

Sophs, Ends, Passers Sparkle In Awesome Show Of Pigskin Power

By Bob Samuelson

The 7,000 fans who braved the threatening weather to witness the intrasquad football game were rewarded with a brilliant show of depth and power as the Reds whipped the Whites, 33-27.

The score was unimportant. The significance of the contest was the promise shown by a number of new players.

Dennis Richnafsky emerged as the star of the contest, and deservedly so, for he amazed the fans with his fine pass catching. Richnafsky seemed to be able to field anything near enough to him to see, as his scrambling catches brought applause again and again. Richnafsky is diminutive in an end corps of giants at 5-10, 170.

Actually with forty-three passes being lofted, it was hard for the ends not to stand out. Freeman White, returning All-Big-Eight end, made his game debut as split end, and pulled in five receptions for 101 yards and two touchdowns. White dropped three or four passes that he will be expected to hold on to next fall.

Miles Kimmel, a converted quarterback, was another and bears watching. Playing tight end near the end of the contest, Kimmel grabbed a pass from Dennis Morrison and raced thirty-one yards for the score.

Another standout was sophomore Charlie "Choo-Choo" Winters. Winters gained 28 yards on the ground, and added a thirteen-yard touchdown romp early in the fourth quarter.

Ron Poggemeyer, a veteran from last year's squad, looked as if he had seen the game films before they were played. He was always in the right places at the right time.

Besides placing some accurate punts in the coffin corner, Poggemeyer intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble as well as adding some exciting punt returns.

A relatively unheralded newcomer who scooted for 79 yards rushing and a fine touchdown sprint of 58 yards was Mick Ziegler. The 180-pounder followed his blockers well, and showed fine speed on his way to being the top ground-gainer of the day.

Coach Devaney had mixed emotions at the conclusion of the game. This reporter has no qualms about saying that the group of football players who played Saturday included some of the finest collection of talent ever to wear the scarlet and cream.

Pitching Highlights NU Baseball Wins

Bahnsen, (left), Hergenrader . . . Duo picked up wins this weekend at Oklahoma State.

By James Pearse

"Bob Hergenrader's victory on Friday was the greatest pitching of his career." These were the words of Coach Tony Sharpe as he reflected back on the weekend series with Oklahoma State which Nebraska won two games to one as the Huskers got a pair of fine pitching performances in Friday's double victory, 9-2, 2-0.

Coach Sharpe went on to say that all three NU pitching performances were excellently turned in. Stan Bahnsen won the first game Friday on a six-hitter, and Gary Neibauer suffered the lone loss, despite a good showing, 2-0.

Bahnsen was supported by a blistering twelve hit Husker attack which produced the seven run cushion.

Trailing by two runs in the fifth inning Nebraska came alive on Gary Tunnison's three-run homer. Tunnison was one of a trio of Nebraskans to collect two hits apiece in the opening win. Second base replacement for NU's leading hitter, injured Randy Harris, Jim Smith and catcher Larry Bornschlegl joined Tunnison in the two hit circle.

The Huskers sealed the victory with six runs in the sixth frame when they chased starting pitcher, and OSU loser, Bumpas.

Hergenrader was not as blessed with runs or hits but his control was sharp and his poise at a peak.

The Lincoln product faced OSU's Kuykendall, previously undefeated in three outings. Kuykendall also sparkled in the extra inning contest as he fanned thirteen NU batsmen.

Hergenrader found himself in trouble on occasion, but unlike early season circumstances, his control and the defensive play behind him kept him unscared in the brilliant nine-inning affair.

The deciding, and only, runs of the game came home in the top of the ninth by way of pinch-hitter Jim Stevenson's bat.

After getting only two safeties off Kuykendall through the first eight innings, Jim Smith singled and Frank Solich doubled in the Husker ninth. The coach Sharpe called on Stevenson, a .111 hitter.

With the count at 2-2, Stevenson drilled the ball up the middle and except for Hergenrader's last three outs, the Cowboys had been gunned down.

Neibauer took the mound for Nebraska to hurl Saturday's wind-up. Facing another undefeated OSU hurler, Neibauer pitched a fine ball game, but was unable to get runs to back his hurling.

This has plagued the Scottsbluff sophomore throughout the spring season. Coach Sharpe took note of the players saying that in Neibauer's twenty-five or so innings on the mound he has gotten only one run behind him.

Frank remained undefeated for OSU as he gave Nebraska a slim four hits.

At the close of the Stillwater weekend, Nebraska finds itself with an 8-5 conference mark, good for third place.

Along with the fine pitching, Coach Sharpe had words of praise for Jim Smith. Smith subbing for Harris, had never played second base before Friday. For the series, Smith handled twenty chances without an error, and was in on six of the Huskers seven double plays. Hewas also four for twelve at the plate. Coach Sharpe labeled the series as one of the best defensive showings of the year. He was still concerned over the Huskers inability to hit when they need it. This was a contributing factor in Neibauer's loss of a fine pitching effort.

