

Theatre To Stage 3 Plays

"A Use for Golden Shoes" and "The Stranger" will be presented under the Lab Theatre Program at 7:30 and 8:15 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The plays are both original compositions of University students.

Thomas Timm Brucks, author and director of "A Use for Golden Shoes," describes the play as "an attempt at a parody of the absurdists' drama."

The play takes place in a dump yard and has two characters, Rico and Pearce. Rico, Brucks said, represents youth or the present generation and Pearce, who may be 110 years old, represents old age or the last generation.

Rico is portrayed by Ray Stanek, a senior majoring in theatre, and Bruce Borin, a sophomore theatre major, plays Pearce.

Stanek appeared this year in "Three Sisters" and Borin was in "Peer Gynt."

Brucks is a graduate student in theatre from Wisconsin State University at River Falls, Wisconsin. This is his first year at the University and "my first attempt at writing a play." He is graduate assistant in charge of properties for the University Theatre.

"The Stranger," by Pat Drake, was adapted from the novel of the same name by Albert Camus.

"If you're familiar with Camus' work, you'll know what it's about," Drake said. Camus won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1954 and is known as a French existentialist.

"The Stranger is about his best known novel," Drake said. "I have tried to break conventions in adapting it, and consequently, the language and production will not be in the normal sense of what people think play production should be."

The play will include slow-motion and stop-action techniques, he said.

Acting in the play will be John Guinty, Jim Baffico, Sarah Williamson, Jeff Atchison and Larry Schneider.

This is Drake's fourth original production. Others have been produced at the Actors Theatre in Milwaukee, the Encore Theatre in Chicago and at the University three years ago. Drake is a senior in speech education. He is writer and director of the play.

"A Use for Golden Shoes" will be held in 201 Theatre, and "The Stranger" will be given at the Arena Theatre.

Rush Week Conflicts Face Sorority Girls

The problem of the Little Sisters of Minerva activities conflicting with sorority Rush Week was discussed among house delegates at the Panhellenic meeting Monday.

No action was taken on the matter, although delegates were instructed to talk to their house rush chairmen about it. The rush chairmen will meet next Monday to discuss the problem further.

The problem arises from the fact that Little Sisters are required to help in pledging activities of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and this interferes with sorority rush week.

Vicki Dowling, Gamma Phi Beta delegate, told the Council that her house had their members stay home during Rush Week to help with their own pledging activities. She said her house felt that the girl's first duty is to her own house, and not to a subsidiary group.

Speaking for Kappa Alpha Theta, Ann Kotouc said she felt that such matters should be left to the individual house, and should not be covered by a blanketed Panhellenic ruling.

Miss Kotouc said that since houses differ in size, they should be allowed to decide whether or not they can afford to let any girls go during Rush Week.

Miss Madeline Girard, Panhellenic adviser, told the Council that if they "don't get your invitations back it's your fault through having people off somewhere else, helping helping other people."

Miss Girard said that "When Rush Week is getting as big as it possibly will be, every member should be there helping."

YR's To Hear State Head Of AFL-CIO

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley will address the University Young Republicans tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska Union.

Nisley had been scheduled to appear before the group April 29, but was forced to cancel because of an automobile breakdown near Minneapolis.

In a release previous to the April 29 meeting, YR President John Reiser of Lincoln noted that there had been "criticism" from some for having Nisley appear before the Republican organization.

However, in making his announcement, Reiser countered by saying that he was "tremendously encouraged" by the number of members and leaders of the state party who got in touch to say "they thought we were on the right track."

Peace Corps Offers Loans To Assist College Juniors

College juniors who wish to use the summer before their senior year to prepare for post-graduation Peace Corps service now may borrow up to $600 to help pay their senior year school expenses. Loan repayment may be deferred until after Peace Corps service has been completed.

