

Senate Supports Debate

 motion concerning the proposed debate.
 The purpose for reconsidering the proposal was that it was not the Senate's position to say who should be invited to debate, since it was a Talks and Topics-sponsored debate and not the Senate's.
 The motion to reconsider the Rehorn motion was not approved and Roger Doerr, vice president of ASUN, stated that the motion, as passed by the Senate, "regretfully met with the President's approval."

"Not Concerned"
 A number of committee reports were presented. Mel Schlachter, chairman of the Advisory Boards Coordinating committee, reported that in investigating the present college advisory boards, that it had been determined by his committee that the boards were not concerned with academic matters.

"This, we believe is the basic matter with which the boards should concern themselves. We have drawn up a bill to formalize the goals and purposes of the boards, which we have presented to Senate this week, so that the Senate could consider the bill during the next few days and take action on it next Wednesday," Schlachter said.
 The Academic Research committee submitted its findings in connection with the investigation of an A plus, B plus, (etc.) grading scale.
 John Hall, chairman of the committee, stated that after considering the results of the student opinion poll (which found that 394 students favored the change to a plus grading scale and 332 opposed it) and talking with various faculty members, that there was not a need for a change.
 "One of the purposes for changing from a 9-point grading scale was to facilitate the comparing of grades between the University and other schools, which use the 4-point scale. The adoption of this plus grading scale would bring back this problem," Hall explained.

 Doerr announced that he had received the resignation of Mike Jess, senator from Engineering and Architecture from the Senate. Doerr stated that in his resignation, Jess declared that he would apply for the vacancy on the Senate resulting from the resignation of Don Voss from the Senate.
 Elections will be held next week by the Senate to fill the empty Engineering seat left by Voss.

Jess was one of the senators who received a seat on the Senate through the reapportionment carried out last spring by the electoral commission. The Student Court, in the case of Bill Tooley, who also received a seat in the reapportionment, declared that the reapportionment was illegal.
 It was announced that John Hall's seat, given to him under the reapportionment, is rightfully his.
 Schaaft announced that there is evidence that there was an error of eight one-hundredths in the apportionment of the Arts and Science College last spring.
 "This error is involved with Sen. Mark Schreiber's seat on the Senate. Action will be discussed next week," Schaaft explained.

HERB ALPERT and the Tijuana Brass will appear at Pershing Auditorium Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. The Nebraska Union Special Events committee is sponsoring the concert and block ticket sales begin Oct. 25 in the Program Office room 136, Nebraska Union.

'Are My Bermudas On?'

Prof Strips In Class, But Lesson Fails

WASHINGTON, D. C. (CPS)—Gypsy Rose Lee may be relegated to second place in burlesque history, now that a George Washington University instructor has taken to strip tease.

Having warned students in his sociology class that he was about to do something unorthodox, Joseph Tropea put on sunglasses and divested himself of suit coat, tie, shirt and trousers.

Standing before the class in his undershirt, bermudas and garters, Tropea concluded his lecture on the roles individuals play. By departing from the normal garb and behavior of an instructor, Tropea said later, he was trying to illustrate the process of role changing.

Somewhat uncertain of the effect his performance would have on the class, Tropea also expressed a more personal uncertainty. "As I started to take down my pants, I had to think, 'Did I put on my bermudas?'"

After disrobing, Tropea asked class members if he was in a different role now that they had seen him in a different light. The class, which at first had laughed, said he was not in a different role because he still stood behind a podium which was surrounded by chairs, desks and black board.

Legality Questioned In Marijuana Case

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (CPS) — Recent disciplinary action against a University of Maryland freshman charged with possession of marijuana has raised due process questions over the university's judicial procedure.

Robert F. Sauer, 18, of Baltimore, was released Oct. 9 on bond after being arrested in his dormitory room for illegal possession of marijuana and barbiturates two days earlier.

A university spokesman reported that the Office of the Executive Dean for Student Life has suspended Sauer from housing for "believed possession of marijuana."

There is no specific regulation at Maryland prohibiting the possession of the drug, but University regulations state that residents who fail to observe "accepted standards of conduct" may be asked to leave their dormitories.

In "extreme cases where the conduct of a student may not be in conformity with the best interests of the University," the rule continues, a student may be dismissed from school.

Sauer's status as a student will be decided soon by the university officials, the spokesman added. The case will probably go to Darrell F. Rishel, director of judiciary affairs, he said. Rishel's office usually handles student disciplinary cases.

