

No Regent Pressure To Annual Resolution

By ED ICENOGLE
Senior Staff Writer

Lively Student Senate politics on the construction of an acceptable resolution on the latest Selective Service directive has resulted in very little reaction from the University Regents, according to Dick Schulze, ASUN president.

Although the Board of Regents exerted no pressure on the Senators to annul their first resolution passed last Wednesday, Schulze said, they expressed their approval of reconsidering the action.

The resolution was sparked by a directive by Selective Service had Gen. Lewis Hershey, who suggested the reclassification of campus protesters interfering with on-campus military recruiting.

The Senate overwhelmingly approved the first resolution in the last regular Senate meeting, voting 25-3 to request the Regents to remove military recruiters from campus until the directive was annulled.

"All of the Senators were upset about Hershey's directive," Schulze said Tuesday, almost a week after the controversy first started.

But when amendments to the original proposal, made by Sen. Al Spangler, were rejected, the Senate had the alternative of the first resolution or none at all. Schulze said. Since the campus representatives felt that something should be done, he added, they approved the resolution.

Then Sen. Mike Jess and Robert Weaver contacted Schulze and requested a special session, the president said. The special session convened Friday afternoon.

Schulze said that he felt the Senators desired to re-desired to reconsider their actions because of reaction from their constituents, but definitely not from any pressure from the Regents.

"I would hope the biggest reason to reconsider," Schulze said, "was because we are striving for an 'open' campus. How could we oppose the freedom of speech?"

When the Senate met again Friday, it voted to reconsider its first resolution. With this vote to reconsider, the first measure was annulled.

An alternate proposal, an amended edition of the first which expressed student opinion on the directive, was turned down by a 15-13 vote.

Schulze called the Friday resolution the best of the measures proposed. "It did not request or suggest that the Regents do anything," he said.

After this was voted down, six senators walked out of the meeting, thereby causing the lack of a quorum to conduct business.

At the time Gene Pokorny, ASUN first vice-president, called the action "despicable," and Schulze agreed with that reaction.

Speaking for the six Senators, Dennis Schulte said before the final meeting Sunday that the walkout was to give the "other Senators time to think."

The Senate held its second special meeting Sunday, where it finally passed a solution which urged the University to express its displeasure with the Hershey directive to the President of the United States and the state draft boards.

But the affect of this resolution may have been impaired, Schulze indicated, by the state-wide publicity given the first resolution.

The Regents Monday approved a statement by G. Robert Ross, dean of student affairs, reiterating the University policy allowing all recruiters on campus.

Robin Hood Turns Coat As 'St. Nick'

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity played "Robin Hood" last weekend as they kidnapped nine sorority housemothers and then ransomed them for cans of food to be distributed through the Salvation Army for needy Lincoln families.

Housemothers from Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Delta Zeta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha participated.

A social hour and card party were held in the afternoon for the housemothers.

The fraternity project netted 500 cans of food.

"On the way home from another dull day at the office, I decided to stop at BRONCO'S DRIVE-IN to try one of those dishes they have on the menu. The Hickory Burger was absolutely tantalizing... I gave in and had some of those french fries, too... they tasted so fresh and good. It was a delicious meal and parked me up considerably. When I got home, he ran up to me and threw his arms around me saying, 'Hi, Honey... I missed you today?' This was especially surprising, because I'm not married!"

Students Nominate Spangler, McConnell

Two letters of recommendation have nominated Dr. Campbell R. McConnell, a professor of economics, and Al Spangler, a graduate student of philosophy, for the Outstanding Nebraskan awards.

All nominating letters for Outstanding Nebraskan must be in the Daily Nebraskan Office by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The author of Dr. McConnell's nominating letter agrees with a student's statement in this year's Faculty Evaluation Booklet which says, "Dr. McConnell is the most outstanding instructor that I had at the University."

The letter says that Dr. McConnell is deserving of this award because he was named Regent's Professor of Economics last year and is the author of a textbook which the letter calls "one of the most widely used basic economics books in the United States."

Other qualifications cited by the letter are McConnell's membership on the Student's Academic Freedom Committee, which is striving to implement the Student Bill of Rights, and his membership on the committee which is attempting to establish the Centennial College.

Al Spangler, nominated for the Outstanding Nebraskan student award, is praised in the nominating letter for his two years of "outstanding work on ASUN." Spangler is a member of the Student Conduct Committee, which drafted the Student Bill of Rights, and a member of the ASUN Executive Committee.

The letter says "his positive thoughts and his continued attempts to put these goals into action as an ASUN senator have provided both an incentive and a check on student legislation."

Pub Board Names... New Editorial Staff Of Daily Nebraskan

The editorial staff of the Daily Nebraskan for second semester was selected Tuesday by Publications Board.

Cheryl Tritt, a junior in the School of Journalism, was named as editor. She served as news editor of the Nebraskan this semester.

Glenn Friendt, present business manager, was selected to serve a second semester in that position. Friendt is a senior in the School of Journalism.

This semester's managing editor, Jack Todd, was also renamed to the same position. Todd is a junior in the School of Journalism.

The news editor position will be filled by Ed Icenogle, presently serving as a senior staff writer on the Nebraskan. Icenogle is a sophomore majoring in journalism.

George Kaufman, a senior in the School of Journalism, will serve as sports editor. He has written columns for the Nebraskan and has also been employed on the sports desk of the Lincoln Star.

The senior copy editor position will be filled by Lynn Gottschalk, a sophomore journalism major. She has spent two semesters as a copy editor on the Nebraskan.

Interviews for junior and senior staff copy writer and copy editor will be conducted Friday afternoon beginning at 2 p.m.

The last edition of the Daily Nebraskan for this semester will be published Friday.

The Norelco Tripleheader. The closest, fastest, most comfortable shaver on wheels.

On campus. On-off switch.

It also has three Norelco Microgroove™ floating heads to shave you 35% closer. So close, we dare to match shaves with a blade. But comfortable too, because the Norelco rotary blades shave without a nick or a pinch while the floating heads swing over the hills and valleys of your face. And there's a pop-up trimmer to give you an edge on your sideburns.

Now there's a Rechargeable Tripleheader Speedshaver® 45CT too. It works with or without a cord. And delivers twice as many shaves per charge as any other rechargeable.

Two great Tripleheaders with more features than any other shavers on the market.
