

CAMPUS . . .

ASUN CHANGED the composition of the Homecoming interviewing board for finalists. The new board was composed of the ASUN president, vice president, and a senator from each college.

TEN COEDS were named finalists for Homecoming Queen, The Queen will reign over a week of Homecoming activities. The finalists are Bonnie Brown, Diana Focht, Kathie Glade, Kathy Knight, Joan McClymont, Candance May, Marcia Melichar, Barbara Pfisterer, Candy Sasso and Diane Smith.

VICKI HAWKINSON, representing Alpha Omicron Pi, was named Miss Derby Day at the Annual Sigma Chi-sponsored event.

CONTROVERSIAL SPEAKERS and a "Hyde Park" type forum were announced as tentative ideas for the Nebraska Union's Talks and Topics committee.

TASSELS AND CORN COBS said that they will not sponsor Homecoming displays this year because the groups' support "was not justified."

TWO ENGINEERING firms declared the north addition to Memorial Stadium at the University as safe. Their investigations revealed there has been no significant lateral movement of the structure and no cracking of the supporting columns.

CITY . . .

WITH NEW RAINS, Lincoln's rainfall accumulation for the year reached 42.12 inches, setting a new annual record — and there are still two months to go.

POLICE CHIEF Joe Carroll reported on the police department's investigation of vice in Lincoln. City Councilman John Mason had requested a study of gambling. The report said vice activity in Lincoln is at a minimum.

STATE . . .

THE ELKHORN Bank was robbed of $8,300 by a lone gunman. A car believed to be the robber's was found in Omaha. Duane Pope, accused of the Big Springs bank robbery and triple-slaying, awaits trial in Lincoln.

PETITIONS WITH a reported 85,000 signatures were filed by Marvin Werve of Omaha. Werve is co-chairman of a drive to have the income tax repealed. The petitions seek a referendum vote on the state income tax bill and would block any collection of income taxes by the state until the question is decided by voters.

RICHARD NISLEY of Omaha, state AFL-CIO president, urged Nebraska members of the union not to support Gov. Frank Morrison. Morrison's supporters shunned off the statement. Nisley was elected to his fourth term as president.

GOV. MORRISON received the resignation of State Motor Vehicles Director B. H. G. Eiting. Morrison was said to be displeased with the enforcement of the implied consent law, which requires drivers to consent to an alcohol test if requested. Morrison said he would announce a new appointee next week.

EVERETT HUNT said that his widely-publicized committee which studied the flight of investment capital from Nebraska never issued a report to the governor. Instead of a report, he said he gave Morrison a statement of general economic facts. No copies can be found of the statement.

NATIONAL . . .

TWO AMERICANS were executed by the Viet Cong in reprisal for Vietnamese executions of Viet Cong prisoners. Both sides said they will continue executions.

THE BRITISH ruling Party pledged support for the United States in Viet Nam, but asked the United States to stop the bombings in the north. Prime Minister Harold Wilson indicated a willingness to act as a go-between to seek peace in Viet Nam.

THE INDIA-PAKISTAN conflict continued with both sides engaging in clashes. Pakistan requested a U.N. peace force to occupy disputed Kashmir until a plebiscite could be held to determine the region's future.

MRS. MORROW . . . University "Pep Queen" of 1940, will appear at 1965 Homecoming festivities.

Pep Queen Of '40 Still Follows Team

By Julie Morris
Junior Staff Writer

Eight children and 25 years ago, Mrs. John Morrow reigned over the 1940 Homecoming ceremonies as Nebraska Pep Queen. During Homecoming Week 1965 Mrs. Morrow will again appear, this time as an honored alumna.

She will be guest at various alumni functions and will be presented on the field at half-time of the Nebraska-Colorado game.

Mrs. Morrow, the former Betty O'Shea, was the second coed to be elected Pep Queen, the equivalent of today's Homecoming Queen.

The one-time member of Tassels said, "It wasn't as much of an honor then as it is now because it was not an all-University election." The Pep Queen was chosen by those at the Homecoming dance.

Marriage came on the heels of graduation for Mrs. Morrow. She received a B. A. in elementary education at the same ceremony at which her husband, John, was presented a law degree from Nebraska.

Mrs. Morrow, a slender bubbly woman, thinks "the spirit at Nebraska has been wonderful. I think there has always been a great loyalty to the football team."

Speaking of spirit and loyalty, Mrs. Morrow said, "I think I've gone to every football game at Nebraska since fourth grade." She said she had started going on knothole tickets and now she and her husband attend the games with a group of other fans.

"We got a block of seats right after World War II and

Elevator In Union Goes On Strike

No longer will students be able to take life easy while in the Nebraska Union.

