

'Dump Johnson' ... NCD Leaders To Begin Mapping Campaign Plan

Supporters of the Nebraska Concerned Democrats have until Monday afternoon to sign the group's "Dump Johnson" petition, according to NCD treasurer Gene Pokorny.

Leaders of the NCD, a group seeking to oust President Lyndon Johnson from the 1968 Democratic Party ticket, will gather Tuesday night to map campaign plans for the coming week, he said.

At that time they will decide whether to run a "Dump Johnson" advertisement in a Sunday Edition of the Omaha World Herald that would include the names of all the petition signers.

Petitions Out
Pokorny said the decision to run the advertisement hinges on the number of signatures which the NCD has collected. "We've got a lot of petitions out," he said, "but we don't know what we've got in the way of signatures."

Although the local signature campaign has met with considerable success, Pokorny doubted that the campaign has been as successful on other Nebraska campuses.

"We have been especially disappointed in our Omaha group," he said. Representatives of NCD are circulating petitions at Creighton University, Omaha University and the University's Medical School.

Pokorny estimated that 500 to 600 signatures have been collected thus far.

A Beginning
He emphasized that the planned advertisement is just the beginning in the group's "Dump Johnson" campaign. The NCD hopes to bring the election of a slate of Nebraska electors who are not pledged to Johnson the 1968 Democratic Party.

"We are in the process of forming a slate who will run uncommitted in the May 14 primary," he said. The NCD plans to send representatives to the National Conference of Concerned Democrats in Chicago,

December 2 and 3, Pokorny added.

This conference will involve delegations from all the states with concerned or dissident Democratic groups, he said.

"PEACE CANDIDATE"
Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, an outspoken critic of the President's Vietnam policy, will deliver the conference's keynote address. Several national news magazines have speculated recently that McCarthy will announce his intentions soon to seek the 1968 Presidential nomination as a Democratic "peace candidate."

If McCarthy does announce his candidacy, his name will be entered on Nebraska's "all-star" primary ballot, Pokorny said. This would set the stage for a Johnson-McCarthy clash that would be watched closely across the nation.

He said the direction which the NCP campaign against Johnson will take depends on what happens on the national scene in the coming weeks.

GOV. TIEMANN ... signs proclamation for Nebraska Model United Nations Week, Dec. 3-9. Carol Madsen and Cheryl Adams look on.

Governor's Proclamation

Governor Norbert T. Tiemann last week declared the week of Dec. 3-9, 1967 as Nebraska Model United Nations Week in conjunction with the AUN sponsored Model United Nations Dec. 8-9.

The proclamation reads: WHEREAS in the twentieth year since the United States joined in founding the President and Congress has given full support to the United Nations; and

WHEREAS though no world organization has ever, or in all probability will ever, solve all of the world's complex problems, the joining of peace-loving countries in the United Nations is a major step forward in encouraging nations to live in peace with their neighbors; and

WHEREAS a model United Nations, as a replica of the original, will further the understanding of Nebraska students, and that one day in the future of our country, they may take another step to increase the understanding and promote peace between the nations of our world;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Norbert T. Tiemann, Governor of the State of Nebraska DO HEREBY PROCLAIM the week of Dec. 3-9, 1967, as Nebraska Model United Nations week and I urge the citizens of the state to support and encourage our students as they participate in this activity.

Summer Jobs Offered In Government Offices

Applications for 1968 summer jobs in the federal government are now being accepted. A limited number of opportunities in major Federal agencies through the United States will be filled through the 1968 competitive examination.

Written tests will be held in December, January, February, and March at testing centers throughout the country.

Jobs included are for typists, postal clerks, and scientific and engineering aids and assistants. Interested applicants should ask for the announcement "Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies" at the Lincoln Post Office Building.

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkczpluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp?

And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because the Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of "Night In a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you?

In Loco Parentis... IDA Studies Concepts Ruling Dorm Hours

By JAN PARKS Junior Staff Writer

In loco parentis, the imposition of parental rules on university students by the administration, will be investigated by a subcommittee of the Administrative Coordinating Committee of the Inter-Dormitory Association.

The concept of in loco parentis is "the establishment of hours and regulations for students to take the place of parents," according to Brian Ridenour, IDA president.

The decision for the investigation was made last week after the IDA Council voted to join the National Association of College and University Residence Halls.

STUDY PRINCIPLES
"NACURH has requested that its members study the principle of in loco parentis," explained Ridenour. He said that people for the subcommittee are being solicited.

The president felt that IDA's membership in the national organization will be beneficial because it will give IDA access to the files of other college dormitories.

Membership fees for NACURH membership are $50 per year. Ridenour felt that the exchange of ideas between the member dormitories will be worth the membership cost.

Jerry McCrery, IDA activities chairman, reported that Dec. 5 has been tentatively chosen for the IDA open house forum.