However, the team's morale is higher than at any previous time this season, and they are making an all out effort to finish strong.

The lead Missouri has built up seems almost insurmountable, but the Tigers have to finish the season against second place Iowa State in Ames.

As for the Huskers, they have an outside chance for all the mables, but in any event they will be battling to end up high in the standings.

The Huskers play their last home series this coming weekend with Oklahoma. They complete the season at Kansas the following week.

Missouri Wins Duel; Green, Crook Shine

By Peggy Speece

Cruisin' Charlie Greene sped to a new meet record in the 100-yard dash as Nebraska lost an 82-63 decision to Missouri Saturday afternoon.

Greene skimmed over the distance in :09.5 to break the record established by the great Roland Locke of Nebraska back in 1926 and tied in 1963 by Husker Ray Knaub. Greene also anchored the 440-yard relay team to an easy :41.1 victory.

Other bright spots in an otherwise drab afternoon were Dave Crook's 47.5 victory in the 440 for a new meet standard, Preston Love's 46-1 1/2 triple jump leap that moved him into the top five in the conference, and Jim Scherzberg's 14:58.8 three-mile which moved him into the chart of leading three-milers in the Big Eight.

"Run a mile!" quipped Tiger Robin Lingle before the meet when asked if there was anything anyone could do for him. But he didn't need any help in that department. He settled back on the rain-softened track and coasted to a 4:12.2 new meet record with teammate Charlie Conrad right by his side.

Jim Wendt fell too far behind Missouri's Bill Rawson on the first lap of the 880-yard run and could not recover as Rawson won in 1:53.1.

The Tigers used strength in the hurdles to pull out the team victory. Co-Captain Cal Groff won the high hurdles in :14.3 and teammate Garet von Netzer was second. The Huskers Love was third.

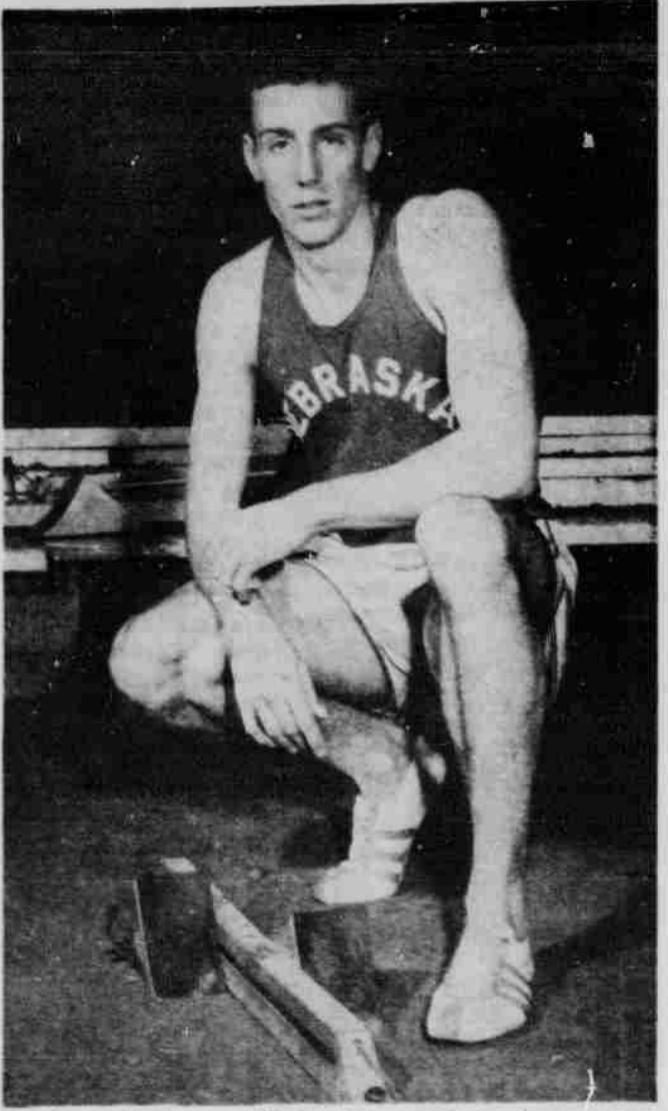

The Tigers also roared to a 1-2-3 finish in the 330-yard intermediates with Ron Peters leading Eric Alexander and Jim Wilson to a :38.3 win.

Nebraska recorded firsts in both the high jump and javelin. Jack Cramer and Missouri's Steve Herndon both went 6-2 but Cramer was awarded first on fewer misses. Herndon, nursing a muscle injury received at Drake, hurt the muscle further and is a doubtful contender for next week's conference meet.

Husker Kent Tarbutton threw the javelin 184 feet to score a win in that event.

Husker Lynn Headley sat out the meet, still having trouble from a leg muscle injury incurred at Drake.
