

MISS PRESCOTT . . . and Panhellenic president Erma Winterer prepare to leave the Union following Monday's convocation.

KD Alum Advocates Returning To Ritual

The Executive Secretary of Kappa Delta, Miss Minnie Mae Prescott, spoke Monday evening at Panhellenic Night in the Nebraska Union.

Miss Prescott based her speech on the Panhellenic Workshop theme "Pledges to day: Members tomorrow". She emphasized that each pledge was a potential member, and during her leadership should attempt to gain five qualities: loyalty, cooperation, leadership, good grooming and responsibility.

Miss Prescott said that all active members should set an example for the pledges. An active should be able to instruct a pledge "not to do as I say, but to do as I do."

Although all pledges may not become active members, Miss Prescott emphasized that they should be thankful since they had selected a particular group, and that group in turn had chosen them.

Miss Prescott advocated a return to the rituals and also said that sorority women should set the tone of a campus. She said that the image of the Greek system will improve slowly over the years by an increased effort of each house.

Scholarship awards were presented to the top three houses in scholarship from last semester. First place went to Gamma Phi Beta, second to Chi Omega, and third to Alpha Delta Pi. Alpha Delta Pi was also awarded a trophy for the most improved scholarship.

The top individual scholar in each house was also recognized. These included from Alpha Chi Omega, Gail Skinner; Alpha Delta Pi, Rose Ann Wirth; Alpha Omicron Pi, Glencia Barrows; Alpha Phi, Peggy Blue; Alpha Xi Delta, Donna Bush; Chi Omega, Jackie Eads; Delta Gamma, Maryann Jorgenson; Delta Zeta, Gaynelle Podoll and Linda Hammer.

Schaaf's Appointments

"The student's role on this committee should be to talk to as many students as possible in order to get their ideas on scholarships and then present the findings to the committee," Stickney said.

Chosen to serve on the subcommittee on Student Organizations, Jim Iverson stated that he is not sure of his role on the committee.

"We have not had any meetings yet and I haven't talked to too many people about the committee," he explained. "I would, however, like to see some evaluation of student organizations made by this committee."

"This evaluation would determine whether or not the organization is effective or not and how close they follow their constitution. It would also determine how these organizations are seen in the eyes of the faculty, whether they like or dislike the organizations.

"This evaluation could determine the organization's relationship with the University, especially making note of the things they do to benefit the University," Iverson commented.

He sees his role as being an intermediary between the students and the faculty. "I would carry ideas both ways, from the faculty to the students and vice versa."

Bruce Jensen was chosen to serve on the Calendar and Examinations Committee. He feels that his duty is to bring the views of the students to the faculty concerning the times for exams and vacations.

"My job will be merely to advise and give the student view. I feel that my views are that of the typical student on campus as to when to have vacations and exams."

Music Conductor Speaks Thursday

The conductor of the Contemporary Chamber Players of the University of Chicago, Ralph Shapey, will give a public lecture at the University on Thursday.

Shapey will visit the University's department of music Thursday and Friday as a guest of the Nebraska Career Scholar Program, and will meet with the career scholars in the music department.

He will speak on "Composition—My Practice and Its Relation to the Modern World of Music," illustrating his remarks with tapes of his own compositions.

His lecture is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the choral rehearsal Hall of the new Music Building.

Present Budget To Face Revision By Committees

By Julie Morris Senior Staff Writer

EDITORS NOTE: This is the fifth story in a six-part series on the University's 1967-69 $98 million budget request to the Nebraska Legislature. It's a long, long road a-winding for University administrators who must now go to bat for the school's biennial budget request in a series of meetings with state officials.

The $98.6 million budget request for the 1967-69 biennium has been in the hands of the state's Administrative Services Department for over a month. The request faces analysis and possible prunings by this agency, by Gov. Frank B. Morrison, the governor-elect, the Legislature's budget committee and the Legislature, itself in the next few months.

The Administrative Services Department, which was created by the 1965 Legislature, will be going over the University's and other state agencies' budget requests program by program. The Department will make budget recommendations to the governor, according to Mrs. Joy Tupper, junior budget analyst at the department's budget division.

Preliminary Work The Administrative Services Department is an arm of the executive branch of the state's government and will be doing much of the preliminary groundwork on state budget requests for the governor.

William Daugherty, the budget officer for the department, will be handling the University's budget request, Mrs. Tupper said. The department personnel will be talking with University officials, principally Chancellor Clifford Hardin and Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik, and scrutinizing every detail of the budget requests, she said.

When the Administrative Services Department completes its analysis, their recommendations go to Morrison who will study the budget requests of all the state agencies and prepare an executive budget for the biennium, according to Hugo Srb, clerk of the Legislature.

Present Budget

The governor-elect, who will be chosen in the Nov. 8 general elections, will also be faced with the job of preparing an executive budget as Nebraska law requires both the incoming and the outgoing governors to present budgets.

Both Morrison and his successor will hold budget hearings in November and December, Srb said. University officials will appear at these hearings to defend their budget request.

The new governor will present an executive budget message to the Legislature in the first days of the session, which opens January 3, Srb said.

Referral The budget requests with the executive recommendations are then referred to the nine-member budget committee which considers the requests and writes bills providing for the financial appropriations.

In the course of the Budget Committee deliberation, Srb said, the committee will be holding public hearings and will be asking officials from the state's agencies to appear to defend their budget requests.

The final committee recommendations on the state's budgets are usually made at the end of the legislative session, Srb said.

The committee's recommendations usually are reported as late as the end of June when the new biennial year begins July 1, Srb said. Generally, the bills are quickly voted on in the Unicameral and sent to the governor for his signature, Srb said.

Unless there is a floor fight over the budget bills, Srb said, most agencies know what their budgets will be at least two weeks before actual Legislative voting on the bills and the budget authorizations usually reach the agencies in the first days of July.

Film To Explore

Water Resources

"Waterbill U. S. A.", a 27 minute color film on American water resources will be presented at 4 p.m. at the East Union Lounge.

The film is narrated by Walter Cronkite. It tells why America is running out of water and what can be done about it.

Sig Eps Break Ground For Planned Addition

Construction will begin on a $130,000 expansion to the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The new addition will increase the potential number of residents from 46 to 72.

Ground breaking ceremonies were conducted Saturday by several of the fraternity alums. The building is scheduled to be completed within the year.

The addition, which is to be built north of the present building, will be three stories high plus a basement.

The basement will contain a completely new library and also expanded kitchen and dining facilities.

The upper three floors will contain two-man living quarters plus expanded lounge area.

Also planned in the construction are better interior electrical facilities and new furniture in the present building.

According to Norman Beatty, alumnus adviser, the date has not yet been set to begin construction. The reason for the delay, he said, is that time is needed to secure the necessary funds.

Beatty said that most of the money will be raised through donations from alumni.

Construction is hoped to be under way in about a month, he said.

The new addition was designed by Clark and Emerson of Lincoln.
