main alternatives to raise this money, Neumeister continued. It can ask the Legislature to call a special session appropriate more money, or it can raise tuition.

Influence Action

"Mainly that of informing the students," Neumeister answered. "It's hard to determine what it can do before it looks into anything, but ASUN might find additional alternatives or perhaps be an influence on future action."

Taube suggested, "If we're after information, we should have the individuals responsible for the raise come over and explain it to us. I don't know how much influence a committee could have."

Pickering noted that a committee "could let people know that the students are interested in the funds being raised."

Student Senate could insure by its protests that this "temporary" raise would not be perpetuated year after year, Miss Aitken added.

"We should take a stand," Schaaf said. "We've been wanting more of a voice all year and this is an issue where we could and should have one."

Neumeister agreed with the previous comments and noted, "There is much background to be found out about this, and before we ask individuals over to answer questions, we should know about it so our questions will be intelligent ones."

Samuelson was named chairman of the committee.

Clothing Campaign 'Successful'

Articles collected in the campus-wide clothing drive for Negroes in Mississippi's Delta Region are piling up as the drive draws to its Friday close.

"I'm somewhat amazed really at the response," said Gene Pokorny, president of the Friends of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) which is sponsoring the drive.

Pokorny said he was also surprised at the high quality of the clothing contributed to the drive. He said Friends of SNCC expect to receive "even more" in the remaining day of the drive.

The clothing is to be sent to the Delta Ministry in northwestern Mississippi which will distribute it to the impoverished Negroes in the area the ministry serves.

The United Church Women of Lincoln, representing 55 Lincoln churches, joined the drive last week. Pokorny said he had "no way of knowing how much of the clothing had been contributed by the churches."

Over half of the living units on campus, he noted, had given clothing to the drive.

The idea for the drive was conceived a little less than a month ago and the drive got off the ground a few days later as contributions began coming in.

The clothing is to be sent to Mississippi sometime next week, said Pokorny.

"guarantee" that the fraternity average would be below the all-men's average if the automatic waivers were granted as it was three years ago when fraternities had no scholastic requirement.

Stewart Forbes, Sigma Alpha Mu, urged the IFC to pass the amendment and "give these two men a chance."

After the amendment passed, Frolik proposed an amendment which would cut the number of waivers from two to one per semester. This will be voted on at the next IFC meeting.

An amendment was defeated which would allow men who did not go through Rush Week or who did not pledge by the official end of Rush Week, to pledge and not wait for the normal 30-day waiting period after Rush Week.

Gail Burbridge, Phi Kappa Psi, was selected as the new IFC expansion committee chairman.

Snack Bar Planning Begun, Progress Slow

Progress on a snack bar planned for the basement of Raymond Hall since the beginning of the school year is continuing, according to M. Edward Bryan, director of housing.

Bryan said that plans for the bar have run into some problems, but that planning has been started by the University physical plant.

He said that no definite date for completion of the snack bar, which will be open to Cather, Pound and WRA as well as the rest of the campus, could be given.

Dorm and hall presidents have indicated that they thought "something was wrong" because the promised bar has not been completed.

John Fryar, a Cather floor president, said that Cather's President Tony Redman has been concerned about the slow progress on the bar for some time, but that nothing had been done when he spoke to University officials.

Fryar said that the Cather President's Council was first told that the delay in the bar was due to the new stadium construction.

Bryan said that there were no money problems, but emphasized that things of this type take a while to be completely worked out. He said he could understand the students' apprehension.

Cather resident, Harry Argue, who is chairman of a committee submitting plans for the snack bar's interior, said that his plans for an English pub-like interior had been approved "but no one has said when it will be started."

Both Argue and Fryar emphasized that they have been working with the dorm officials on the proposed snack bar since last year and that it has been promised since the beginning of the year.

Bryan noted that the snack bar, when completed, should be larger than the bar presently in Abel.

Quiz Bowl Team To Be Selected

Six members selected from University Quiz Bowl teams will compete at the Big Eight College Bowl to be held April 30 at Iowa State University.

John Metzger, arrangements chairman of the Quiz Bowl executive committee, announced that selection of the University team will be based on tabulations of answers and judges' recommendations of this year's team participants. Four regular players and two alternates will be chosen.

Larry Johnson, chairman of the Quiz Bowl executive committee, said that the Big Eight match is earlier than anticipated this year and will necessitate three extra University matches besides the regular Tuesday sessions so that the Big Eight team can be chosen in time.

These extra matches will be March 6 and 20, and April 10. The final competition match at the University will be covered by KUON-TV on April 22 and will feature single eliminations in the third round of play.

Johnson also stated that interviews for the Quiz Bowl executive committee will take place March 12. He noted that for the first time a president, vice president and a secretary-treasurer will be selected.

The Quiz Bowl is also in the process of writing a constitution to become an independent organization. At present, the bowl is under the auspices of ASUN.
