskegon, Mich. The senior award is a fourth-week, all expenses paid trip to Camp Miniwanca and to St. Louis, where businesses and industries relating to home economics as well as local attractions are visited.

The senior trip is about July 15 to Aug. 15; the freshman trip from Aug. 1 to Aug. 15. Both trips are sponsored by Ralston-Purina Company of St. Louis.

A Honda needs a mere 3'x6' space to be perfectly content. And that puts an automobile on a spot, about a mile away from its destination.

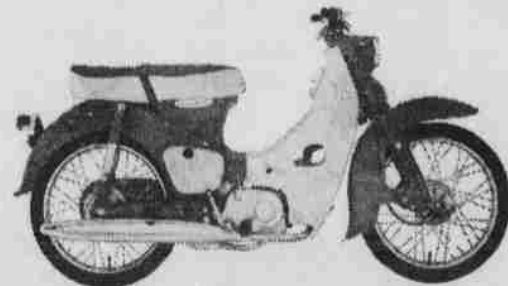

There are other sides to Honda, too. Hondas are fiendishly frugal. A gallon of gas will carry you up to 200 mpg, depending on which of the 15 Honda models you're driving. And insurance bills shrink to practically nothing. As for upkeep, a Honda needs little.

The shining example above is the remarkable Honda 50. It sells for about $215*. And there are 14 more models to choose from. Look them over.
