Theatre Damaged By Heavy Rains

Rain seems to be causing some problems in the Temple Building, but doesn't seem to be hurting ticket sales for the productions.

Rich Malsby, theatre publicity manager, said that season ticket sales are going quite well, but that rain was causing some problems.

Water leaked into the mike board and now it cannot be touched until it is completely dry.

In the shop where flats are being built for the University's productions, a skylight caved in. Water leaked in around the skylight and warped the floor boards.

The skylight is now covered with plastic and will be boarded up to keep out further moisture, he said.
