

Black Shirts Provide Scoring Opportunities Nebraska Rambles Over TCU, 29-0

Nebraska's defense took a page from Colorado's scrapbook Saturday and it produced the same results for the Huskers as it did for the Buffaloes.

After the Buffs chewed them 21-16 last week on recovered fumbles and pass interceptions, the Husker Black Shirts employed the identical tactics against Texas Christian University and it provided a 29-0 victory.

Scoring at least three points in each stanza, Nebraska rolled to their top scoring totals of the season by using opportunities the defense set up.

"The defense did a fabulous job," said offensive tackle Bob Taucher. "We took advantage of breaks and it just so happened we hit the big play right away."

BREAK COMES
The break Nebraska

didn't get in losses to Kansas and Colorado came early in the first quarter when defensive end Mike Wynn recovered a Frog fumble at the TCU 19 yard line.

After a 12 yard run by Dick Davis, the game's leading ground gainer with 106 yards, quarterback Frank Patrick hit split end Dennis Richnafsky in the corner of the end zone for six points.

Bill Bomberger booted the extra point with 8:08 left in the quarter for the 7-0 Nebraska advantage.

Break number two came less than one minute later when linebacker Ken Geddes intercepted his first pass of the afternoon and Nebraska began rolling again from the TCU 21.

Patrick fired a bullet pass to Davis for the touchdown and although the extra point try was wide, Nebraska had turned two enemy miscues into a 13-0 lead with 7:11 left in the first period.

DEFENSE GLORY
"It seemed when we scored those 13 points, things didn't go right afterwards for some reason," Taucher said.

Offensively, Nebraska mustered a 23 yard Bomberger field goal 12 seconds before the first half closed.

The defense again rose to glory in the second half.

Geddes, who was also involved in eight tackles, picked off another Frog pass and rambled 39 yards for a touchdown that pushed Nebraska into a 22-0 lead.

Sophomore safety Randy Reeves recovered another Frog fumble at midfield with 1:13 left in the game to hand the offense another scoring chance.

FIERRO TO YANNON
Texan Al Fierro and reserve back Buster Yannon combined forces on a 46-yard-passing play to push the Huskers into a 29-0 lead as the gun sounded.

The defenders grabbed three enemy passes (Geddes' two and Al Kuehl's one) and recovered three Frog fumbles, held TCU to only 40 rushing yards and 75 passing markers.

TCU only made four first downs, while Nebraska was pounding out 20 first downs on 221 rushing yards and 156 aerial tallies.

NO QUESTION
"There was no question in our minds that we could do the job," said Frank Avolio, Nebraska's defensive end, who has made a habit of dumping opposing quarterbacks for long losses.

"We had a little spirit left over from last week's Colorado game," he said. "and we knew what we were doing."

Avolio, a sophomore who has been making constant progress, felt the sprint out passes that TCU used in the second half when P. D. Shabay replaced starting signal caller Dan Carter gave him the biggest headaches Saturday.

"Overall, our pass rush was good although it wasn't like it had been against Colorado and other games when we were getting their quarterbacks," he said.

TWO TD PASSES
"We should work a little more on getting a consistent rush," the aggressive 6'2" 215 pound Aliquippa, Pa. native said.

Quarterback Frank Patrick, who tossed two TD passes among his 10 for 19 afternoon good for 91 yards, felt Nebraska played a sound game.

"We pretty much followed through with our game plan," the Big Eight's leading passer said. "We knew we would have to throw because TCU was tough to run against."

Patrick praised his offensive front wall as they "kicked out real well and did a fine job on pass blocking."

Patrick said the offensive platoon was given the football in good scoring position by the alert defenders who directly accounted for all but three points.

TRIPLED TCU
In blanking their second foe and raising their seasonal record to four wins against two defeats, Nebraska tripled TCU's offensive totals.

Although the Huskers gained 377 yards against TCU's 115, Nebraska did have its bleak moments at Fort Worth.

