

AWS Board Passes Plan For Key System

By Nancy Henrickson
Junior Staff Writer

The working plan for a senior key system, including eligibility, procedure and penalties, was passed unanimously by the AWS Board Tuesday.

The actual key system won't go into effect until two or three weeks after the beginning of classes in the fall. Carol Bischoff, senior key committee chairman, said that keys would not go into effect until after seniors had been oriented and all locks were installed.

Misuse of the key system will be determined by the judicial department. Pam Hedgecock AWS president, said that the judicial court would logically determine the difference between an overnight and late hours.

Candy Sasso suggested that the rules make clear that in order to have senior key privileges, a girl must enter her living unit after closing hours on her own key.

Miss Bischoff reported that a maximum security system was available from a Lincoln key company. A new type of key and lock will be used and only that company can duplicate the keys.

In the case that a key is lost, the lock can be changed and new keys made.

The key system will now be presented to Dean Ross and the faculty committee on student affairs.

Also at the AWS meeting, demerit proposals and handbook changes were discussed. Both demerit proposals and handbook changes will be voted upon next week.

Changes in visiting hours and quiet hours in women's living units were referred back to the judicial committee.

Ann Boyles suggested that AWS only set up a pattern and let each living unit enforce its own visiting hours.

Judicial chairman Barb Beckmann proposed that in replacement of the demerit system, a new program for lateness be initiated.

Under this system, a girl would be allowed three latenesses or 20 minutes. The "period of grace" is to allow for justified excuses.

After being late three times or being late 20 minutes, a girl will receive a court notice on her next infraction.

A court notice will also be given after three to five other violations of AWS rules, such as failing to sign in or out.

Mrs. Ruth Levinson, AWS advisor, questioned, "Am I the only one who thinks you are being very permissive?"

Miss Sasso said that the system doesn't seem permissive and it eliminates red tape by avoiding court appeals.

The lateness system for changing the demerit system was referred back to the judicial committee.

State Primaries

these races. Three of the posts are filled by incumbent Republicans and one by an incumbent Democrat. The Republican race for the governor and lieutenant governor nominations are wide open with five candidates in the first and seven in the second race.

Senate Seat

The race for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Carl Curtis is expected to be one of the state's most exciting as Curtis is unopposed in the primary and Gov. Frank Morrison is almost a shoe-in for the Democratic nomination with only one opponent, Raymond Arndt of Columbus.

State polls show that the front runner in the Republican contest for governor is former University Regent Val Peterson of Hastings. Norbert Tiemann, Albert Hahn, Henry Kuhlmann and Bruce Hagemeister oppose Peterson. Democratic candidates for the same office are Philip Sorenson, incumbent lieutenant governor, J. W. Burbach, state legislator, and Henry Ley, former state banking director.

any of the major races, Mrs. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, is a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. Also on the Democratic ticket is Ross Rasmussen of Hooper. Republican candidates for the same office are Fern Hubbard Orme, a state legislator, Kenneth Bowen, a legislator, Sam Klaver, Byron Johnson, John Everroad, Edwin Hart and Philip Anderson.

Amendments And Issues

In addition to election of the above candidates, voters will also approve or disapprove numerous proposed amendments or charter changes to city charters and may vote on bond or other pertinent issues in each county. Voters registered as independent will vote on all non-political offices and on issues.

Absentee or disabled voters' balloting may be completed by writing to the county or city clerk in the home area or to the election commission office in Douglas and Lancaster counties. The ballots must be voted on and sealed in the presence of an election commission official or a notary public. Ballots can be requested until noon May 7 and must be postmarked by midnight May 9 if the vote is to count.

Registration for this election has already closed in most counties. Under a new state statute, voting residents of counties with populations of 20,000 or more must register. Previously residents of these counties were exempt for the registration requirement.

Absentee Ballots

University students may vote on their absentee ballots at the Lancaster County election commission office in the Terminal Building at 10th and "J" Sts.

Miss Shattuck noted that absentee balloting does have great importance in an election. "The absentee ballots are always carefully analyzed by the Republican Party," she said.

Approaching Finals Deadens Men's Defense To Romance

The approach of Dead Week hasn't deadened the toll that NU coeds have made in the ranks of eligible campus males, as 15 couples announced pinnings or engagements.