The loan program, announced recently by Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, is the product of an agreement between United Student Aid Fund, Inc. (USA Fund) and the Peace Corps Volunteers Fund, a non-profit foundation established by the Peace Corps National Advisory Council.

Privately funded, the loans

New Plans Made For '66 Summer Term

University summer sessions for 1966 have been tentatively scheduled for an eight-week and a four-week session, with three 3-week sessions running simultaneously.

The action came from a study presented by the Calendar Committee of the Faculty Senate.

The present summer schedule is a single eight-week session. One advantage is that service facilities could be maintained during the entire summer, and enrollment could be increased with versatility of sessions and courses offered.

"This is going to be tentative," said Chancellor Clifford Hardin. "If the funds are not available, it can't be done."

An alternative plan using two 5½-week sessions was proposed, but it met strong opposition on the grounds of lack of time for learning.

The Calendar Committee also changed the deadlines for reporting of final exam grades in 1966.

Presently, final exam grades must be reported by a single deadline, creating a large amount of grades all at once for the registrar's office.

Deadlines next year shall be the fifth calendar day after the scheduled exam period.

Interviews Saturday For ASUN Secretary

Interviews for recording secretary of the ASUN (Associated Students of the University of Nebraska) will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Association's office.

Applications are due in the office Friday at 5 p.m. and may be picked up there.

are guaranteed by USA Fund, a non-profit corporation providing loan guarantees to students on 700 campuses, with the participation of more than 6,000 banks throughout the United States.

The loans are expected to enable more third-year college students to enroll in the Peace Corps Advanced Training Program, a two-phase plan that provides intensive Peace Corps training during the summer months between the junior and senior year, and just after graduation. Many students who have had to work during summer months now may participate in the Peace Corps Advanced Program.

Allen Marshall, president of the USA Fund, called the loan program "A unique relationship between two private organizations (USA Fund and the Peace Corps Volunteer Fund) jointly benefiting a unique agency of our Federal Government."

Trainees in the Advanced Training Program begin their Peace Corps training in June. They receive travel allowances to cover transportation to and from the training center, and a living allowance while training. Selection for the Advanced Training Program is the same as that used for all Peace Corps applicants, based on an evaluation of the candidate's background as revealed in the Peace Corps Questionnaire, Placement Test results and character references.

Evaluation continues during the summer training program, and final selection is not made until the end of the second stage, following college graduation.

Following the eight-week summer program, Advanced Training participants return to their regular college, where they may continue language study on an individual basis. No specific course requirements are made.

After graduation participants return to a training center for eight weeks more of intensive instruction. Those who successfully complete the final training program then will begin their work abroad as regular Peace Corps Volunteers.

The members of the Peace Corps National Advisory Council who were instrumental in originating the Peace Corps

Volunteers Fund are Ralph Lazarus, president, Federated Department Stores, Inc.; Donald Petrie, Chairman, Executive Committee of Aids, Inc.; the Rev. John Considine, director, Latin American Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference; and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Arthur Flemming, now president, University of Oregon.

Morrison, Avery Speak On Dangerous Apathy

Gov. Frank Morrison and Kansas Gov. William Avery spoke Monday morning in the Nebraska Union Ballroom to 60 students and faculty members.

The two governors appeared to discuss the subject: "Politics, An Honorable Profession."

Gov. Morrison pointed to the sparse crowd in the ballroom and declared that "the very fact this room isn't filled is a sign of the need for education in politics."

"Unless every student and citizen takes a renewed interest and participates, this great democracy can't continue to play its role in world leadership," Morrison said.

Morrison said the attendance demonstrated a dangerous spirit of apathy toward politics and government and was a bad reflection on both the University and the state of Nebraska.

Citing Avery's background as a ten year veteran of Congress, Morrison noted Avery took time out from his duties as chief executive of Kansas to visit the University.

He said he hopes an overflow crowd will turn out the next time a major political leader appears at the University.

Avery was less critical saying the turnout reflects on his own generation's failure to stress the importance in participating in public life.