The Big Eight's leading pass receiver Dennis Richnafsky pulled a leg muscle and will be missing from the Husker lineup for an indefinite period.

Besides Richnafsky's loss, punter and defensive back Dana Stephenson suffered a shoulder separation and will be sidelined at least two weeks.

SIX FUMBLES
The loss of punter Stephenson may force coach Bob Devaney to use either Joe Armstrong, who handled kicking chores last year, and booted a 50-yarder Saturday or Al Kuehl, who punted during the 1965 season.

Also on the negative side, Nebraska fumbled a glaring six times although they recovered four bobbles and saw two enemy passes land in opposing hands.

In handing the Frogs their fifth consecutive defeat, Nebraska was penalized 60 yards as they won their twelfth straight regular season non-conference games.

Rogers Leads Freshmen To 24-14 Rout Of Tigers

Nebraska's freshman football team turned the tables on Missouri Friday afternoon by defeating the Tigers 24-14 at Columbia.

During the Devaney regime, the Tigers have been the only team to upset the Nebraska yearlings by scoring one-point decisions the past two years.

Led by offensive backs, Bill Brown, Dan Schneiss and Paul Rogers, the Huskers rolled to 310 total yards.

Fullback Rogers accounted for a dozen of the team's 24 points by scoring on a 59-yard-touchdown run, a 37-yard field goal and booting two extra points.

The 5'10" 180-pounder also completed two of three passes for 43 yards.

"Rogers had one of his better days," head coach Cletus Fischer said.

Fischer also said halfback Tom Heller, a former Kearney High standout, did an outstanding job at both his offensive and defensive spots.

"Heller, an offensive back, went all the way on defense because he was inserted when defensive back Jim Anderson was hurt in the first quarter and we were short on defensive backs," he said.

Fischer said Nebraska's defensive unit had trouble with Missouri's offensive size and their scrambling quarterbacks.

"Their quarterbacks scrambling around caused us a lot of troubles," he said. "They picked up some key first downs this way."

The Tigers racked up 172 rushing yards but managed only 15 passing markers.

Fischer said the offense put together several good drives.

"We controlled the ball eight minutes in the third quarter on a long drive that helped us a lot," he said.

Fullback Benney Williams capped this drive with a one-yard touchdown run that pushed the score to 24-6.

"Missouri was a big football team," he said, "but we will have to improve to beat Iowa State."

Iowa State crushed the Tiger yearlings last week 40-7 in a powerful offensive display.

Nebraska will meet the young Cyclones at 2:30 p.m. Friday in Memorial Stadium in their lone Lincoln appearance.

Wynn: TCU Game The Season's Best

Mike Wynn, aggressive hard-charging defensive end, played a major role in Nebraska's 29-0 shellacking of the Texas Christian University Frogs Saturday at Fort Worth.

The sophomore end recovered two fumbles and came up with several fine defensive stops.

The 6'4" 206 pounder from Evanston, Ill., said Nebraska "played very well."

"This was our best game all season."

KICKED OUT
"The offense, once they started to get going, kicked out quite a bit," Wynn said.

The Cornhusker offense pushed their statistics up after rammimg for 377 total yards.

Defensively Wynn said, "we did as good as job as we could do."

"Everybody put out a good effort."

The black-shirts improved their defensive statistics by holding the Frogs to 75 yards rushing and 40 yards passing.

Going into the game the Cornhuskers had allowed only 67.8 yards rushing while giving up 95.6 yards passing to earn the number three spot in the national defensive rankings.

"Meylan shook the ball loose and I happened to see it and fall on it," he said

Just 16,656 Fans Attend TCU Game

It almost didn't pay for Nebraska to take a charter plane to Fort Worth, Texas for Saturday's Texas Christian University meeting.

Only 16,656 fans, the lowest total in five years to watch a Husker contest, sat in on the festivities.

The slim gathering in the 46,000-seat TCU-Amon Carter Stadium was also the smallest crowd to witness a Horned Frog contest this season.

