SOCIALIST NORMAN THOMAS . . . To speak at the Nebraska Union Thursday.

Socialist Leader To Talk Thursday

Norman Thomas, six-time candidate for the presidency of the United States on the Socialist ticket, will speak in the Nebraska Union ballroom Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

Thomas has been a Presbyterian minister, a social worker, an editor and the writer, whose books include "What Is Industrial Democracy?" "The Test of Freedom" and "Great Dissenters."

He first ran for the presidency in 1928. He ran for the last time in 1948. Always anti-totalitarian, Thomas has been a crusader for civil liberties and social democracy.

Born in 1884, he took a definite anti-war stand in World War I and was active in the American Union Against Militarism.

Thomas joined the Socialist Party because he believed it was the only organization realistically facing the problems of war and the need for economic change.

He has taken part in many free speech fights and in other struggles in support of the rights of workers to organize. In this connection he won several important victories in the courts for civil liberties.

He was one of the first in the country to call attention to the plight of the sharecroppers of the South and helped to organize the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union.

In 1935 he was a leader against the Ku Klux Klan and the Tampa, Fla., police who were responsible for the murder of Joseph Shermaker by flogging. Even better known is his share in the dramatic and successful struggle against the Frank (I am the law) Hague machine on the issue of free speech in Jersey City, N.J.

In World War II, he actively fought for a peace based on the cooperation of free peoples and rejection both of vengeance and imperialism. Since then he has campaigned for world disarmament, with international control and inspection, applying to criticism of the Soviet Union the same standards of value he applies to his own country.

He is chairman of the Post War World Council and of the Labor Research Institute. He is a member of the League for Industrial Democracy, the Workers Defense League, the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, the Inter-American Assn. for Democracy and Freedom, and the National Sharecroppers Fund.

Clevelanders To Present Greek Play

The Cleveland Playhouse, a long-established professional theater will present "Antigone" on the Nebraska Union Ballroom stage Oct. 19 at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Fine Arts Convocation Series, free tickets for faculty and students will be available in the Union beginning Sunday.

"Antigone" is the final episode of a three-part tragedy written by Sophocles 2,400 years ago. The French playwright, Jean Anouilh, wrote a modernized version during the Nazi occupation of France to spur the French resistance against the Nazis.

The play has a colloquial flavor and was written to be played in a contemporary style.

In the play, two brothers of Antigone have killed one another in combat. Creon, Antigone's uncle, who has become King of Thebes, decrees that one of them is to be buried with high military honors, the other to be cast into a field, prey for vultures and dogs.

The play resolves into a conflict of rights of the individual when confronted with tyrannical authority.

This production of "Antigone" is part of an Eastern and Midwestern tour by the touring unit of the Cleveland Play House, which is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this season.

In addition to maintaining three theaters, the playhouse also conducts an apprenticeship program which trains young people in all phases of the theater.

Regents Board Honors Thompson, Mari Sandoz

By Jan Itkin Junior Staff Writer

The Board of Regents voted Saturday to name the East Campus library, completed last year, after Charles Yoder Thompson and the new women's dormitory, to be completed in early spring, after Mari Sandoz.

Thompson, a five-time president of the Board of Regents, served on the Board for 24 years.

"It seems fitting to name this library after a man whose career has spanned almost three generations of service to this state," was one comment on the choice of names.

Nebraska-born author Mari Sandoz, attended the University between 1922-30 and received an honorary degree in 1950.

Student Loan Programs

Regents also voted to accept $1,051,998 in federal funds for student loan programs. The University is expected to make one-ninth of this amount available for similar loans.

It was brought out in discussion of this measure that Nebraska has less than one per cent delinquency on such loans compared to a national average of about nine per cent.

Val Peterson, president of the Board of Regents, asked Chancellor Clifford Hardin, "Do we need a federal liaison man just to keep track of these federal grants?" "No," Hardin answered, "but we're getting to that point."

According to figures, 19 1/2 per cent of the University budget is composed of federal appropriations. This figure includes appropriations for research but excludes loans and building appropriations.

Contracts totaling $2,049,058 for construction of the new Dental College to be built on East campus were awarded to three Lincoln firms.

The contracts were awarded as follows: general — M. W. Anderson Construction, $1,174,978; mechanical — Ray Martin, $624,480; electrical — ABC Electric, $249,600.

The new building will allow for an increase in dental school enrollment from 176 students to 280.

