

'New Morality' Panel Discusses Philosophy

A panel discussion on the concept of the 'New Morality' was presented Sunday evening by the Gamma Delta organization of the Lutheran Church.

The panel discussed the concept of the new morality as presented by two previous lecturers in previous weeks. These speakers were John Saleski of St. John's College in Winfield, Kansas and Dr. Walter Mueller of Seward Concordia.

The panel was made up of members of the Gamma Delta group. They were Scotty Schuetz, Dave Greenwell, Bill Robert and Lynn Rathjen.

One of the panelists presented a transcript of Hugh Hefner's philosophy on the New Morality, Hefner is the editor of Playboy magazine.

According to Hefner, men no longer recognize God and so strive for something else and this striving gives new meaning to life for men.

Hefner believes that the younger generation, which is giving up the recognition of God, is looking for a new moral. Hefner also believes that any act of sex where a person learns something about himself is good.

The same panelist said that personal interest is the new way of life and that success is measured in material and secular goods.

Another panelist defined Old Morality as a traditional system of values which is held to be true by some source, that source being the Bible.

He also defined New Morality as a system of values which is held to be true by an individual with the help of no outside source.

Also a discussion of the reason for the change to the New Morality resulted in the general agreement that it was caused by the pressure on the individual to become expedient and the need for a personal attitude which society is presenting.

IT'S A GOP YEAR... according to Young Republicans Becky Jones, Kathy Dunn, Jackie Quigley, Mary Tallman, Mary Wenke and Kathy Shattuck.

YR's Begin Organizing Plans For Fall Precinct Campaigns

With the election coming up in one month, University YR's participated in precinct work all weekend, according to YR President Cathie Shattuck.

Putting up yard signs, working on policy statements, doing house to house canvassing and arranging for candidates to speak at Doane College in Crete occupied the time of approximately 40 students, she added.

More than 150 yard signs for Robert Denney, candidate for Congress from the 1st District, and gubernatorial candidate Norbert Tiemann were placed at homes around Lincoln. "We also canvassed about an eight-block area as to political party, were the people registered and whether or not they needed disabled or absentee ballots," Miss Shattuck said.

In addition the YR's compiled a list of people who need rides to the poles which will be available to any groups or living units wishing to drive people to the polls as a community service project. In connection with the canvass, the YR's handed out GOP campaign literature and also asked if the interviewee had voted in the primary.

"The Go Girls called registered Republicans during the week-end to ask if we could post signs in their yards," she added. The Go Girls will also be hosting a tea for Denney throughout Lincoln on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Another group of the YR's worked during the week-end at Denney headquarters helping compose various policy statements to be used later this month.

Miss Shattuck said, "We're also helping organize a YR group at Doane College and are helping now by inviting various GOP candidates to speak at their school."

This past weekend has been a busy one, she noted, but YR groups can play a major role in helping before an election by doing projects such as the University YR's have worked on this week-end.

New Committee Begins Marshmallow Crusade

Calling it a "cause that will involve the homefront", a group of University students have organized a Crusade to Send Marshmallows to Vietnam.

The group is advocating that all American families purchase bags of marshmallows to send to the Pentagon in Washington with instructions to forward the bags to the children of South Vietnam.

The crusade is, according to members of the group, an attempt to organize the home front and provide a gesture of goodwill from U.S. troops to the people of South Vietnam.

Marshmallows were chosen because of their high sugar content and because they provide a hot meal when roasted over fires. Also, marshmallows float, which is a useful characteristic in a country that has a rainy season.

The group is considering imprinting each marshmallow with red food coloring and the words "Hands Across the Sea."

Plans call for the servicemen in Vietnam to eventually distribute the marshmallows to individual children to put the program on a personal basis with the South Vietnamese.

"I envision the day when the children of South Vietnam will greet arriving U.S. troops with, 'Hey, Joe, got a marshmallow?'" explained one member of the group.

The crusade is expected to be started in earnest later this month after the Marshmallows to Vietnam Committee (M to VC) has become more fully organized.

Derby Snatcher's Attempts Resisted

Sigma Chi Derby Day was not all fun and games for Jane Zook, a Sigma Kappa pledge, who was admitted to Bryan Hospital Saturday for injuries sustained during the Derby Day games.

Polly Rhynalds, Sigma Kappa president, said Miss Zook, while attempting to steal a Sigma Chi derby, met with opposition from the derby's owner. Miss Zook suffered a fall and severely sprained her leg, Miss Rhynalds added.

Bryan Hospital lists her condition as satisfactory, Miss Rhynalds said.

Language Needs More Emphasis, Says Professor

A University College of Medicine professor, Dr. James Benjamin, who has just returned from an assignment in Ankara, Turkey, has suggested a stronger emphasis on foreign languages.

While in Turkey he taught neuroanatomy to students at the Hacettepe Medical Center. His lectures were in English, and these were repeated to the students in Turkish through an interpreter.

At the Ankara medical center, integrated teaching program is used, that is, all basic sciences are taught concurrently.

The medical center, now in its third year has 110 first year medical students.

Cinema 16 Experiment Includes 9 Short Films

A program of experimental movies from Cinema 16 will be shown at Sheldon Art Gallery Tuesday beginning at 8 p.m.

The nine short films, which are each six to ten minutes in length, will be shown successively. Admission charge for the program is 50 cents.

The program includes:

Hallucinations, directed by Peter Weiss, is a film of twelve erotic and subconscious visions envisioned in twilight between waking and sleeping. It is an unusual example of contemporary European avant-garde film production.

The Blood of the Beasts, directed by Georges Franju, an uncompromising portrait of Paris is a film of savage honesty and violent visual impact.

Pacific 231, directed by Jean Mitry, is a visualization of the journey of a locomotive across the French countryside to the music of Arthur Honegger's symphonic poem.

The World of Paul Delvaux, directed by Henri Storck, is a curious and poetic dream-journey through the fantastic world of the Belgian surrealist painter Paul Delvaux.

Cuckoo Waltz, directed by E. van Moerkerken, debunks law, order, pompousness and conformism by means of doctored newsreel shots and camera tricks.

Le Bijou, directed by Francis Lee, is a poetic portrayal of the perilous adventures of a colorful jewel, symbolizing the tribulations of the artist in search of creative fulfillment.

A Movie, directed by Bruce Conner, is a pessimistic comedy of executions, catastrophes and sex, magically compiled from cowboy films, movie titles, calendar art, jungle movies and newsreels.

Ritual in Transfigured Time, directed by Maya Deren, is a poetic psychological study achieved by acceleration and deceleration of time, relating of unrelated gestures, repetition of complex patterns unrealizable in actuality.

Horse over Teakettle and Other Films, directed by Robert Breer, is an animated cartoon, tangentially a proud challenge flung against the bomb.
