

Priest: Abortion Laws 'Need To Be Changed'

Abortion is a rather common happening at the University, the Rev. Raymond C. Hain, Newman Center priest, said Wednesday in a discussion on abortion.

"I'm sure if you wanted that kind of information you could get it," Fr. Hain said.

Abortion has become such a serious problem that abortion laws need to be changed, he charged.

The American Law Institute has recommended abortion laws which would allow doctors to terminate a pregnancy if two doctors agreed in the "justifying circumstances" for performing the abortion.

The American Medical Association favored changing state laws to conform to the American Law Institute's model code last fall.

Abortion is permitted, however, under strict limitations in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

In 1965 an estimated 1.5

million abortions were performed in the U.S. Only 15 to 20 thousand of these were direct or therapeutic abortions.

Bases for changing abortion laws were given as:

—The increase of illegitimate pregnancies as a result of premarital sexual experience.

—People have grown accustomed to the practice of contraception and are ready to turn to abortion if contraception fails.

—It is argued that easier legal abortion will deprive the illegal abortionists of their trade.

Therapeutic abortions are permitted in the Catholic church on the grounds that it is legitimate to remove a diseased organism, Fr. Hain said.

"Is it possible to change the Catholic attitude?" Fr. Hain opened the discussion.

"If we start killing human beings, even if they are only a fetus, mercy killing is just another step away," one student said.

A coed questioned if abortion is committing murder because murder applies only to human beings.

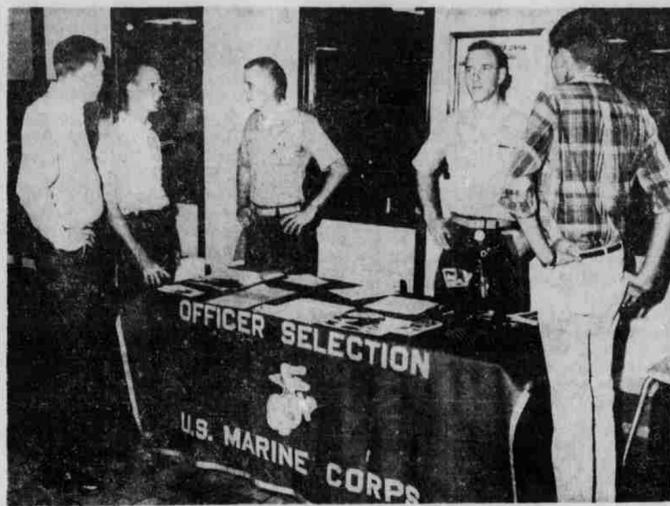

"We are killing an organism that has the potential of becoming a human being," a student answered.

"What should the practical conclusion be?" asked Fr. Hain. "We have to form our conscience on what we know."

The only safe guidelines are to follow the directions of the church, Fr. Hain said. Man has no right to take life and can only act when he has certitude.

"An answer is difficult to find," Fr. Hain said. Science is needed to keep exploring even the basic questions of what is life, when does life begin and when does life end.

"We will discover new problems, new facts which will require man to change his whole attitude."

U.S. MARINE CORPS . . . gives prospective officers the scoop.

Marines Seek Candidates For Corps Officer Course

Making their annual visit to the University this week is the Officer Selection branch of the Marine Corps.

The purpose of this visit, according to Sgt. B. Chastain, is to interview interested students for the Officer Selection program.

Chastain estimated that from 25 to 30 students are interviewed each day, but that all of those do not actually join the corps.

He said that they had enrolled 18 students from the campus as of noon Wednesday.

Chastain said that last year they enrolled 19 students in the Marine Corps Officer Plan from the University. Only one of these did not complete the summer program, and that person was unable to complete due to no fault of his own.

The summer program, Chastain said, is required of all officer candidates. The student attends a six-week program for the first two summers of his college career and a ten-week program between his junior and senior years.

He said that a candidate is not a full officer after these sessions but first must attend a 21-week basic training school. He stressed that the candidate is commissioned the day that he graduates from the University.

Chastain said that the University is "one of the better campuses in his district," which includes most of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

He said that the University showed "probably the best interest and the best type of man for which the Corps is looking."

