

Traveler's Acts Are Selected

With the selection of traveler's acts, the program for Coed Follies is now set. Together, the skits and travelers acts will constitute AWS sponsored "Centennial '67" being presented on Feb. 24, at Pershing Auditorium.

The five traveler's acts, chosen Wed., Feb. 8, will include Becky McSpadden, Susan Nohr, Dianna and Sudde Black, Karen Jo Bennett, and Patti Van Horn, Nancy Hoffman and Pam Dalling.

They will serve as a brief interlude between the major skits presented by Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Zeta Tau Alpha sororities.

The Ideal Nebraskan Coed and Outstanding Collegiate Man will be presented at the production.

The finalists will be announced in Wednesday's Daily Nebraskan. A final interview Feb. 16 will determine the winners.

Tickets for the production will go on sale Monday, Feb. 13. They can be purchased from AWS workers at all houses and dorms for $1.50 and at Pershing on the night of the performance for $1.75.

Hell Week Program Violates IFC Rules

"Hell Week" is a direct violation of Interfraternity Council (IFC) by-laws, according to IFC President Gene Hohensee. Hohensee defined Hell Week practices as "any pre-initiation week program that tears the individual down; any program that is intended to show just how much a pledge can take."

"The IFC specifically states in the by-laws to its constitution that 'All hazing practices are forbidden at the University of Nebraska,'" he said. "It further states that 'Any fraternal pre-initiation program shall be constructed on a constructive basis.'"

Pre-initiation activities are now officially supposed to be Hell Week programs, he said, and should not in any way be "degrading to the individual."

Violation of these restrictions, he said, can result in stiff penalties for convicted houses:

- Conduct probation and publication of violation.
- Social probation.
- Suspension of pledging privileges.
- Suspension of initiation privileges.
- A fine up to a maximum of $500.

"Most fraternities realize that these penalties are quite severe and I would think that the penalties would be enough to prevent the fraternities from placing themselves in jeopardy," Hohensee said.

"But more important than this—especially in a time when the real worth of the fraternity system is being questioned—fraternities should do all they can to make the pledge training programs of their houses constructive in order to develop totally educated men."

In its by-laws the IFC bases its definition of hazing on a statement by the College Fraternity Secretaries Association.

This statement defines hazing as "any action taken or situation created, whether on or off fraternity premises to produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment or ridicule."

"We must change in order to survive. All the progress made in an entire semester of pledge training can be lost through a digression in a single week—Hell Week," he said.

Tiemann Discusses Tuition With Four Campus Leaders

By Julie Morris
Senior Staff Writer

Four student government leaders who conferred Friday with Gov. Norbert Tiemann came away with the impression that the governor will definitely recommend a tuition hike, possibly up $25 a semester.

The students said, however, that they also feel Tiemann will recommend the Legislature appropriate a "healthy" increase in University funds for the upcoming biennium.

ASUN President Terry Schaaf, Roger Doerr, ASUN first vice president, and Marv Almy and Curt Bromm spent about 30 minutes with the chief executive, Schaaf said.

Tiemann had asked the students to visit him to sound out their feelings about the University's dollar situation and to ask them what priorities students would place on the items in the University's $98.6 million operational budget request.

Tuition Increase

Tiemann "did not make it exactly clear that there will be a recommendation for a tuition increase," Schaaf said.

He added that the impression he gained was that the governor will recommend a tuition hike of $25 or $30 a semester.

Almy said a basic point the students tried to make with Tiemann was that if there is a tuition increase, more funds should correspondingly be spent on student instruction.

"Instead of paying more and getting less" as happened when University tuition went up two years ago, "we want to pay more and get more," Almy said.

The governor was particularly interested in sounding out the students on what type of budgetary increase would justify a tuition increase, Schaaf said.

Senate Resolution

Tiemann referred to a Student Senate resolution which called for a significant budget increase if there were to be a tuition hike.

Almy said Tiemann was also interested in finding out what the students felt were priority items in the budget.

"He wanted us to establish a priority list and we wouldn't. This is not something that you can place a one, two, three on," Almy said.

The students are interested in overall educational excellence and this is not determined by isolated factors so that factors cannot be rated by importance, Almy said.

Budget Increase

While Tiemann talked around tuition costs, he also indicated that he plans to recommend "increases in the University's budget," Schaaf said.

Tiemann was talking about "50 to 60 percent increases" in the operational budget, Schaaf said.

The University has asked for a 91.48 percent increase in the operational budget. Tiemann recommended a 53 percent increase in the budgets for our state colleges while the school's had asked for a 100 percent increase.

