

Gallery Announces New Film Schedule

A tentative schedule of films for next year has been announced as part of the Sheldon Art Gallery Film Program. Norman Geske, director of the Gallery, noted that this schedule is still subject to change, but has been in part confirmed. Series A on Friday evenings will be entitled "The Director's Art." This series will feature a two director series, Federico Fellini and Alfred Hitchcock. The films by Fellini will be "Variety Lights," "The White Sheik," and "I Vitelloni." Hitchcock's earlier films will be represented with "Notorious," "The Lady Vanishes," and "Foreign Correspondent."

The Sunday afternoon, Series B, will feature masters of American film comedy, documentary films, the art of the dance on film and film pioneers. The American comedy masters will include programs devoted to Charlie Chaplin, Mack Sennett, Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd, Laurel and Hardy, the Marx Brothers and tentatively, W. C. Fields. "The Silent World," "Dead Birds," and "The Exiles" are the documentary films to be presented in Series B. Saturday mornings will feature eight programs of feature films and short subjects selected for their interest to children in the Series C program. Documentary, experimental and avant garde films will be shown in the Series D on Tuesday evenings. The Gallery release states that these films are specialized aspects of film art and are not recommended for children or as family entertainment.

Tentative on the schedule is a national series featuring three Japanese directors: Kon Ichikawa's "The Burmese Harp," Akira Kurosawa's "Throne of Blood," and Kenji Mizoguchi's "The Baillif." In the director series, six classic specials are planned: "Ivan the Terrible," by Sergei Eisenstein; "Children of Paradise," by Marcel Carné; "The Passion of Joan of Arc," by Carl Dreyer; "The Trial of Joan of Arc," by Robert Bresson; "M," by Fritz Lang; "Intolerance" by D. W. Griffith.

Suhr Selected President In Second RAM Election

The same RAM executive officers were elected in the second election at Selleck Quadrangle Tuesday. The new election was held after disputes had been raised about the April 25 election. Elected in both elections were: Ted Suhr, president; Deanna Groetinger, vice president; Linda McKain, secretary; Larry Anderson, treasurer; Gayle Weeks, activities director; Peggy Kaufman, social director; Bill Fuller, scholastic director; Bonnie Bonneau, publicity director.

The council voted that the April 25 election was valid. Ted Suhr, newly elected president, moved at that time to have another election "because of debate arising over the previous one." In the Tuesday election student assistants from Selleck officiated at the polls, in contrast to past RAM officers who had presided at the polls in the previous election. The student assistants were also responsible for counting the ballots. In the April 25 election ballots were counted by RAM Council executives. Shop, reported that receipts from the sale of used clothing contributed by Faculty Womens Club members totaled $600 — the highest on record. The money will be turned over to the student loan fund at the University and will be matched nine times with National Defense Education Act funds to provide $6,000 in student loans.

The total amount of money donated by the fraternities to the 1965-66 All University Fund was announced to be $1,143.54. Twenty-four houses contributed, according to Jim Shreck, fraternity drive chairman. The largest amount was $112, donated by Beta Theta Pi. Others in the top five were: FarmHouse — $108.34, Kappa Sigma — $100, Phi Delta Theta — $94 and Sigma Chi — $75. The money will be sent by AUF to the five charities selected by an all-student poll in September.

Air Force Cadets Recognized

The annual awards ceremony of the 465th Air Force ROTC Cadet Wing was held at the University on May 5. Twenty-two cadets were presented with awards. The following awards were presented:

The Lincoln Chapter of the Military Order of World Wars Award was presented by Lieutenant Colonel Stanley McCandless to Norman Mejstrik. This award is presented to an outstanding sophomore who ranks in the top 10 per cent of his class, has indicated the desire to be an Air Force officer and who has been outstanding in personal appearance, courtesy and promotion potential. Recipients of the American Legion General Military Excellence Awards were Larry Donat and David Baden. These cadets ranked in the upper one-fourth of their class and demonstrated outstanding qualities in military leadership, discipline, character, and citizenship. Recipients of the American Legion Scholastic Excellence Awards were John Baldwin and Samuel Hatfield Jr. These men ranked in the upper 10 per cent of their class and have demonstrated high leadership qualities and active participation in related student activities.

The Professor of Aerospace Studies Awards to outstanding freshmen were presented by Dr. B. N. Greenberg to Robert Solnick, Craig Stucky, Gregory Gilles, James Armistead, and Lloyd Meyer. John W. Hancock was presented the Sons of the American Revolution Medal. Hancock won this award by showing a high degree of merit with respect to his leadership qualities and all-around excellence in the Air Force ROTC program and a positive attitude toward the Constitution of the United States.