He said that they have more interviews with students from Nebraska University than any other university despite the fact that it is not the largest school in the district. This distinction goes to the State University of Iowa.

The Marine Corps officers are located in the basement of the Nebraska Union and will be there until Friday afternoon.

Journalism Lecturers Have Mixture Of Academic, Professional Experience

Eight lecturers, each a professional in his field, have been added to the University School of Journalism staff for 1966-67 in a continuing program to provide students a mixture of academic and professional experience.

The men complement the full-time faculty in meeting increased Journalism School enrollment demands. Guest lecturers also will appear regularly before University journalism students.

R. Neale Cople, director of the school, said increased use of lecturers came about "partly by accident and partly intentionally." Because of the timing of staff resignations last spring, the school faced difficulties in hiring new faculty members for the fall semester.

The lecturers will teach courses and labs in the news-editorial and radio-television sequences at the school.

They are:

—Burnell F. Clark, producer-director at KUON-TV, the University's educational television station.

—Lee V. Rockwell, special projects producer at KUON-TV.

—Bob Taylor, news director for KOLN-TV, channel 10, Lincoln, and KGIN-TV, channel 11, Grand Island.

—F. Pace Woods, II, president of Woods Companies of Lincoln. He has been director of on-the-air promotion for the American Broadcasting Co. in Hollywood, Calif., and associate director and network director for NBC in Hollywood.

—Larry Becker, former managing editor of The Lincoln Star.

—Edward F. Carter Jr., member of the Lincoln law firm of Barney, Carter and Buchholz. He will teach a law course for journalists.

—Richard Herman, statehouse reporter for The Lincoln Journal.

—Carl Keith, night news editor of The Omaha World-Herald.

Cople said the use of lecturers is practiced in many journalism schools in the country, including Columbia University and Northwestern University.

Guest lecturers are to include Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas, City Finance Director James Mallon, Police Chief Joseph Carroll, Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles and Hugo Srb, clerk of the Legislature.

The use of lecturers and guest lecturers provides a good mixture of full-time faculty members who are able to devote their time to academic duties and men working in the fields in which they teach, Cople said.

ing of the year, YD president Sabra McCall introduced the officers and committee chairman, and a report was given on the Democratic campaign situation across the nation.

Vice President Bruce Mason told those attending that "all we want are 50 workers, not 175 members who just attend meetings."

Mason said that, "For once Nebraska has a chance to leave the forests of the 1880's. We have an opportunity to elect a Senator who has a vocabulary with more in it than the word 'no'."

Krivoshia added, "This is not a Republican year. I checked the almanac."

YD Groups Organize For Fall Campaigns

Telling Young Democrats what they should do in the campaign, Lancaster County Democratic Central Committee Chairman Norman Krivoshia said that "political campaigns are not won at meetings."

Speaking at the YD meeting in the Nebraska Union Wednesday night, Krivoshia said, "It's time for YD groups to recognize that it is not just a club-itis not primarily for activity points, for debates or for putting signs on campus."

Krivoshia said that the Young Democrats should campaign for the Lancaster County candidates by contacting registered Democrats, getting more Democrats to work and putting up campaign materials around Lincoln.

"We're not asking you to do these things as Young Democrats," Krivoshia said. "We want you to be a part of the campaign."

Krivoshia stated that the election in Lancaster County was the most important in the state. He said that it could be won, since nearly 50 per cent of the registered voters are listed as Democrats.

This being the first meeting of the year, YD president Sabra McCall introduced the officers and committee chairman, and a report was given on the Democratic campaign situation across the nation.

Vice President Bruce Mason told those attending that "all we want are 50 workers, not 175 members who just attend meetings."

Mason said that, "For once Nebraska has a chance to leave the forests of the 1880's. We have an opportunity to elect a Senator who has a vocabulary with more in it than the word 'no'."

Krivoshia added, "This is not a Republican year. I checked the almanac."

3 Profs Attending Surgical Meeting

A University College of Medicine faculty member, Dr. Leon S. McGoogan, is a program participant for the Pan-Pacific Surgical Association meeting in Honolulu, Hawaii, Sept. 20-28.