Big Eight Quotes, Comments, Notes

"Wayne Meylan is a great player at middle guard, says Kansas assistant Dick Tomey, who scouted the Huskers. "He turns bad plays by their tackles into good plays — it is amazing what a difference one great player like Meylan can make."

"That Joe Orduna — I don't know where he's from, but I know it doesn't take him long to get there," said Minnesota coach Murray Warmath after Orduna had broken for the game's only touchdown in Nebraska's 7-0 win over the Gophers.

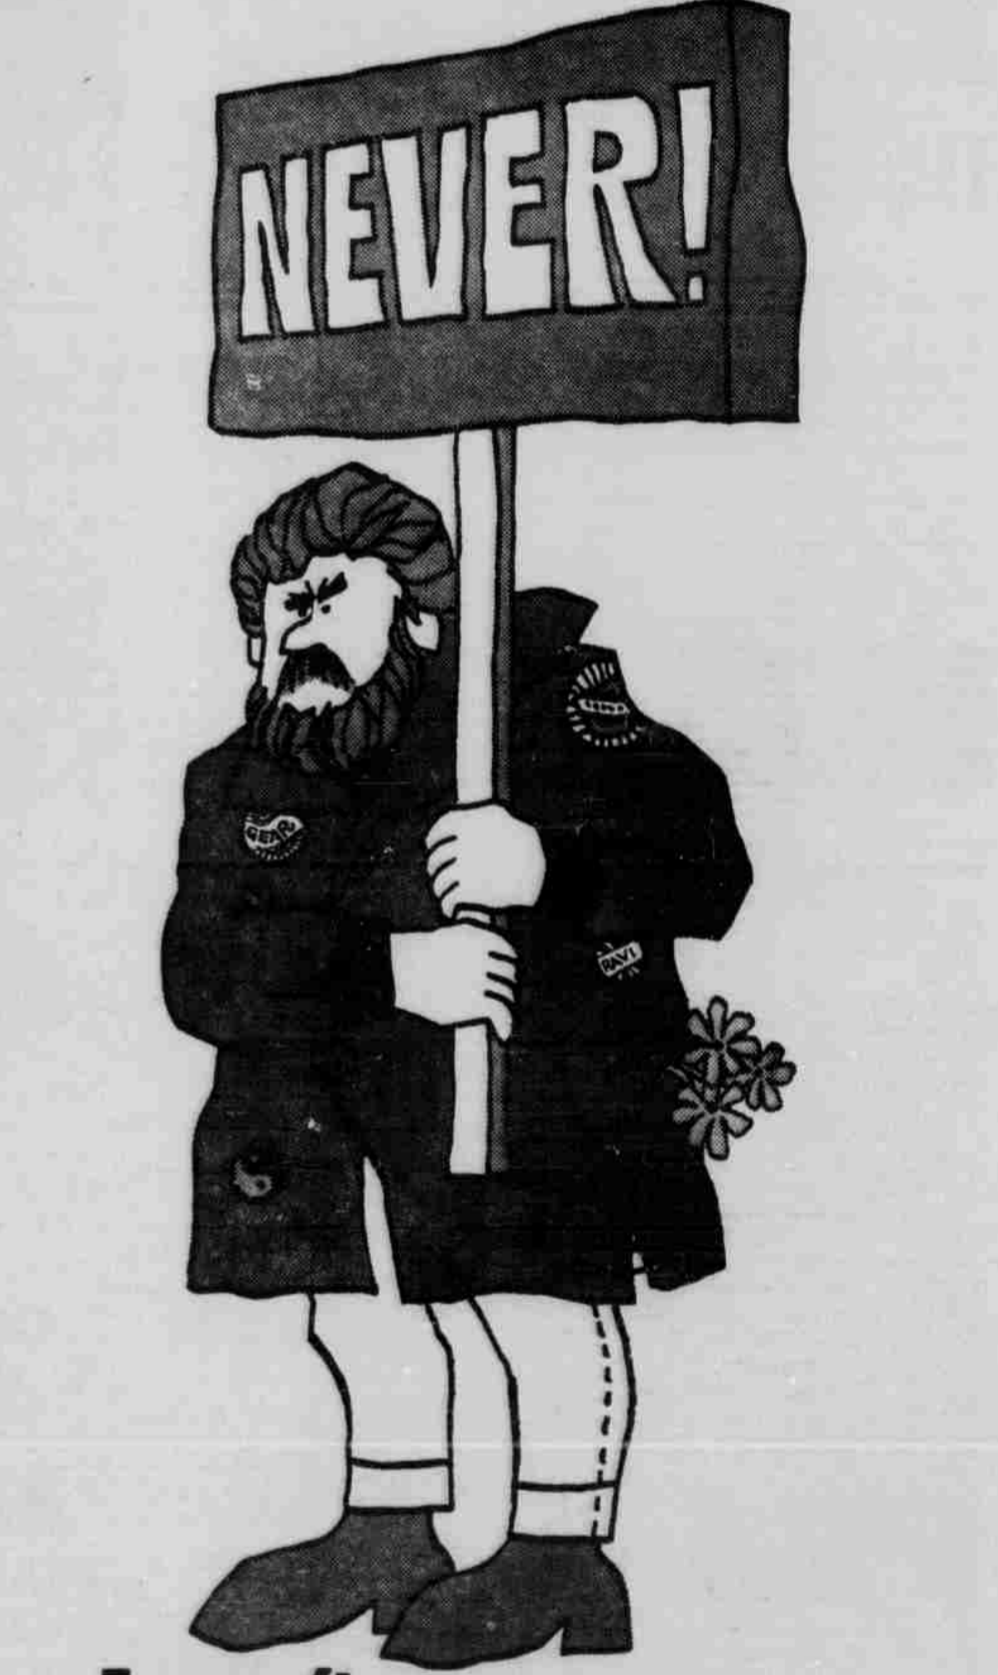

Asked what he thought his best playing weight is, Iowa State's Willie Muldrew popped back with: "What ever I happen to weight at the time."

"You know," says Missouri coach Dan Devine about his quarterback Gary Kombrink, "when Gary is finished here, we may look back and realize he is one of the best competitors we've ever had."

Oklahoma's offensive guard Ed Lancaster claims he knows how fatal overconfidence can be.

"My dad's English," he says. "My people fought in the War of the Roses. They were havin' a party one night. They thought they'd won. But the other side surprised 'em and wiped 'em out."

"If it hadn't been for that," he grins, "I might have been a prince."

I won't go into business when I graduate because:

a. I'd lose my individuality.
b. It's graduate school for me.
c. My mother wants me to be a doctor.

Can't argue with c), but before you check a) or b)—pencils up! There have been some changes. Drastic changes in the business scene. But changes in the vox populi attitude regarding business... especially on campus... just haven't kept pace.

Take the belabored point that business turns you into a jellyfish. The men who run most of the nation's successful firms didn't arrive by nepotism, by trusting an Ouija board, or by agreeing with their bosses. Along the way, a well-modulated "No" was said. And backed up with the savvy and guts today's business demands.

In short, individuality is highly prized in much of the business world—the successful much. Even when the business is big. Like Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System.

We provide communications equipment for our Bell System teammates, the Bell telephone companies. This takes a lot of thought, decisions, strong stands for our convictions, (and sometimes some mistakes... we're human, every 160,000 of us).

Individuality pays off. Not only in raises, but in personal reward as well. Like an engineer who knew deep down that there was a better way to make a certain wire connector—and did. Or a WE gal who streamlined time-consuming office procedures, and saved us some $63,000 a year.

Rewards and accolades. For saying "No." For thinking creatively and individually. For doing.

Net every hour is Fun Hour, but if you've got imagination and individuality—you've got it made. With a business like Western Electric. We'll even help you answer b) with our Tuition Refund program. Come on in and go for President!
