

VISTA To Seek Volunteers At NU

Representatives from Volunteers In Service To America (VISTA) visit the University campus April 20-22 to seek volunteers for VISTA programs.

VISTA volunteers serve for one year, receiving living expenses and medical care, according to Miss Hester Lewis, leader of the VISTA group. In addition to an allowance for food, housing, travel and clothing, they receive $600 at the end of their service.

No entrance examinations or interviews are necessary to join VISTA, she said. Persons over 18 are eligible, and there are no education or experience requirements. Those who wish to join must submit two applications which may be obtained from the VISTA information center.

"We're looking for volunteers of all backgrounds and abilities," Miss Lewis said.

IFC To Consider By-Laws Change

An amendment to the Interfraternity Council by-laws providing for an elected parliamentarian was proposed by John Rasmussen, Phi Kappa Psi, at the IFC meeting Wednesday night.

The parliamentarian is currently an appointive office.

Under the amendment, those running for the office would be given a test, made up by the IFC executive committee, on Robert's Rules of Order and the IFC constitution and by-laws.

The names of the top three individual scorers on the test would be submitted for voting by IFC.

The amendment will be considered further at next week's meeting.

The IFC selected Gary Larsen, IFC president, and Jay Lefko, IFC treasurer, to attend the regional IFC Conference April 14-16 at Tucson, Ariz.

May 13-15 was designated an open rush weekend for high school seniors. This is the same weekend as the spring football game, which would bring many high school boys to the campus, Jim Shreck, rush chairman, said.

Bill Minier, publications chairman, announced that anyone interested in working on the publications committee should contact him before Sunday.

The scholarship seminar planned for Greek Week will not be held, as grade reports

Warner

Warner To Study In Bolivia

A University senior majoring in Roman languages, James Warner, has been awarded a Fulbright fellowship for a year's study in South America.

Warner, the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Warner of New Castle, Del., will pursue graduate studies in Spanish at the University of Gabriel Rege Moreno in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, in the fall of 1966.

The Fulbright fellowship carries a stipend large enough to provide winners with all expenses for an academic year of study at a foreign institution.

Two years ago, Warner was selected to participate in an exchange program with El Colegio de Mexico. He is a member of the Nebraska Career Scholars, and Phi Sigma Iota, language honorary society.

Phi Delta Theta To Imprison DJ

A Lincoln disc jockey will find himself the prisoner of Phi Delta Theta fraternity Saturday morning.

Gary Kines, a "DJ" from station KLMS, will be locked up in a small cubicle at 12th and O at 10 a.m. He is to remain there until Phi Delta Theta pledges and their "bunnies" collect $2,000.

According to Paul Critchlow, who is co-chairman of the project along with Gary Gray, Kines will broadcast from his "cell" for 15 minutes during every hour. He will have 5,000 records to give away.

"This is our pledges' 'Help Week' project," Critchlow said. "Two pledges from each of the sororities will serve as 'bunnies.' A pledge and a bunny will stand on each downtown corner to solicit donations. The money will go to the Easter Seals campaign."

Kines won't be completely isolated during his stay Saturday. He will receive visits from the Easter Seals Girl

Color photographs taken by two students in the University School of Journalism have been used to illustrate the Nebraska section of a newly-published edition of the American Heritage New Pictorial Guide to the U.S.

A full page reproduction of an aerial view of the Capitol Building introduces the Cornhusker State's section. The picture was taken by Wendy Rogers for use in the School of Journalism's Depth Report Number Three, "Nebraskaland—Its Beauty."

An aerial view of the Platte River taken by Arnie Garson is also shown in the section.

the students. And finally the regulation of students must be clearly and specifically indicated, with the punishment for an offense being generally known.

On specific areas of controversy, Dr. Trask advocated the ideas that the University shouldn't have rules on class attendance, that there should be no grade requirements for participation in activities, and that civil law of the outside community should apply to the moral standards of the campus.

"In other words no special institutions of righteousness. And rules for men should apply to women and vice-versa. There should be no double standard," he concluded.