Other Nebraska faculty members attending the meeting are Dr. John Coe and Dr. Carl Wilson, assistant professors of surgery.

Ottoson To Become Ag Economics Head

Dr. Howard W. Ottoson, chairman of the University Department of Agricultural Economics, will become Director of the University's Agricultural Experiment Station on December 19.

The appointment was announced Wednesday by Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin, subject to final approval by the Board of Regents.

He succeeds Dr. Herbert H. Kramer who accepted an appointment as Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and Associate Dean of Agriculture at Purdue University effective Jan. 1.

Dr. Ottoson, an authority on agricultural policy, economic development and land tenure, joined the faculty in 1950 and became chairman of the department of agricultural economics in 1956. He was named Bert Rodgers Professor of Agricultural Economics.

Dr. Kramer has been Director of the University Experiment Station since Sept. 15, 1961. Dean E. F. Frolik of the University's college of Agriculture and Home Economics said Dr. Kramer's leaving represents "a real loss" to Nebraska agriculture.

"Dr. Kramer is one of the distinguished agricultural scientists in the nation," Dean Frolik said. "He has provided strong leadership in our research programs in agriculture and home economics. His leaving underscores the fact that Nebraska has difficulty in holding staff in competition with universities such as those in the Big 10."

Dr. Ottoson's experiment station research at the University has attracted several grants, including one from Resources for the Future, Inc., to finance a study of Nebraska's transition area.

the University's college of Agriculture and Home Economics said Dr. Kramer's leaving represents "a real loss" to Nebraska agriculture.

"Dr. Kramer is one of the distinguished agricultural scientists in the nation," Dean Frolik said. "He has provided strong leadership in our research programs in agriculture and home economics. His leaving underscores the fact that Nebraska has difficulty in holding staff in competition with universities such as those in the Big 10."

Dr. Ottoson's experiment station research at the University has attracted several grants, including one from Resources for the Future, Inc., to finance a study of Nebraska's transition area.

Regent Adkins Defends Scholarship Program

A member of the Board of Regents, Richard E. Adkins of Osmond, says he interprets part of a recent criticism on the University's proposed 1967-69 budget by Omaha Senator Clifford Batchelder as "an attack on the integrity of the Board of Regents in the operation of the so-called Regents Scholarship Program."

Batchelder, accused the institution's management of "making use of an unauthorized scholarship program amounting to approximately $500,000."

By this method, the Omaha senator claimed, the University caused its enrollment to expand, accelerating pressure on the Legislature for larger appropriations.

Adkins said the Regents Scholarship program "is operated under authority granted 37 years ago by the Nebraska Legislature. It is not a new program."

Under this grant, Regents can waive or refund fees of academically talented students or those in financial need who show scholastic promise.

Adkins told Batchelder, by letter, the program now provides scholarships for 600 students annually—300 freshmen and 300 upperclassmen. The dollar value of the waived tuition is $175,000 yearly.

Also, the University operates three other programs involving tuition waivers for certain students, including children of slain servicemen, with an annual dollar value of $50,700.

"In all cases," Adkins concluded, "these tuition waivers are reflected in tuition income estimates the University presents to the governor and to the Legislature. They are neither unauthorized nor improper, and they involve no diversion of funds."

"All other scholarships which the University awards are supported by outside donors," he said.

Shutterbug Needed By Nebraskan

Photographer needed!

From sources within the Daily Nebraskan comes word that a bright, energetic young man—or young woman—with a need for $40 per month could become a new staff photographer.

Prerequisites: Ownership of photographic equipment (i.e., camera); experience with processing and printing film; and a unique ability (convenient class schedule) for taking pictures.

Interested persons may inquire at the Daily Nebraskan office in the Nebraska Union.

The most walked about slacks on Campus are HUBBARD with "DACRON"

The action is fashioned by Hubbard . . . DACRON® polyester in the blend means total neatness. Try a pair of BRECHES by HUBBARD for the tapered look you'll want HUBBARD SLACKS

Experts Discuss Job Interviewing

The do's and don'ts of interviewing for a job will be aired at a panel discussion Tuesday which will feature two authorities in the field of career planning.