FORUM SLATED
The purpose of this forum is to give IDA residents an opportunity to question people who are knowledgeable about the open house situation in the dormitories.

McCrery said that Miss

Helen Snyder, associate dean of student affairs, and Dr. Loren Boneau, associate professor of history and philosophy of education, will serve on the forum's panel.

G. Robert Ross, vice-chancellor and dean of student affairs; Robert Scott, coordinator of student activities and Ridenour will be asked to participate.

Ridenour in an executive report on open houses, said no solution has been reached on the issue but that open houses will be permitted on the two weekends following Thanksgiving.

ASRA RESOLUTION
Richard Page, president of the Abel-Sandoz Residence Association, presented an ASRA resolution to the IDA Council.

The resolution, which Page called a letter of concern, recommends that the IDA Council decide whether an issue is within IDA jurisdiction before measures are passed on the issue.

The ASRA president emphasized that the resolution did not take a stand on whether IDA is a governing body or a coordinating body.

Tom Briggs, IDA parliamentarian, explained that discussion on resolutions could be made if the Council dissolved into a committee of the whole.

A proposal was made that the residence director's signature on an open house request be sufficient to assure that the occasion is appropriate for an open house.

"Under the present system the approval of an open house request is left to the Office of Student Activities," Ridenour explained.

Jim Condon was appointed chairman of the election committee to handle the elections of the new dorms on the question of entry into IDA.

Thanksgiving Brings Christmas Displays

By CONNIE MATTHEWS Junior Staff Writer

In the market for Santa Claus mugs? Christmas candles? Or "the Season's Best Fruit Cake"? No?

But Christmas is only 35 days away. The National Retail Merchants Association says 25 per cent of a year's retail business is done in the last 2 1/2 months, and judging from the amount of Christmas items in the stores before Thanksgiving, retailers are trying to capitalize on early.

Angels with their trumpets herald the Christmas season from street lights, and stores advertise a Christmas lay-away program from their windows.

Even Snoopy is getting into the act. A giant-size card pictures Snoopy with a wreath of holly around his neck.

Before a person even has given his traditional "thanks" for what he has, business is trying to take it away.

Out at International Super

Stores, 13 different rows or displays offer bows, ribbons and wrapping paper (including the giant size: 30" wide and 58 1/2" long); filled and unfilled stockings, candy canes and chocolate Santas.

Not to be outdone, Miller and Paine's "Trim the Tree Shop" contains a complete assortment of Christmas decorations, including artificial trees, holly wreaths and Nativity scenes.

The Christmas season is also present in many store windows and outside decorations.

Magge's has spread evergreens along its canopy. Gold's has gigantic snowflakes decorating its outer walls and the three kings have begun their journey on top of Miller and Paine's canopy.

Potential customers are wished a "Merry Christmas from Penney's" from that store's several holiday windows.

Gold's advertises its Toyland from a Christmas window, and the dime stores offer everything from trees to wrapping paper.

There are some who wish

WHY MAKE NAPALM?

WHAT IS NAPALM?

Napalm is one part benzine, one part gasoline, and two parts of polystyrene; it is dropped in 1000 pound bombs, and is used in flame-throwers.

WHAT DOES NAPALM DO?

- (1) "Each month 600 to 1,000 civilians wounded by bombs, shells, bullets and napalm are brought to the provincial hospital in Quangngai town. Officials say that about thirty per cent of these cases require major surgery. A recent visitor to the hospital found several children lying on cots, their bodies horribly burned by napalm." (Neil Sheehon, NY Times, Nov. 30, 1965)
- (2) "I saw these children burned by napalm and it's absolutely true. The chemical reaction of napalm does melt the flesh, and the flesh runs right down their faces onto their chests and it sits there and it grows there. These children can't turn their heads, they were so thick with flesh." (Ladies Home Journal, January, 1967)
- (3) "In a delta province there is a woman who has both arms burned off by napalm and her eyelids so badly burned that she cannot close them. When it is time for her to sleep her family puts a blanket over her head. The woman had two of her children killed in the air strike which maimed her last April and she saw five other children die. She was quite dispassionate when she told an American 'more children were killed because the children do not have so much experience and do not know how to lie down behind the paddy dikes.'" (Charles Mohr, NY Times, Sept. 5, 1965)
- (4) "Napalm's fatal effects come not only from burns. Suffocation can be caused by the sudden exhaustion of oxygen, and heat up to 2,000° can claim victims not touched by the jelly." (NY Post, August 26, 1966)

WHY MAKES NAPALM?

"... Dow, at a small plant in Torrance, Calif., produces virtually all the napalm that is being used by U. S. armed forces in Viet Nam. Dow President Herbert D. Doan insists that napalm is of no economic importance to the company, and that PRINCIPLE rather than money is involved in its manufacture." (Time, Nov. 3, 1967. Emphasis supplied.)
