

Miss Hoegemeyer Chosen To Head Nebraskan Staff

Heading the staff for this semester's Daily Nebraskan is Marilyn Hoegemeyer, a senior majoring in journalism. Miss Hoegemeyer is beginning her third semester on the paper, having previously held positions as reporter, junior staff writer and senior staff writer.

News editor is Joanne Stohlmann, a junior majoring in journalism and political science. Carole Reno, a senior majoring in English, is the new managing editor. The night news editor is Bob Wetherell, a junior majoring in English.

Steve Jordan and Wayne Kreuscher, both majoring in journalism, will serve as senior staff writers.

Junior staff writers include

Diane Linquist, journalism; Jan Itkin, journalism; Bruce Giles, journalism; and Tony Myers, pre law. East campus reporter is Jane Palmer, a home economics major.

The sports department is headed by Jim Swartz, a junior majoring in journalism. James Pearce, sophomore, returns as the assistant sports editor.

Copy editors are Polly Rhynolds, elementary education; Spencer Davis, history, and Carolyn Griffin, geology.

The financial aspects of the Nebraskan are the responsibility of Mike Jeffery, who is a marketing major in pre-law. Assisting Jeffery are Connie Rasmussen, Bruce Wright, Dwight Clark, Mike Kirkman, and Shirley Wentink. The

Accidents Claim 3 Students

Miss Harriett Hunker, who served as a counselor at Pound Hall last year, was killed this summer when a tire on her compact car blew out, causing it to swerve into the path of an oncoming vehicle. A fund in her memory is being set up by a committee at Pound Hall.

"We would like to set up a scholarship fund if we receive enough money," stated Miss Mary Holman, resident director of Pound Hall. "Contributions may be sent to the office here at Pound," she added.

Another University student, Tom Phillips, a junior in Teachers College, was killed this summer when the tractor he was driving flipped over on him. The accident occurred while Phillips was mowing weeds for the Nebraska State Highway Department.

Phillips was a Student Senate representative from Teachers College and a member of Mu Epsilon Nu, teaching honorary. He was also the assistant treasurer of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Earl Farber, a sophomore majoring in zoology, is a third University student who died during the summer.

Farber was killed in a two-car collision on a gravel road near his home town, Snyder, Nebr.

Theta Xi's Lose 'Mother' Harmon

Mrs. Eula Harmon, who had been known as "Mother" to Theta Xis at the University for 12 years, died this summer.

No house mother replacement has been named at the present time.

Mrs. Harmon's years of continuous service were among the longest of the nearly 50 housemothers.

Mrs. J. I. Burhans, who has spent 17 years with the Beta Sigma Psis, has been a housemother for the longest time on campus. A housemother for Love Memorial Hall, Alpha Xi Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha, Mrs. Fern Grewcock, has served the next longest on campus, with a total of 15 years.

Susie Kunc Brings Sunshine To NU Debut With Band Saturday

Throw a baton in the air and it will come to earth, who knows where.

One person who knows is Susie Kunc, Nebraska's new Sunshine Girl. She will make her debut with the Cornhusker Marching Band in half-time ceremonies Saturday.

An 18-year-old University freshman from Wilbur, Susie succeeds Joyce Burns Thingan of Lincoln as the University's only female member of the band and featured baton twirler.

"I'm only a little scared right now," she said, "but by next Saturday I might be ready to faint."

On second thought, however, she admitted that she actually wasn't as scared as everyone might think.

Actually she has no reason to be scared. She's a veteran of almost eight years of twirling and most of this time she has been taking lessons from her predecessor, Mrs. Thingan.

"I started twirling when I was ten," Susie said, "and at first it was just another thing to try, but I really loved it and I stuck with it."

Since she first started she has won numerous awards, including state twirling and strutting championships. In 1964 she was the state twirling champion and she has participated in a national contest at St. Paul, Minn.

When she was chosen as the new Sunshine Girl, she was selected from a field of 28 applicants from Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Iowa and Colorado. Jack Snider, director of the Cornhusker Marching Band, said she was judged as the best all-around twirler in the group.

But even the best have problems, as she is the first to admit. "When I drop my baton—and everyone does," she said, "it's of course more embarrassing in front of a lot of people, but actually in a contest each drop counts against you very little, for the total performance is more important."

Susie pointed out that when a twirler drops her baton in front of a large crowd of people she feels about the same as a football player who drops the ball. "I hope people will talk about what I'm going to do next and not about the drop," she said.

She pointed out that the rolls, for instance, rolling the baton over her back and other harder rolls, have always been the hardest tricks for her to do.

As for her routines, she explained that she will work them all out by herself according to what the band is going to play. In her acts she will use a wide range of twirling instruments at different times including the baton, achete knives and different kinds of hoops.

Besides being the University's foremost baton twirler, Susie also claims to be one of their greatest fans. "I love football," she said, "and I really come from a football family. I missed only one game played in Lincoln last year."

She expects the team to do well and she said, "I'd like to go to a bowl game either at New Orleans or Miami."

One thing Susie likes about being the Sunshine Girl is that she is the only girl in the band. "It really is great being the only girl," she said, "Everyone treats me like a queen."

Susie, who was an A student at Wilbur High School, a cheerleader and in "almost every activity," can be rightly called a queen even outside of baton circles. Last summer she was chosen as the Wilbur Miss Czech Queen and as the Nebraska Czech Queen during the Wilbur Czech festival.

She promises a number of half-times shows this fall by the Cornhusker Marching Band worthy of the nation's best football team and she warns, "It's just possible that the Sunshine Girl this year won't be golden, but just as red as the Nebraska fans."

Golden Girl may turn crimson, Susie says.