No longer will they be able to ride up and down on the elevator while their muscles slowly deteriorate from lack of use.

The elevator in the Nebraska Union is "out of order." This fact came to light a week ago when workers whose offices are on the second and third floors of the Union found it necessary to climb the stairs in order to get to their offices.

As one married worker put it, "Nobody knows better than I what an inconvenience it is. I have to walk up from the basement to the third floor at least five times a day."

Work is progressing on the repair of the elevator, and it should be running again by Monday.

we always sit together," she said.

The Nebraska alumna was reigning Pep Queen when Nebraska went to the Rose Bowl under coach Maj. "Biff" Jones. "That was so exciting," she reminisced. "It was the first bowl game that Nebraska had ever gone to."

An FM radio station, they maintain, could be used to publicize student events, broadcast University programs like the Honors Convocation and serve as a supplement to KNUS.

Temporary committeemen include Doug Mitchell, Dick Sherwin, Alan Larson, Lynn Overholt and John Schreckinger.

They advocate several campus reforms and projects including a campus FM radio station and a legislative committee composed of interested students.

They always sit together," she said.

Speaking of spirit and loyalty, Mrs. Morrow said, "I think I've gone to every football game at Nebraska since fourth grade." She said she had started going on knothole tickets and now she and her husband attend the games with a group of other fans.

"We got a block of seats right after World War II and

Elevator In Union Goes On Strike

No longer will students be able to take life easy while in the Nebraska Union.

No longer will they be able to ride up and down on the elevator while their muscles slowly deteriorate from lack of use.

The elevator in the Nebraska Union is "out of order." This fact came to light a week ago when workers whose offices are on the second and third floors of the Union found it necessary to climb the stairs in order to get to their offices.

As one married worker put it, "Nobody knows better than I what an inconvenience it is. I have to walk up from the basement to the third floor at least five times a day."

Work is progressing on the repair of the elevator, and it should be running again by Monday.

SAGE To Push Reforms

By Jan Itkin
Junior Staff Writer

Not a political party nor a pressure group, but a little of each.

That is how Dick Sherwin explained the purposes of Student Action for Government Effectiveness (SAGE), a new group on the University campus.

"We want to help make student government more meaningful and effective," Sherwin said, "by working on hearings and doing what we can to help them (student government) fulfill their obligation as part of the student body, the University, and the state."

SAGE, which is in the process of organizing, has at present between 25 and 30 members.

The executive committee, whose duties, as outlined in their constitution, are "to carry out the policies and programs decided upon by the committee as a whole and other such actions . . . as it deems necessary and proper to carry out the purposes and goals of SAGE," is composed of five members.

Temporary committeemen include Doug Mitchell, Dick Sherwin, Alan Larson, Lynn Overholt and John Schreckinger.

They advocate several campus reforms and projects including a campus FM radio station and a legislative committee composed of interested students.

An FM radio station, they maintain, could be used to publicize student events, broadcast University programs like the Honors Convocation and serve as a supplement to KNUS.

Chatfield Alters Preregistration

Registration problems caused by the supply of available sections soon may be lessened, if not eliminated, according to Lee Chatfield, associate dean of student affairs and director of junior division and counseling service.

A new procedure has been designed to help administrators know what courses students will be enrolling in. Students are asked to do the following:

October 11-15 — Sign up with faculty advisors for advising appointments.

Complete instructions a list of courses which will be offered for second semester and registration worksheets can be picked up at University residence halls, the Nebraska Union, and Registrar Window 2.

They will be available Monday through Friday, Oct. 11-15. After these dates, lists and worksheets will be available at Registrar Window 2 only.

October 11-22—See advisors and complete the worksheets except for section and time. Leave the yellow copy with college deans (college counselors for Junior Division students) and keep the white copy. (Business Administration students are to do this from Oct. 17-22.)

Nov. 29-Dec. 6 — Obtain a printed schedule of classes and complete the sectioning of courses on the white copy of the previously approved worksheets. Mail or bring it to the Registrar's office as soon as possible.

Cards Pulled Late
Dean Chatfield noted that students who do not participate in the early registration may turn in approved worksheets between Nov. 29 and Dec. 17, but that class cards would be pulled for them after cards had been pulled for all early registrants.

"We are trying to help students help themselves," Chatfield said. "The one problem is that students will be overly optimistic that the new system will insure them space. It can't erase the backlog but will tell us what the backlog is."

"I'm sure there are bugs here that will show up later," he continued, "but things can't be much worse than they were this summer and fall. The ideal situation would be scheduling for a full year in advance and that would be the ultimate solution to registration headaches."

Freshman Classes Fill
The procedure evolved from a concern over too few sections and a backlog of upper-classmen trying to fulfill freshman requirements that were full when they were freshman.