Several students questioned whether the university's disciplinary action, which by-passed a system of student courts constituted a denial of the rights to due process of law within the university.

University action was likewise questioned because it paralleled legal proceedings by the state, thus possibly subjecting Sauer to double jeopardy for his alleged offense.

In a similar marijuana case at the University of Pennsylvania two weeks earlier, a sophomore student was put on disciplinary probation until he graduates. Prosecution was subsequently initiated by the state.

In that instance, students protested that the University took action before the legal guilt of the accused student was determined.

A preliminary Maryland hearing for Sauer has been set for Nov. 15. Officials emphasized that he was arrested for possession of marijuana and barbiturates and not for the use of drugs. Possession of barbiturates is a misdemeanor in Maryland. Possession of narcotics, however, is a felony. Marijuana is considered a narcotic.

Police reportedly acted on a tip in making the arrest. A search warrant had been obtained before officials entered the dormitory and arrested Sauer, who was alone at the time.

Federal narcotics agents, state police and the university officials cooperated in the arrest.

CFDP May Change Title

Nominations were taken Tuesday night at the meeting of the Campus Freedom Democratic Party for their officers.

Nominated for president of CFDP were Liz Aitken, Tom Riley, and Randy Prior. Dan Dickmeier, George Olvarri and Dennis Bartel were nominated for the office of vice president.

Those nominated for secretary were Susie Phelps and Randy Prior. Receiving the nomination for treasurer was Frank McClanahan, Dick Schulze, and Jerry Olson.

Elections will be held at next Wednesday's meeting.

It was moved by John Shreckinger that a section be included in the proposed CFDP constitution stating that candidates of the party for ASUN offices be chosen on the basis of a primary election among the party members.

It was argued that a statement of this sort was not needed in the constitution, but rather that all statements pertaining to the selection of candidates should be incorporated in the by-laws of the organization.

"I don't want to impose my will on the future members of this party," declared Liz Aitken. "If they decide it is necessary to nominate their candidates in another manner, they should have this right without amending the constitution."

The motion to include this statement for electing candidates was defeated.

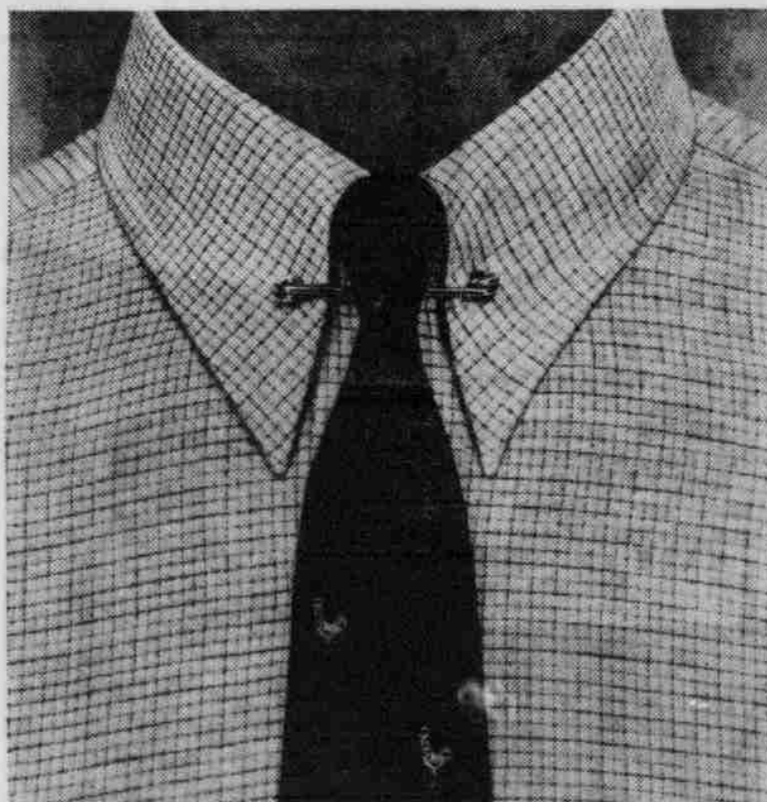

A motion was presented to change the name of the party. The basis for this change, it was argued, was that in a paper on syndicalism, Carl Davidson refers to a nationwide movement of campus political parties called Campus Freedom Democratic Parties.

It was suggested that possibly, in the future, the University CFDP party might not want to be recognized as a part of this movement and that therefore the name should be changed.