Grants of $555,797 for research, fellowship, training and instruction were accepted.

Faculty Research Contract Regents also accepted a research contract of $40,200 for two faculty members—Dr. Mary Krider, associate professor of educational psychology, and Mrs. Mary Petsche, instructor in human development and the family for study of the Operation Head Start program.

Peterson mentioned a tour of Ohio State University and some schools in "the Los Angeles area." The entire Board of Regents and top institutional executives will leave on November 18 to study how universities with their campuses near a downtown area solved planning and expansion problems.

"We are attempting to organize a master plan for the time when the University has an enrollment of 20-25,000 or more," Peterson said.

Tassels Announce Voting Schedules

Carol Bischoff, Tassel's election committee chairman, has announced the following schedule for voting for Homecoming Queen:

Tuesday, Oct. 12—Nebraska Union from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Love Library from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Oct. 13 — Nebraska Union from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Love Library from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and East Union from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This year students are to vote for only one candidate as compared to voting for three in past years.

Finalists for Homecoming Queen are: Bonnie Brown, Diane Focht, Kathy Glade, Kathy Knight, Candy May, Joan McClymont, Marcia Melichar, Barbara Pfisterer, Candy Sasso, and Diane Smith.

Mortar Boards . . .

Once Held Ball; Now Sells Mums

By Diane Lindquist Junior Staff Writer

The Mortar Boards broke a long-standing tradition when they began selling Homecoming mums.

It had been a tradition for many years for the Mortar Boards to hold a ball, explained Miss Helen Snyder, associate dean of student affairs.

It was a turnout ball, Dean Snyder said. The Military Ball, which usually came about the first of December, was the opening of the social season. The girls, in return, would traditionally take the men who asked them to the Military Ball to the Mortar Board ball. It was held at a time close to Christmas vacation in the Coliseum.

"It became too big a venture for so small a group," Dean Snyder said.

Sales Increase The change came about in 1952 and 1953. The Mortar Boards originally ordered the mums and assembled them themselves. Now the mums are assembled by the florist.

The number of mums sold the first year was approximately 500. This year, Dean Snyder said Mortar Boards hope to sell over 3,000.

A change in the mum program this year is selling the flowers in downtown Lincoln and at the stadium the day of the day of the game, according to Cuz Guenzel, Homecoming mums chairman.

Activities Financed The proceeds from the mum sales finance the Mortar Board program for the year. These various service projects are:

Activities N.U. — Mortar Boards personally contact all living units and explain the benefits of joining activities.

Ataturk — Books are collected and sent to Ataturk University in Turkey.

Scholarship Banquet — The top five women scholastically in each class are honored. Graduate seminar — Various professors discuss the opportunities of graduate school to all interested undergraduates.

Ivy Day — This is sponsored jointly by the Mortar Boards and Innocents. Mums may be ordered from any Mortar Board member.

Orders Open Tuesday For Missouri Tickets

Orders for tickets for the Missouri game will be taken tomorrow and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the ticket office in the Coliseum. Tickets may be ordered singly or in pairs, but each person must order his own ticket.

Honoraries To Open Quiz Bowl Competition

Mortar Boards and Innocents will again compete in a battle of wits Thursday at 7 p.m. in the small auditorium of the Nebraska Union.

The Quiz Bowl match between the two senior honoraries is an annual meet which precludes the regular Quiz Bowl season.

The Mortar Board team is comprised of Vicki Wovling, Barb Beckman, Jean Holmquist and Shirley Voss.

They will compete against a team of Innocents including Larry Frolik, Frank Patsch, Buzz Madson and John Cosier. The men are out for revenge, having been beaten the last two years by the not-so-weak sex. The tallies for the two previous years were 230 to 190 and 170 to 95.

The Quiz Bowl program is designed for the emphasis of academics and the fostering of scholastic competition.

Teams interested in competing must have their applications and $4 entry fee turned in to the ASUN office in the Nebraska Union by Oct. 19.

Aquaettes Schedule New Member Tryouts

Aquaettes, the University's synchronized swimming organization for coeds, will soon be having their annual tryouts for new members. A clinic will be held at 7 p.m. on Oct. 13 and 20 in the coliseum pool.

During these sessions members will demonstrate the required swimming skills and interested girls will be given a chance to practice. Tryouts will be held at 7 p.m. on Oct. 27 and Nov. 3 in the pool.

