

Intramurals

Championship matches will be held Monday in both deep and shallow water basketball.

At 5:15 Monday Phi Kappa Psi will battle Beta Theta Pi in the deep water championships. At 5:45 Delta Upsilon will play Phi Gamma Delta in the shallow water championships.

Fijis (shallow water) have worked their ways into the brackets of the tournament. If they are victorious Monday, one more game will have to be played to determine the champions since the tournament is double-elimination.

mural deck tennis are: Jack Guggenmos-Rich Rockwell, Delta Upsilon, first flight; Tom Lewis-Rusty Fuller, Phi Delta Theta, second flight; Dick Newton-Steve Neal, Phi Delta Theta, third flight.

Bob Fulton-Van Vable, Beta Theta Pi, fourth flight; Tim Smad-John Aalborg, Sigma Phi Epsilon, fifth flight; and Roger Douglas-Dale Parker, Beta Theta Pi, sixth flight.

The All-University championship is now in progress with these flight winners.

The intramurals doubles tennis champion will be determined by the match between Bill Roehrs-John Roehrs, Beta Sigma Psi and Dale Parker-Bob Gibson, Beta Theta Pi.

Semi-finalists in the doubles badminton tournament have been determined.

One semi-finals match will pit Mike Connors-Ken Miller, Theta Xi against Bill-Zuspan-Gary Anderson, Sigma Nu. In the other semi-finals match, Ken Brunk-Jim Stevenson, Sigma Nu, will play Rich Stangle-Don Walcott, Phi Kappa Psi.

Mike Connors, Theta Xi, will play Frank Brill, Phi Kappa Psi, in the badminton singles championship match.

Division winners in intramural softball are: Fraternity I, Phi Delta Theta; Fraternity 2, Delta Sigma Pi; Abel Hall, Abel 13, Burr-Selleck, Smith. Games played Thursday night had the Whippets versus the Aggies for the independent division championship and Governors versus Glenn for the Cather Hall division championship.

Division championship games: Fraternity 1, Phi Delta Theta 13, Farm House 12; Fraternity 2, Delta Sigma Pi 8, Cornhuskers 6; Abel Hall, Abel 13-11, Abel 4-5; Burr-Selleck, Smith 11, Keisselbach 4.

In the first round of the All-University softball tournament Phi Delta Theta will play Delta Sigma Pi and Abel 13 will play Smith.

Where the Action Is

This Saturday Husker fans and foes alike will get a preview of the 1966 edition of "How to Survive in the World of Collegiate Football Even If You Are the Team to Beat."

With the football season only four months away Big Eight grid camps across the midwest are proclaiming, "Let's Beat the Huskers Next Year!"

Colorado is the most insistent. The Buffs will be strong next fall. Most of the nucleus of sophomores and juniors who led Colorado to a 6-2-2 season in 1965 will be back.

And probably most important, Nebraska plays Colorado in Boulder on Oct. 22. Even though the theory is mostly discounted by the coaches, the altitude in the Rockies does something to visitors from the plains. (Who can forget the Air Force game last year?)

So, with the home crowd, the higher altitude and the usual pressure riding with the Huskers, the game with Colorado will be "one of those kinds, again."

The next week (Oct. 29) Missouri invades Nebraska and the Tigers should be a bit cautious when they come to Lincoln. Mizou's barnyard hospitality of last year will long be remembered by the twelve thousand Huskers at Columbia.

But Nebraskans will remember that the game will be televised and even though there are a number of things that they'd like to do to get even, they must keep their cool. But that doesn't mean that the Husker fans can't put on their greatest display of emotion in front of the cameras. We'll have to see.

Texas Christian, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and probably Iowa State (no one can predict what the Cyclones will be like) will all be strong teams next year. Kansas and K-State will still be rebuilding although the Wildcats could be stronger than usual. Utah State shouldn't be hard to master.

All indications show that Nebraska will be as strong as last years undefeated Big Eight champs. In fact, the Huskers could be more solid than ever.

Devaney has assembled the finest backfield of his tenure at Nebraska. With "Choo-Choo" Winters, Ron Kirkland, Ben Gregory, Pete Tatman, sophomore Dick Davis, Ken Brunk, and a host of others combined with quarterbacks Bob Churchich, Wayne Weber, and towering Frank Patrick, Nebraska could manage to find a combination equaling Notre Dame's famed "Four Horsemen."

Saturday, then, is experiment day. Devaney and the staff will be testing new material and trying new places for the veterans. It should be interesting.

Captain's Corner

Big Eight Tournament play has already begun for Nebraska's golf and tennis squads in Columbia, Missouri. Both teams left Thursday for the final competition of the season.

NU golfers invade the MU links sporting a 13-6-1 overall record and a 5-6-1 tally in league play.

Nebraska's six losses have come against Oklahoma State, Oklahoma, Iowa State, Kansas State, Missouri and Kansas. However, NU has retaliated against Iowa State, Kansas State and Missouri by defeating them in dual competition, and the NU squad tied Kansas.

Fourth Place

This leaves Oklahoma State (picked to win the title) and Oklahoma as the only teams with clean records against Nebraska.

On the basis of past performance, Nebraska's sophomore-studded squad is a solid contender for fourth place with a good chance to finish third.

The tennis picture isn't quite as bright for Husker followers as Nebraska is 0-6 in conference play, NU has lost As a result, I choose Nebraska as a solid favorite for last place.

Corn Cobs, Tassels

Just a few notes on the pep organizations at this University. I would like to see the Corn Cobs and Tassels mature from the lollipop and balloon selling stage to something more constructive and exciting.

Both organizations have impressed me with their lack of originality and creativity.

If they want to confine their efforts to a fairly uniform and static football promotion program then they should yield to some other organization with newer and better ideas.

These organizations are responsible for organizing the athletic spirit of the campus into some constructive form and they should take their responsibility seriously.

Suggestion: why not branch out and hold a rally for the basketball team or show up at a wrestling meet instead of selling suckers.

New Yell Squad

On the new Yell Squad: I hope that the new yell king will find time to attend more than three basketball games next season. The suggestion stands for the pom pon squad too.

I would also like to see the pom pon girls do more cheering for the team rather than their Ziegfeld Follies routines.

Their act would be more appropriate with the Rockettes in Radio City Music Hall than on a football field or basketball court.

Perhaps next year's squad will spend more time generating school spirit and enthusiasm and less time with Arthur Murray choreography. I doubt it.

'Best' Athletes

The Sports staff of the Daily Nebraskan picked their outstanding athletes last night in a closed session.

It was a tie between Kelley Baker and Bob Flasnick as they were the only two voting on the award. We offer hearty congratulations to these two outstanding individuals.

Churchich Tops Big 8 Batting

Going into today's double-header with Colorado, NU's Bob Churchich stands atop the conference hitting chart with a .405 average.

Three other Huskers, Alex Walter, John Roux, and Bob Brand, rank in the top 15 hitters in Big Eight Conference play.

Today's double header with the Buffs starts at 1:30 p.m. Bob Hergenrader has been called on to open on the mound for Nebraska in the first game and Bob Sticksels will go in the second game for Nebraska.

Gary Neibauer is scheduled to open for Nebraska in Saturday's series finale with Colorado which begins at 11:00 in the morning.