The students reported that Tiemann had "reiterated" all of his earlier arguments about the state budgets, including that a catch-up cannot come in one biennium. The University's budget is designed as a catch-up budget.

Almy said Tiemann also expressed concern that the University go along with his aims and "tailor" their budget request before the Legislature to his recommendations.

Normal Schools Budget

Schaaf said Tiemann expressed disappointment that the state Normal Board had chosen to go before the Legislature Budget Committee with their original budgets and had ignored his recommendations.

Almy said Tiemann "whose philosophy" behind state budgets seems to be that the University and the governor "have to go to the Legislature together."

Schaaf said the chief executive has taken a "we will fight together for the University's budget" attitude.

The students said Tiemann was "very sympathetic" with the University. "He is probably the strongest supporter we have in state government," Almy said.

"He agrees with us that the University of Nebraska has got to be improved," Almy said.

University Budget Hearing Delayed

The committee public hearing on the University's budget requests may be delayed one week.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Saturday asked the Legislature's Budget Committee to delay the hearings, originally set for Tuesday and Wednesday, of this week.

Tiemann wants the delay to allow him time to compile his recommendations on the budget for the 1967-69 biennium and a possible tuition increase. The Committee has not answered the governor.

Meanwhile, a hearing on LB440, a bill to give the University a supplemental appropriation, had been scheduled for Wednesday at 2 p.m. before the Budget Committee.

The University has asked for a $569,612 supplemental appropriation to fill in a deficit for this biennium caused by unexpected enrollment totals.

At a Friday morning press conference, the governor chided the State Normal Board for not tailoring their budget requests to his recommendations.

"Their requests are unbusinesslike, unrealistic and the people of Nebraska won't accept them," Tiemann said of the requests of the four state college, Chadron, Kearney, Wayne and Peru.

"I hope the Board and Regents and the University will accept our recommendations," Tiemann added.

The governor said his recommendations on the University request won't be ready for a week.

NU Enrollment Figures Show Total Of 15,856

Figures giving the University spring enrollment for each college by men and women have been released. Total enrollment is 15,856, including 10,704 men and 5,152 women.

Arts and Sciences has the largest enrollment, 3,549, with 2,158 men and 1,391 women.

Teachers College has 3,242 with 1,066 men and 2,176 women.

Engineering and Architecture contains 1,787, with 1,771 men and 16 women.

Enrolled in advanced professional teachers college are 578 students, 428 men and 150 women.

Business Administration has 1,734 students, with 1,621 men and 113 women.

Agriculture has an enrollment of 1,070, comprised of 1,046 men and 24 women.

Home Economics has 598, with 12 men and 586 women.

The Omaha medical school has 472, with 331 men and 141 women.

Law College has an enrollment of 225, two of which are women.

Pharmacy has an enrollment of 191 with 161 men and 30 women.

Dentistry has an enrollment of 163 students, 142 men and 21 women.

Registered as students-at-large are 78 men and 42 women.

Those students undeclared in the Junior Division consist of 137 men and 132 women.

Student Forum To Be Continued

Hyde Park will be continued this semester, according to Nebraska Union Program Director Rich Scott, though the first session may be several weeks in the future.

Two things accounted for the absence of Hyde Park from its usual 3:30 appearance Thursday, he said.

First, the Talks and Topics Committee, which runs the weekly session, has not had an opportunity to meet.

Second, the first Hyde Park may be delayed "a few weeks to build more interest in it," Scott pointed out that interest in the student forum dwindled at the end of first semester.

March 20-24 . . .

Filing Period Scheduled By ASUN For Election

By Randy Irely
Senior Staff Writer

The filing period for the April 12 ASUN election will be the week of March 20 through 24 according to Roger Doerr, vice president of ASUN.

Doerr noted that the filing period was the week prior to Spring Vacation, with the ASUN elections scheduled for the second Wednesday following vacation.

The specific rules for the election will be presented by the electoral commission to the Student Senate on March 1 for senate approval.

Candidates for the Senate and the executive positions will probably be able to designate their party affiliation on the ballot if it is listed on the application, Doerr stated.

"Having the candidate state for which party he is running will encourage political parties to form and choose candidates before the filing deadline," Doerr explained.

He said that it is hoped that such a requirement would strengthen the political parties and enable them to be more selective in their choice of candidates.

Also, Doerr noted that there will be "no listing as a three-man team for the executive position on the ballot." The executive candidates will be able to list their party affiliation but they will be voted on by office and not as a team.

