resents at least 1,200 faculty and at least 18,000 students," the statement noted.

Soshnik said that the University supported the association statement and "has been in very close touch with Russell Thacker, the association executive secretary" about the situation.

"We consider the situation critical. In some states, 'rescue operations' will be impossible this year, no matter how hard-pressed the institutions become," the statement by the association concluded.

When the committee will make its recommendation on the situation to the House is not known.

Union To Show Movie Classic Birth Of Nation

What is considered the epic of the motion picture industry — "Birth of a Nation" — will be shown to Nebraska Union film society members in the Union ballroom 7 p.m. Thursday.

The film, which was first put out in 1915, is considered to have been the first film of any length and the first motion picture spectacular.

Kris Bitner, film chairman, said that the film is for all film society members.

Techniques which this film introduced to the picture industry include night photography, natural landscapes, the still shot, tinting, the iris movements and linear dominants.

Miss Bitner noted that the film is now considered quite controversial because of its support of the Ku Klux Klan.

Quiz Bowl Schedule

Nine teams will compete in the quarter finals of Quiz Bowl Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Nebraska Union.

The winning teams will compete in the final tournament Friday which will be broadcast over KUON-TV at 9 p.m.

The nine semi-finalists are: Blackshirts, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, The Lights, The Tweed Ring, The Savants, The Misnomers and Ag Men.

New Editor Appointed For 'Scrip'

The new editor of Scrip Magazine is Frank McClanahan, a junior in Arts & Sciences. The appointment is effective for the May issue.

Scrip advisor, Robert Narveson, said, "Frank has done good work for the magazine this year and has proved himself to be the logical choice for the job."

McClanahan, who had filed as vice-presidential candidate of the Campus Freedom Democratic Party (CFDP) said he was withdrawing from the race to work on Scrip.

"I still support CFDP fully and have complete confidence in Randy Prier, the new vice presidential candidate, but right now I think I can serve the University better working on Scrip," McClanahan said.

Ceremony To Honor Arbor Day

Tree planting ceremonies will be held Friday in honor of Arbor Day south of the Plant Industry building on East Campus.

Sponsored by the Horticulture and Forestry Club and Alpha Tau Alpha, agriculture will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Dean E. F. Frolik, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, will plant a tree and speak on the future of tree planting.

Retired State Forester Earl Maxwell will speak on some of the trees presently planted on the University campus. A history of Arbor Day will also be given.

"The trees that will be planted are mostly species not now found on the campus," Harold Pellet, assistant professor of horticulture and forestry said.

He said that some of the species to be planted include Little Leaf Linden, Criemean Linden, River Birch, Cork tree, Sycamore, Nanking Cherry, Japanese Pagoda tree, Tree Lilac, Sweet Gum Alder and numerous shrubs.

Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi Banquet Honors Initiates

The problems related to the identification of unknown bodies were explained Wednesday evening at the Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi Banquet.

Dr. T. Dale Stewart, physical anthropologist and senior scientist for the Museum of Natural History in Washington, related his experiences in this field.

"Murder, Skeletons..." The title of Dr. Stewart's speech was "Murder, Skeletons, and the F.B.I." He explained that body identification is usually carried on by medical examiners and coroners.

"They concentrate on the easy identifications, giving physical anthropologists like me the hard cases. The ones we work on deal with skeletons and corpses which others can not solve. They are given to us because we are accustomed to working with skeletons."

"At the Smithsonian, where I am employed, we have some 20,000 skulls which I refer to as a "library of physical types." This is one of my basic sources for identification. When a skull is brought in for identification, I can often find a representative in this library," he stated.

Dr. Stewart's main concern, however is research in the area of anthropology and identification. During the post war period he carried on a detailed research into determining the height of an individual from his skeleton.

He has, in addition, studied the Neanderthal skull and has reassembled an entire one. Besides, he has been on the scene and has worked in many of the major anthropological discoveries of recent times.