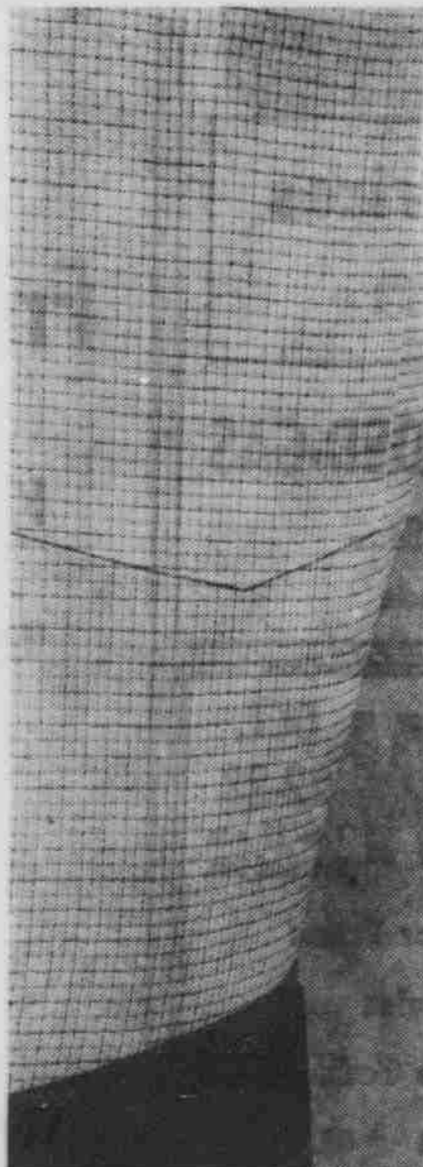

The motion was tabled for one week so that members could consider possible alternative names.

Hathaway Hallmarks

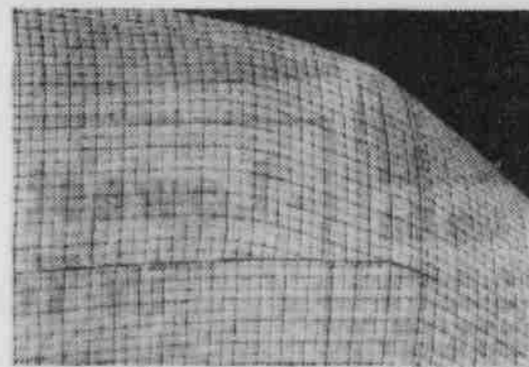

(Or what we hoped Jonathan Winters would mention)

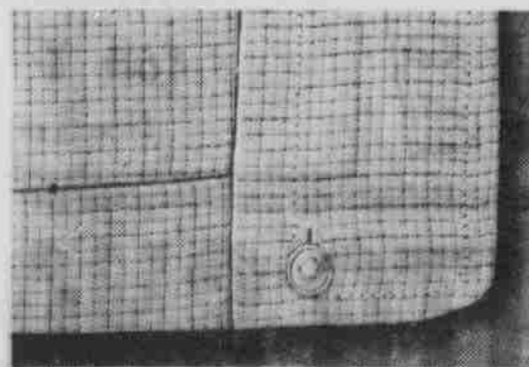

Hathaway's fashionably longer-pointed London Polo collar: Discovered this year at some of the liveliest places around London. Surprising note: it looks equally well without a pin. (Also note the perfect pattern matching around the tip of the collar. Also on pocket and seams.)

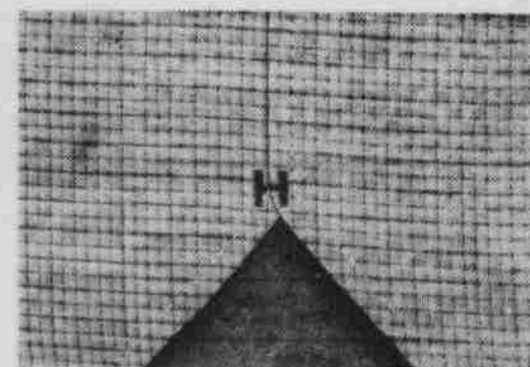

Lap seams: All seams on a Hathaway Club Shirt are "lapped"—just like jacket seams. This makes the seams extraordinarily strong and flat and neat.

The Red "H": Found on every Hathaway Club where the tails meet—but only when the shirt has passed 18 inspections.

Three-hole button: Used exclusively by Hathaway. It is much stronger than the four-hole kind. (Euclid and your math professor know why.)

A tag for your name: Sewn on the shirt tail of every Hathaway Club. Helps keep your Hathaway shirts out of envious hands.