Officials of both campus political parties, PACT and Vox Populi, were contacted by the Daily Nebraskan in regard to whether or not they will select candidates for the ASUN elections.

Both parties' officials declined comment.

In addition to the candidates for the senate and the executive positions, Doerr noted that the Bill of Rights will probably be simultaneously presented to the students for their approval.

Also on the ballot will be any constitutional amendments placed on the ballot either by a two-thirds vote of the senate or by a petition signed by 5 percent of the regularly enrolled students of the University.

Doerr said that there has been some discussion on the possibility of a constitutional amendment concerning the procedure to be followed in selecting individuals to assume unfilled seats from any college.

The chances for a primary election are "pretty much nil," according to Doerr. This problem of having two campaigns, one for the primary and one for the general election, and the dual campaign expenses to be incurred by candidates, are factors against the primary.

"Another consideration against the primary is the problem of generating student enthusiasm for two elections," Doerr continued. "The question of whether or not a primary, in which only a small amount of students voted, could be valid is another factor."

Doerr stated that he expected the electoral commission to set a limit on the amount of campaign expenses that a candidate can incur.

"I believe that the electoral commission will be more stringent in determining what constitutes expenses," Doerr concluded.

Valentine's Day Origin Doubtful; Date Not

The Russell Stover Candy Co. offers a heart-shaped box of chocolate, two feet across, which could surely feed the 1st Cavalry Division for a month.

Gift Giving
To return to the history of the celebration—Valentine's Day gift giving apparently began in the 19th century.

It all seemed fairly harmless until the 1920's, when 12 gangsters were heartlessly presented with an unwelcome gift in a Chicago garage. Their murder is known to this day as the St. Valentine's Day massacre.

While the tradition may be sordid, and even a bit risqué, it is certainly a bright spot on the calendar for Lincoln businessmen.

Favorite Holiday
"It's one of our favorite holidays," smiled Danielson. Small wonder, since Danielson is forced to hire extra help for this week's rush. And a large part of that rush comes from University students, according to Danielson.

Other businesses refuse to be left out of the Valentine's Day picture. No matter what you sell, the system goes, paint it pink or red, and it will sell like white sheets at a Klan rally.

Every year business increases over the previous year on Valentine's Day. Which proves, perhaps, that more and more Americans are falling in love with each other each year—or spend like they do.

"WOODCARVING CLASS" . . . . outside work being done carefully in preparation for Valentine's Day. Ken Rownd professes undying devotion to a certain coed in keeping with the famous tradition.

Bill of Rights Ready For First Assembly

By Cheryl Tritt
Senior Staff Writer

Final preparations are being made for the first meeting of the Bill of Rights Assembly Saturday.

Fraternities, sororities, the Unicorns and Towne Club have submitted the names of their assembly representatives to the Student Conduct Committee.

The representatives will be sent copies of the original Bill of Rights and an explanation of the format of the assembly before Feb. 19, "so they may begin formulating suggestions for changes or additions to the bill," said Dick Schulze, the chairman of the ASUN Student Conduct Committee which is drafting the Bill of Rights.

Panhellenic will sponsor a workshop for the sorority assembly representatives, Monday night, at which Dick Schulze will speak.

Schulze stressed the assembly will be open to all interested persons so off-campus independents will also have a voice in the final Bill of Rights.

The Student Conduct Committee began final revisions of the bill at a meeting Sunday, Schulze said, and also "made plans for the assembly's format." He added that he would probably serve as chairman of the Assembly.

During the assembly, which will continue from three to four weeks, he said, "some of these statements will be completely deleted, while others will be expanded, reworded or combined."

The final document will provide "a clearly established basis from which the individual student can work," he added.

The Bill of Rights must be presented to the ASUN for approval by March 15, before the bill can be placed on the ballot in the ASUN spring elections.

Birds Mate

Another myth has it that Feb. 14 is the day when birds in Europe mate. Evidently medieval Europeans decided that the birds set an excellent example, and adopted a similar program for themselves.

It may be a simple and pleasant day for birds, but it is far more expensive for the average American male.

A quick survey of downtown Lincoln revealed that most students can (and do) effortlessly demolish a $10 bill in an effort to express admiration.

$6-7 Spent

Robert Danielson of Danielson's Floral Co. said that the average University student spends six or seven dollars for flowers alone.

Extravagance is not uncommon, however, and Danielson recalled one young man some years ago who spent $50 on a Valentine floral arrangement.