The seminar will be held in the ballroom of the Nebraska Union at 7:30 p.m.

Guest panelists will be Larry Nuss, Manager of College Relations and Employer Representative from the Midwest College Placement Association on the Council of The College Placement Association, and W. J. Hergenrader who is vice president and general manager of Frigiking Company and a graduate of the University.

Swingline RAZZLEMENTS

This is the Swingline Tot Stapler

98¢ (including 1000 staples) Larger size CUB Desk Stapler only $1.49

No bigger than a pack of gum—but packs the punch of a big deal! Refills available everywhere. Unconditionally guaranteed. Made in U.S.A. Get it at any stationery, variety, book store!

Swingline INC. Long Island City, N.Y. 11101

*DuPont Reg. T.M.

MOTORCYCLE RACES

Sat., Sept. 24 - 7:30 P.M.

— 15 events —

Over 90 drivers from 4 states

Admission $1

Midwest Speedway
4600 No. 27th St.

When You Must Keep Alert

When you can't afford to be drowsy, inattentive, or anything less than all there . . . here's how to stay on top. VERV Continuous Action Alertness Capsules deliver the awakensness of two cups of coffee, stretched out up to six hours. Safe and non-habit-forming.

CLASSIFIED CLASSIFIED

These low-cost rates apply to all classified advertising in the Daily Nebraskan. Standard rate of 5¢ per word and minimum charge of 10¢ per classified insertion.

Payment for these ads will fall into two categories: (1) ads running less than one week in succession must be paid for before insertion. (2) ads running for more than one week will be paid weekly.

To place a classified advertisement call the University of Nebraska at 477-5711 and ask for the Daily Nebraskan offices or come to Room 51 in the Nebraska Union. The classified advertising managers maintain 9:30 to 1:30 business hours. Please attempt to place you ad during those hours.

- FOR SALE
  - Tonnoau—1963-1965 Corvette. 489-3712.
  - 1964 Honda 50 motor scooter, like new. $150.00. 466-6621.
  - For Sale, 1962 Honda Dream, Windshield, Saddle bags. Call 489-4872 any evening.
  - 1964 Buick Skylark Convertible. Good Condition. See at 648 So. 17, Apt. 403 or call 432-3120.
  - GUITAR—Fender Jazzmaster. 477-4377.
- BOOKS
  - Any Hand discussions Sunday afternoons 1-4 p.m. or see me 5-4 any day. William Steen, 320 N 13th.
  - Modern Plays by Beckett, Behan, O'Connell, Lillias Jones, DeJandry, Genet, Pinter, Durrenmatt, others. bookstore, 220 N. 12.
- FOR RENT
  - Sleeping quarters for four. Two bedrooms. Graduate students preferred. See Margaret Fulman in Criv or 425-5911.
  - 8721 Fairfax. Private Upper Duplex. Refrigerator, stove, dishwasher. 466-1262.
- WOULD YOU BELIEVE Private, Unfurnished house. Range and refrigerator. Being remodeled. 7712 N. 29th. $50 per month. School term.
- MISCELLANEOUS
  - "ESP-DISK" recording company of the new music and the FUGS, wants campus reps for surveys and public relations assignments. Contact immediately B. Stollman, 225F, 136 5th Ave., New York, 10010.
  - WANTED: Good tennis player who is interested in playing regularly with a real fanatic. Contact David Neumeister, 432-1552.
  - WANTED: Artist to work part time: silk screening. Phone 489-4762.
  - Real part time job. Car necessary. Call 432-4646 anytime.
  - CORNHUSKER BILLIARD SUPPLY. 1620 "P". Come play pool with us. One piece and two piece cues for sale.
- ORCHESTRAS
  - J. Harrison B. and the Bumbos. Well known college combo for hire. Call Stan Johnson at the Dell house.
- PASSENGERS WANTED
  - Passengers to FLY to Wisconsin October 8. Call Scott Stuart. 468-0202.

WARNING

DIANNE DIANNE DIANNE CHANDLER

THE HUTCHIN POST

Where nature's shoulder is spoken.

(19 North 15th)