Avery said, "We have not transmitted with the needed clarity the importance of participation in public life."

Morrison agreed and invited University students to "come to my office and tell me where I have failed" to trigger enthusiasm in politics and governmental affairs.

Answering questions from the students, Avery labeled himself a "most adamant supporter" of the two party system and termed politics a "very honorable profession" despite the bad name some individuals have given politics.

Morrison said his greatest disappointment has been his inability to overcome the apathy of the average citizen.

"If we could use the talent around the bridge tables, in the country clubs and in the Student Union right here to solve our educational, cultural, social and political problems, we would have a dynamic and thrilling state," Morrison said.

"But how do you motivate these people?"

University Plays Host To Peruvian Students

The students spent time on campus visiting student organizations, classrooms and the faculty.

Friday the students met with Cyril Bish, Lancaster County Extension Agent, and toured a farm in Lancaster County. They also visited private homes in the area.

After attending Ivy Day ceremonies Saturday morning, the students attended All Sports Day and watched the Daily Nebraskan intrasquad game as guests of the department of athletics.

Monday they visited the Unicameral and Governor Morrison.

Before coming to Nebraska they were in Rochester, N.Y. and Kansas City. They will also visit Washington, D.C. and Miami before returning to Peru.

The visitors are: Nemesio Rodriguez, Herman Corso, Ricardo Silva-Santibanan, Jose Chevez, Serafin Durand, Oscar Zubizarreta, Gustavo Pastor, Jose Rivero, Manuel Veramendi, Alberto Sparrow, Victor Miro Quesada, Chandler Thompson and Roberto.

Thompson and Flores are escort-interpreters for the students.

Lincoln Bunnies To Be Hunted

... Bunny Mother Here Next Week

Ever hunt Bunnies? Playboy Club will hold a Bunny Hunt at the University next week.

Bonnie Colton, the Bunny Mother for the Kansas City Playboy Club, will be here on May 19 and 20 representing Playboy International for all thirteen Playboy Clubs.

She said, "We need lovely girls with sparkling personalities who enjoy working with people."

She said that they may be either single or married; "you will average between $100 and $150 a week, and may work summers, part time or full time if you wish."

"There are many advantages to being a Bunny," said Mrs. Colton. "After three months at your original location you may transfer to any other Club in the world. You are always assured of a job."

Bunny Anne (see April 28 Daily Nebraskan) went to the University of Houston last year and now plans to return to school in the fall and work part time.

"There are 32 Bunnies at the Kansas City Playboy Club normally, but we are low now, and need more," Mrs. Colton said.

The Bunny Mother emphasized the fact that Bunnies enjoy a very fine reputation. She said that anyone who has come in contact with the girls and see how the Playboy Club is run speak very highly of them.

"It takes more than just a good figure and pretty face to become a good Bunny," she said. "A Bunny must have a certain something extra, the ability to please, to serve graciously, and still retain her femininity. She must combine loveliness, service and a pleasing personality."

"A Bunny is not simply a waitress, but a lot more. Bunnies are treated with respect. They are, through the manner in which they serve, set apart; they are special."

Bunnies enjoy very strict rules which give them a lot of security. These are laid down in the Bunny Manual, along with everything else a Bunny must know, (how to set up their trays, correct billing procedure, etc). It states, "Bunnies may not give out their last names, home addresses or phone numbers at any time in the Club for any reason." Bunnies are forbidden to date employees of the Club, to make dates with key holders, guests or any other persons visiting the Playboy Club.

"Any Bunny who arranges to meet or be met by a keyholder, guest, or employee of the Club, either on or off the Club premises, will be immediately dismissed."

Likewise, any key holder who in any way propositions any of the Bunnies may be asked to leave, or become person-non-grata.

Mrs. Colton said that Bunny Anne is her lead training Bunny and will be in Lincoln with her for the Bunny Hunt.