Chatfield explained that the new system would require a double-handling of worksheets, but that if the supply and the demand for classes could be balanced, "there would be less paper shuffling in the long run."

The new procedure will enable cards to be pulled more quickly, Chatfield said.

Exemption Notices Out By Oct. 15

A bulletin has been sent to all the state draft boards indicating that enrollment verification of University students will be sent by October 15.

Col. Francis Drath, deputy state director of the selective service office said.

The bulletin was sent when information on the draft forms sent to the selective service by the University proved to be inadequate, according to Col. Drath.

The number of hours for which the student is enrolled was not included on the forms. "The University officials have promised to have the forms ready by October 15," he said.

Several University students have received induction notices because the draft forms have not been received by the local draft boards.

Mrs. Erna Lasse, assistant registrar, said that the forms will be sent out by as soon as possible, within the next week.

Even those students who have received a notice will not be inducted if they are "satisfactorily pursuing a full time course at the University," Drath said.

He urged anyone who has received an induction notice to check with his local draft board. "The responsibility rests on the man," Drath said. Students who have further problems should contact his office, he said.

Pictures Switched
No—Joan McClymont has not cut her hair—and Marcia Melichar has not let hers grow into a flip.

The pictures of the Homecoming Queen finalists were simply switched in Thursday's Daily Nebraskan. The switch occurred in the mechanical process of page make-up.

We apologize.

CLEANING THEIR INSTRUMENTS . . . And getting ready for Band Day tomorrow are University band members John Aegerter (left), Gary Peters and Dave Grasmick.

Band Day Draws 3,600 Musicians For Morning Parade, Half-time Show

By Bruce Giles
Junior Staff Writer

Red legs and noses may not be evident for Saturday's game as weathermen predict warm, sunny weather for Band Day festivities.

3,600 musicians from bands across the Cornhusker state will converge on the University Saturday morning at 8, according to Don Lentz, director of University bands.

Each band will be met by two men and a woman from the University Band, to act as their guides throughout the day.

A highly coordinated affair, some bands will be practicing at the same time that other bands will be parading and others are being lined up for the traditional Band Day parade from downtown Lincoln to the University campus.

The parade, which starts at 9:30 a.m., will begin at 10th and O, go east to 14th and O, north to 14th and R, and west to the corner of 12th and R.

Bands will have a mass rehearsal for the halftime show at 11 a.m. when the parade ends.

The bandmen will spell out the names of three football bowls — the Rose Bowl, the Cotton Bowl and the Orange Bowl. Lentz said that no charts are provided the visiting bands and that all the work on the formations will have to be done Saturday.

Musical numbers for the halftime ceremonies, which will include "Hail Varsity," "Orange Bowl," "King Cotton," "Star Spangled Banner" and "Hosts of Freedom," were sent to band directors so that they might practice the numbers before Saturday.

In choosing the "Bowl" theme for the halftime ceremonies, Lentz noted that it is the 25th anniversary of the Rose Bowl, and that all University players for the Rose Bowl in 1941 will be back for Homecoming.

He also noted that the Huskers had attended the Gotham Bowl and the Orange Bowl in the last two years, wryly adding that "bowls are in the air more than ever before."

Lentz said that there were over 350 bands wishing to participate in Band Day festivities this year but that there was a set number of bands invited, due to the space on the playing field.

He said the bands are selected by an alphabetical rotation system. Bands generally were able to return every three years in the past, but Lentz noted that with the increased size of bands, they may be able to return only every four years.

Lentz said the parade will be telecast across the state and will also be cut for re-run.

High school bands participating in the Band Day program include: Ashland, Aurora, Battle Creek, Beaver Valley-Lebanon, Bellevue, Blue Hill, Boys Town, Brady, Ceresco, Chappell, Clarkson, Crete, Dorchester, Elmwood, Eustis, Exeter, Fairbury, Fairmont, Genoa, Gothenburg, Northwest High School in Grand Island, Gresham, Hildreth, Henderson, Helbrook Howells, Kearney, Kimball, Lincoln Southeast, Loomis, Madison, Milard, Milligan, Minden, Mullen, Murdock, Nelson.

Nuemann High in Wahoo, Norfolk, Norris Dist. 160 in Hickman, Oakland, Odell, Ogalala, St. Mary's in O'Neill, Overton, Papillion, Platteview-Springfield, Polk, Ponca, Randolph, Ravenna, Schuyler.

Shelby, Shelton, Stamford, Stanton, St. Edward, St. Paul, Stromsburg, Superior, Table Rock, Tecumseh, Trenton, Valley, Venango, Wahoo, Waverly.

Wilcox, University High in Lincoln and the University of Nebraska Marching Band, will also participate.