Play Production Halted After Scene Cut Dictum

Des Moines, Iowa (CPS) -Students refused an administration dictum to cut an allegedly "gross and lewd" scene from their production of Eugene Iones-co's "The Chairs" at Grinnell College and closed the show instead.

At issue was a female character's pantomine of the sexual act with an imaginary person. Richard Meyer, director of the College Arena Theater and an associate professor, demanded that the scene be toned down.

The cast and student director, Dennis Rich, agreed to cancel the remaining performances rather than compromise.

The play was performed one night and was slated to run three, but at the second performance Rich-announced, "Meyer and the administration feel that "The Chairs' as presented last night is not fit for the Grinnell audience . . . Un-der the circumstances we feel we cannot honestly present the play and there-fore regretfully announce its cancellation."

Bonnie Tinker, a sophomore whose performance precipitated the row, said, "I fully realized what was involved in the role when I accepted it. The effect

Although some of the presidents admired the move, others criticized Beta Chi as being either to farsighted or too progressive. Several said that Beta Chi was no longer a real fraternity, but a dormitory with Greek letters.

Williams blamed fraternities' resistance to change on an overreliance on national fraternity leadership. Beta Chi, formerly Beta Chi chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity, went local in #### 1967 in Chicago.

The essay, which is to be entitled "Peace is Attainable", is not to exceed 5,000 words.

Any male or female who will be 14 but less than 22 years of age as of Jan. 15, 1967, is eligible to enter.

The purpose of the contest is to focus the attention of people on the desir-ability of searching for ideas and developing a plan toward making world peace a reality.

The goals of the contest are discovery of a workable plan for World Peace, concentration of attention on the subject of World Peace, and the accentuation of the meaning of freedom and liberty.

Interested University students should contact Room 121, Andrews Hall for applications and for further information.