Pam Wood, Hartman Reign Over 'A Go-Go'

A paint throw, Activities Queen, dunking booth, BMOC dart throw, Warner Brothers combo and broken records riously known as AU Ful A-Go-Go Dance Saturday night in the Coliseum.

The AUF A-Go-Go, previously known as AU Ful Night, raises funds for the All University Fund, whose annual drive is taking place this week.

Wood, Hartman Crowned Intermission from dancing to the Warner Brothers' music was highlighted by the crowning of Pam Wood as AUF Activities Queen and Klaus Hartmann as BMOC.

Miss Wood, a Delta Gamma sophomore, was selected on the basis of interview. Hartmann, a resident of Cathedral Hall, was elected at the dance after being selected as a finalist by an interviewing board.

Barb Beckman, AUF president, estimated that approximately 1,000 people voted in the BMOC election.

Booths Patronized Aside from dancing, voting for BMOC and watching the crowning of the Activities Queen, students patronized the various booths that encircled the dance floor.

Students released pent-up energies by throwing darts at balloons and baseballs at records for prizes such as stuffed animals and novelty pins.

Others exercised creativity at the paint throw booth where they "painted" abstracts by dropping paint on paper that was spinning on discs.

Try Dunking Machine Still others tried to dunk whoever happened to be sitting in a chair suspended over a barrel of water by throwing baseballs at a lever of the mechanism that supported him.

Proceeds of the dance will be used for AUF charities, but the exact profits have not been tabulated as yet. Over 900 tickets were sold at the door, according to Miss Beckman.

PAM WOOD . . . accepts Activity Queen crown from Carolyn Freeman.

University To Sponsor 'Festival Of Learning'

Six informal education programs involving lectures and demonstrations by University staff members and other authorities have been scheduled for the 1965 Fall Festival of Learning.

Sponsored jointly by the University Extension Division and the Lincoln City Libraries, the Festival this year is comprised of special short courses in cultural anthropology, the appreciation of the contemporary novel, recent movements in philosophy, Far East studies, children's literature and the theater. All courses will begin during the month of October.

Gene Harding, head of informal education in the Extension Division, said registrations will be accepted on a first come basis. Interested persons should call the Extension Division at the University or any Lincoln library branch.

The courses, times, leaders and nature of subject matter:

Mankind: A Cultural Perspective, by Dr. Joyce Wike, cultural anthropologist. Dr. Wike will discuss theories of origins of the diversity of custom and belief among mankind; 7:30 p.m., six consecutive Thursdays beginning Oct. 7, Bennett Martin Library.

The Contemporary Novel, by Leon Satterfield, assistant professor of English, Nebraska Wesleyan University. Satterfield will trace the development of the American novel as a form of protest; 7:30 p.m., five consecutive Tuesdays beginning Oct. 12, Bethany Branch Library.

Contemporary Movements in Philosophy, by Dr. Charles Patterson, professor, Dr. Chen Chi Chang, assistant professor, and Mr. Richard Zaffron, instructor, all of the department of philosophy, at the university; lectures on man's place in the universe; 7:30 p.m., five consecutive Wednesdays beginning Oct. 13, Bennett Martin Library.

Crisis in the Far East, by Dr. Soon Sung Cho, assistant professor of political science at the university. Cho will lecture on the current Viet Nam situation; 9:30 a.m., seven consecutive Thursdays, Bennett Martin Library.

Children's Literature, by Anne Christensen, instructor, elementary education and Dr. Sue Arbutnot, professor of elementary education, both at the university; and Mrs. Lois Collings and Mrs. Elizabeth Bentley, both staff members of the Lincoln City Libraries; 9:30 a.m., five consecutive Fridays beginning Oct. 15, Bethany Branch.

The Living Theater, by Dr. Dallas Williams, professor, Dr. William Morgan, associate professor, and Dr. Stephen Cole, assistant professor, department of speech and dramatic art at the university. They will discuss the traditional and classical play; 7:30 p.m. on three consecutive Mondays beginning Oct. 18 and 8 p.m. Saturdays, Oct. 23 and 30 at Howell Memorial Theater.

AUF Launches Drive For Chosen Charities

The annual AUF charity drive begins today. AUF workers will be collecting funds in the dormitories, in all organized houses and in the Nebraska Union. The drive is to continue through Oct. 29.

The charities which will receive the funds are the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the American Cancer Society, Larc School, the University Speech and Hearing Clinic, and the Harry Holt Adoption Agency.
