for the film society and promises selections of quality films of a contemporary nature, according to Susie Jenkins, chairman of the Nebraska Union Film Committee.

"The majority of the films are French or English because those countries seem to have some of the better directors as far as new wave films are concerned," Miss Jenkins said.

LARGE SELECTION

However she noted that the iron curtain films have great appeal since the heavy hand of censorship has been lifted in those countries.

Starting October 4, this year's program begins with "The Magician" a Swedish film directed by Ingmar Bergman, acknowledged a genius of the art by movie critics.

The series continues with "Sundays and Cybele" by French director Serge Bourguignon. Other French pictures include "Nasculine-Feminine" (Jean-Luc Godard), "Banana Peel" (Marcel Ophüls), "The Shameless Old Lady" (Rene Allio), and "La Vie de Chatean".

Fryar Exhorts IDA To Continue Work For Coed Visiting

John Fryar, first president of the Inter-Dormitory Association resigned his position Wednesday evening at the first IDA meeting of the semester.

Upon his resignation Fryar expressed deep regret that he had to leave and stated that "It was a conflict involving both financial considerations and where I could best serve the dormitory system."

"DIFFICULT"

"It was a difficult decision to make," he added. Speaking on coed visitation hours Fryar said, "we cannot let the principle drop. It is a vital aspect of making the dorms more like homes."

He also expressed concern over the Inter-Fraternity, Panhellenic, IDA joint committee. He felt the committee should begin work immediately on eliminating the differences between Greeks and independents.

SPECIAL CONCERN

Fryar added that this was of special concern to IDA since many pledges lived in the dorms as freshmen.

Fryar also charged the representatives to make a final decision on compensation for dorm and IDA officers.

Fryar expressed confidence in Brian Ridenour, the new president, saying that "Brian will be a leader in the traditions of Jim Ludwig and Marv Almy, founders of the organization."

Also included on the agenda was a discussion of the WRH Committee. Ridenour stated that the committee would be composed of former and present residents of WRH, a member of IDA, and a faculty member.

The committee is to formulate a report on the pro's and con's of an all-freshman dorm. Ridenour said that the report could possibly lead to a dorm vote on the situation.

CONTINUE QUEST

Other committee reports included one by Gary Grahquist on Coed Visitation. Grahquist, the newly appointed committee chairman, said his committee was presently undergoing reorganization but would continue the quest for coed visiting rights.

The Council also discussed establishing a court system to deal specifically with dormitory problems. Ridenour said that the court would consist of people who have been prominent in dorm government and IDA. Appointments will be made within the next two weeks.

Other business included the appointment of three new officers to IDA.

The positions of vice president, treasurer, and social chairman remain to be filled.

University Continues Stillman Exchange

Two University students will be sent to Stillman College in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, second semester, according to Margaret Van Cleave, chairman of the Stillman Exchange Program.

"This year will be the second year of operation for the ASUN sponsored program," Miss Van Cleave explained.

Spillman, a Negro college, sent two students here for the first semester of last year but did not return students to Nebraska second semester.

Miss Van Cleave said the University did not send students to Stillman College last year. She said the situation resulted because of financial problems and a breakdown of communications between the University and Stillman.

"These problems were solved over the summer," she added. "Stillman has a new administration which is much more enthusiastic toward the program and we are looking forward to a successful year."

"In addition, we have been in correspondence with three other universities that have similar exchange programs," Miss Van Cleave said, "and we hope to use this information as guidelines."

She explained that the University would send two students of any year to Stillman, "although we prefer not to have seniors."

The students will be chosen by filling out a regular ASUN application and on the basis of an interview. "The students academic record will not be a deciding factor," she added.

Stillman will also send two students to Nebraska second semester, Miss Van Cleave said.

She added that the Stillman Exchange Program has room for more committee members and students may obtain more information about the committee and the exchange program in the ASUN office.
