

YR's Table Resolution On JBS

By Diane Lindquist
Junior Staff Writer

The state executives of the Nebraska Federation of Young Republicans unanimously endorsed a statement on human rights and tabled a resolution to make a formal statement on the John Birch Society at a meeting Sunday.

The human rights statement condemned the failure of administration in the letter and spirit of existing civil rights legislation and demanded full enforcement of civil rights laws.

"Republicans deeply believe that every American citizen must be afforded full opportunity to realize the goals he shares with all men," the resolution read.

A resolution to make a formal statement on the connection of the John Birch Society was tabled indefinitely after discussion.

In a statement on the condemnation of the John Birch Society by Senators Thurston Morton and Everett Dirksen and House Minority Leader Gerald Ford, which was the basis of the presented resolution, John W. Reiser, president of the University Young Republicans, said, "I am pleased to note that Senators Morton and Dirksen and Congressman Ford have joined in the criticism of the John Birch Society, its tactics, its aims and its leadership. The University Young Republican took similar action in a resolution passed over a year ago.

The Republican party has been, and must again become, the home of the responsible middle-ground political thinkers in our society. We cannot do this if our efforts are to be subverted at every turn by representatives of the Birch Society, an extremist organization far removed from the moderate mainstream of American Political thought."

The executive committee chose Beatrice as the site of the 1966 Young Republicans convention.

ASUN To Select Senate Associates

Interviews for the Association of the Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN) associates will be held Sunday in the Nebraska Union. Selection will be made according to college representation.

The following numbers will be selected from the colleges: Arts and Sciences, nine; Teachers, seven; Graduate, seven; Engineering and Architecture, five; Business Administration, four; and Agriculture and Home Economics, three.

Twenty associates will also be chosen at large, making a total of 55. If the qualifications of applicants do not comply to the numbers outlined, the interviewing board reserves the right to make appropriate changes.

Each associate is assigned to a senator, in a sort of "protege program." Associates also participate on ASUN committees.

Applications will be available Tuesday at the ASUN office in the Union. They must be returned by 5 p.m. Friday.

Problems Plague Kappa Alpha Psi

"Because the Interfraternity Council by-laws state that a house must have a minimum of 30 members, we are finding it difficult to meet the requirements to become a colony here," stated Langston Coleman, president of Kappa Alpha Psi.

Kappa Alpha Psi is a predominately Negro fraternity which has been on the Nebraska campus for a number of years.

"We have no discriminatory clauses in our fraternity," Coleman said, "but I doubt if any white independent students would want to join."

"Another of our problems is that there are not many alumni in the Lincoln area to assist us," he added.

"Kappa Alpha Psi is allowed to sit in on the IFC meetings as a non-voting member," stated Mrs. Jeanette Mason, assistant to the Interfraternity Council.

"We have many functions planned for the year including a smoker for freshmen men to acquaint them with the ideals and purposes of Kappa Alpha Psi," Coleman said.

Problems Fail To Dim Band Day Activities

When did the 1965 Band Day begin?

For band instructors Donald Lentz and Jack Snider, it began months ago, with invitations to seventy high school bands and the planning of a halftime program and morning parade.

For University stadium officials, it began this summer with the solution to seating 3,500 bandmen in the already-packed Memorial Stadium.

For the bands planning to attend the annual event, it began with the start of school and rehearsals of required music and parade routines.

For University bandmen it began two weeks ago, when and new pre-game, halftime and post-game instructions outlined the duties of each band member.

And for 54,000 Cornhusker rooters, it began with the 9 a.m. parade through Lincoln streets and the halftime show saluting football bowl games that have featured college teams including the University.

Problems arose on every side of the carefully planned event:

Field conditions made football officials wary of having the ground hardened by so many marching feet, so Director of Bands Lentz was limited to on practice session and two of the planned four formations.

Several bandmen and their "Nebraska Ladies," in charge of seating and moving the bands suffered from a lack of coordination, causing the loss of a 60-piece band at a crucial time.

The University band, which brought up the rear in a parade that was originated by University station KUON and televised by station KOLN, failed to reach the camera positions before the program was off the air.

