

Daily Nebraskan

SPORTS

Jim Swartz, sports editor

Scarlet Ready Attack

Probable Lineups table with columns for Iowa State and Nebraska players and positions.

Stadium Packed For Home Games

When you walk into the University of Nebraska ticket office you are vaguely reminded of pictures you have seen of the main trading floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Nebraska's gridders, the nation's third ranked team, head into this week's game with Iowa State.

Scarlet scout Cletus Fischer scouted the Iowa State game against Pacific and reports that "Iowa State will be about the same size as Nebraska."

While waiting to interview Ticket Manager Jim Pittenger one overhears questions like "Do you have any tickets left for any home game this fall."

HUSKER BILL JOHNSON . . . bringing down a Falcon

Huskers Open League Action

By Iowa State Sports Information The Big Eight's two undefeated and untied football teams meet in Lincoln Saturday when top-ranked Nebraska faces Iowa State.

Big, rugged, fast, experienced, deep — that's about as brief a description as you can have of the trouble the Cyclones are heading for Saturday.

Coach Bob Devaney's ranking as the winningest coach on the active list has not been hurt so far this season nor does it appear that it will be.

Backs? Try matching Bob Churchich, Ron Kirkland, Harry Wilson, and Frank Solich in any other backfield in the conference!

team dominating the Big Eight was over. And from that moment on he has done everything in his power to prove himself a poor prophet.

One of the toughest problems he is posing for the opposition is with his first line defense group. Nine of the 11 men who made the Nebraskans the best defense team around last year are back again.

The general feeling is that for Iowa State to join Purdue as top upsetters would require more miracles than a team ever could be allowed. Desire and determination are written all over the young Cyclones, though, as they head for Lincoln.

Stapleton plans no changes in his lineup for Nebraska which means that sophomore Willie Robinson will get the call at fullback.

The Cyclones, on the way to earning a title of "Music Men" will be playing before a second straight Band Day crowd. Last week it was at Ames.

Iowa State will arrive in Lincoln at 5:30 Friday and will headquarter at the Hotel Lincoln.

Bowling, Football Top IM Activities

Intramural bowling competition moves into full swing this week at the Nebraska Union. The four man teams are divided into four leagues while the league winners will compete in a tournament this spring to determine the All-University champion.

Interested persons or teams should contact games manager Dan Greer. Greer reports that there are some openings on Monday night.

Intramural Golfers first round deadline has been extended to Sept. 30, according to Joel Meier, supervisor of intramurals.

Golfers should turn in their scores at the P.E. Building cage.

Tennis competition started yesterday. The tournament schedule is posted on the South bulletin board.

Fall horseshoes start today. All competitors that signed up should check the tournament schedule on the South bulletin board.

Other Free throws start Monday Oct. 4 and table tennis entries are due Oct. 1. Each team may enter a team of six in the table tennis competition.

Tennis competition started yesterday. The tournament schedule is posted on the South bulletin board.

Fall horseshoes start today. All competitors that signed up should check the tournament

2ND ANNUAL PIZZA HUT SCOREBOARD:

Scoreboard table listing results for Huskers over Iowa State, K-State over Colorado, Missouri over Minnesota, etc.

Intramural Scores

Table of intramural scores for various sports like Az Men A, Beta Sigma Phi, etc.

Mister Q. BILLIARD CENTER advertisement with a hand pointing to a sign that says 'HEY YOU!' and a 'STOP' sign.

INSTANT MILDNESS advertisement for YELLO-BOLE cigarettes.

EVERYONE IS PASSING... advertisement for Clipper Barber Shop featuring a barber cutting a customer's hair.

FARAH advertisement for FaraPress slacks, walk shorts, and jeans, featuring a woman in a suit.