

Duda Heads Huskers In Badger Showdown

By Jim Swartz
Nebraskan Sports Editor

Fred Duda has been tabbed as the probable starting quarterback as the Nebraska Cornhuskers head into a non-conference tilt tomorrow with the Wisconsin badgers at Memorial Stadium.

The Badgers come into the contest with a season record of 1-1-1, after their 16-13 upset over Big 10 conference foe

Iowa last week. The Badgers were dropped a 26-6 loss by Southern Cal and played to a 0-0 tie with Colorado in other game outings.

The Badgers will be out to extend their victory string over Big Eight teams. Wisconsin has not lost to a Big Eight team in 12 previous encounters.

Badger game plans on offense are built around sophomore passing whiz Chuck Burt, a national leader in total completions with 49 of 96 for 477 yards. Burt is known for his short quickies but unleashed a 41-yard bomb in last week's upset victory.

Ends Bill Fritz and Louis Jung are Burt's prime targets.

Defense Strong

Badger defense is strong, being boosted by the line-backing of Bob Richter and Ray Marcin. The offensive line has been termed adequate but young while the running attack is built around left half-back Tom Jankowski.

The Huskers head into the game the UPI's number one team and the AP's second ranked team. Nebraska is also a national leader in total offense, rushing offense and scoring with a 435.7, 310.7 and 35.0 average respectively.

Changes

This week's Husker lineup shows several changes as regulars Langston Coleman and Ron Kirkland have been sidelined with injuries. Kirkland is expected to see limited action punting and Coleman is slated to sit out the game.

Bill Haug will move to right end on defense to handle Coleman's spot while Mike Grace will take over at left end. Jim Osberg moves to the offensive guard spot, replacing Wayne Meylan while Pete Tatman moves to left half, taking over for the injured Kirkland, to complete squad changes.

Nebraska has scored in 37 consecutive games for a new school record and will be playing tomorrow before the season's third sellout crowd.

The Huskers take a one pound team weight advantage as the probable starters average out 211 for Nebraska and 210 for Wisconsin.

Battle For Bronze Hat

The Bronze Cowboy hat goes on the line Saturday at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas as Oklahoma and Texas tangle for the sixtieth time.

Oklahoma is going into the game with two losses and only nine points to their credit.

Texas goes to Dallas as the number one team in the country, according to the Associated Press poll.

Oklahoma coach Gomer Jones does not think his team's record to date necessarily forecasts this Saturday's outcome. "Texas is a traditional game. Last year we were defeated 40-14 the week before the Texas game yet . . . we played real well at Dallas for three quarters. Mistakes could hurt the Sooners again. Their young line has been unable to open holes for the offensive backs and therefore Oklahoma has been unable to mount a sustained drive.

The lack of offensive punch puts added pressure on the Sooner's Carl McAdam's led defense which should have a long afternoon chasing Texas quarterback Kristynik around end.

Twins Quiet Dodger Attack

By Jim Pearse

Minnesota's Twins take a two game lead into Los Angeles where the 1965 World Series resumes on Saturday.

The Twins have won with power hitting, speed, impressive pitching and the luck that goes along with a year like the Twins have had.

Minnesota has beaten the two best pitchers in baseball on their way to the two game edge. The Dodger speed has not been heard from.

But what Dodger fan can be worried? They are the calmest people in baseball.

After all their favorites came from four back in the last two weeks of the season to win the National League crown. They did it by winning 15 of 16 games after the Giants had soared into the lead by winning 14 in a row.

When things get underway in lively L.A. this week end Twins' fans had better be wary of the "little puppy dogs." as Lou Johnson calls the Dodgers. They will "lick your feet, but you don't wake up in the morning, 'cause you died of rabies."

By next week the quiet, affectionate Dodger attack should have its bag full of wins, and money.

Sam's Salvos

By Bob Samuelson

The pros discovered it years ago—Florida State knew it last year—Air Force almost beat the Huskers with it two weeks ago. The passing game.

It is becoming slowly recognized in conservative college football ranks that passing is the key to success. A good passing attack can always whip a good pass defense. Add to it the threat of running and one has the secret of football success.

Coach Devaney utilizes a balanced offensive attack—both running and passing. But one thing Nebraska tends to do is become too dependent on the running game in times of stress. The Cotton Bowl game last year after Harry Wilson's fourth quarter run is an example of this.

Last year's Minnesota game is an example of the opposite philosophy. We won the Minnesota game from a deficit—we lost the Arkansas game after holding a lead.

It is my feeling that Nebraska has to size up the situation. We have three, count 'em, three of the top pass receivers around in Freeman White, Dennis Richnafsky and Tony Jeter. We have two excellent pitchers in Fred Duda and Bob Churchich. We have excellent secondary receivers in Harry Wilson and Frankie Solich. We must learn to have more confidence in a passing attack which could be one of the best.

This is not to disparage our already excellent running game. It is the threat of a running game which can make a passing game most effective, i.e. Green Bay Packers. But as Nebraska moves into tougher and tougher competition, we cannot rely solely on the running game, which is much easier for the opponents to defense.

Nebraska Hosts Harriers From Iowa State, S. Dakota

Nebraska will host the Iowa State and South Dakota cross country teams Saturday. The double dual will be the opening meet of the season.

Though Coach Frank Sevigne feels that the Husker harriers are improved this year, the loss of Orlando Martinez will affect the team's chances.

Martinez has mono and is not expected to compete.

Standouts this fall are senior letterman Peter Scott and Norval Jones, a transfer student from the University of Missouri with two years of eligibility left. Also returning, after a hitch in the Army, is junior Joe Scott.

Sophomores are Les Hellbush of Columbus, Dennis Settles of Cedar Bluffs and Gregory Young of Alliance.

According to Sevigne, the 10:30 a.m. chase over three miles of Pioneer's Park's golf course should draw a good turnout of fans.

"It certainly isn't a sell out yet," Sevigne grinned. "And there is still plenty of room for the fans at the two-mile mark. But if it's a fine day, weather-wise, we could have a fine crowd."

There is no admission charge for the Husker cross country meets.