But after it was all over, Professor Lentz remarked, "The kids really did a remarkable job, both in playing the music and quickly learning their parts."

In looking back on a nine-hour day of playing and marching, one University bass player shifted the weight of his sousaphone to the other shoulder and said, "I hope I don't see this thing for a month."

Jeanette Coufal Receives Home Economics Award

Jeanette Coufal received the $400 Borden Scholarship for the senior in home economics having the highest scholastic average.

Dean Virginia Trotter presented the award to her at Home Economics Chapter's dessert in honor of Ellen H. Richards, founder of home economics.

A tribute to Ellen H. Richards was given by Vicki Cline, and Mrs. Jere Van Steenberg, president of the Nebraska Home Economics Assn. spoke on "New Directions in Home Economics."

Mrs. Van Steenberg said that today there is a special need for home economists to develop new ways of helping the handicapped homemaker.

"New directions depend on your own creativity. Your job is to be prepared to project yourself into new situations," said Mrs. Van Steenberg, speaking to over 250 home economics majors and faculty members.

Georgia Stevens narrated a fashion review of clothes made and styled by home economics majors. Sixty-three new members were initiated and outstanding members of the chapter were presented with silver spoons.

Mortar Board representatives will take orders for Homecoming mums at all living units starting today until Oct. 20, and at the Nebraska Union beginning Oct. 18 until Oct. 22.

The mums, which sell for one dollar, will be delivered Saturday morning, Oct. 23, to the living units and at the city campus union.

Mums will be sold this year at downtown Lincoln and the stadium the day of Homecoming.

ROBERT SHORT . . . And friends.

Robert Short To Lecture On Peanuts

Robert Short, author of best-seller, "The Gospel According to Peanuts," will speak at the Nebraska Union Wednesday evening.

Short will speak on "The Religious Significance of Peanuts." His talk is sponsored by the University Council on Religion.

Short's book was published early in 1965, and the paperback is now in its tenth printing. It has been translated into seven foreign languages.

Short is the author of several articles relating to theology, the field in which he is working toward his doctorate degree. He has earned degrees from the University of Oklahoma, Southern Methodist and North Texas University.

He served as director of radio and television for the Dallas Council of Churches. Short uses the Peanuts cartoons as a type of modern-day parable, as a means of communicating religious truths.

NEBRASKAN APPLAUDS

Delta Upsilon has announced its pledge class officers. They are: Mike Wiese, president; Lee Friend, vice president; Theron Williams, secretary; Jim Durham, treasurer; Edd Erickson, social chairman; and Gene Hohelnssee, Junior IFC representative.

Kappa Delta, Chi Phi Win Yell Competition

Cornflakes, balloons and yells filled the air Friday night as Kappa Delta sorority and Chi Phi fraternity won the "Yell Like Hell" contest.

The second annual event was co-sponsored by Tassels and Corn Cobs.

Pairs of living units composed and presented 30 second yells judged on originality of the cheer, spirit and loudness of the group.

The cheers were judged by Linda Muff, Tassels president; Bob Wilburn, Corn Cobs president; F. C. Green, yell king, and Janell Quaring, chairman of last year's contest.

Nearly Nu Shop Open To University Students

The Nearly-Nu Shop, sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club, will sell only to customers who show University identification cards this semester.

Proceeds from all sales go for the support of scholarship aid, matched $9 to $1, under the National Defense Education Act.

The shop, open from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays, is located at 1610 R Street.

Want to be a big hero? Then look for big challenges!

Come to General Electric, where the young men are important men.

Important responsibilities come to you early at G.E.

You could find yourself on the team responsible for marketing a new appliance. Or you could be in India, installing a nuclear power plant. Or in a laboratory, looking for applications for a remarkable new "artificial gill" that lets mammals breathe under water.

This is a worldwide company that makes over 200,000 different products, from jet engines and weather satellites to computers and color TV. In this kind of company, you have to be very good to get very far.

If you are good, you'll be rewarded. With money, of course. But with responsibility, too.

The most important job you'll ever have is your first job.

And the most important job interview you may ever have is with the man from G.E.
