The Other Half

"La Vie De Chateau," a French comedy about the Second World War, is Wednesday's foreign film in the Nebraska Union Film Series. The plot centers around a French woman, Marie, who presides over a crumbling chateau in the countryside of France. Jean-Paul Rappeau directs the film. The stars are Henri Garcin, Carolos Thompson and Catherine De-neuve.

A classic Western spoof, "Destry Rides Again," starring Jimmy Stewart and Marlene Dietrich, will be shown Sunday at 2:30 in Sheldon Art Gallery. Stewart plays Destry, a sheriff who attempts to reform a wide open town. Miss Dietrich, as Frenchy, sings some of her most famous songs, "Little Joe" and "The Boys in the Back Room."

CSP denied listing on election ballot

Concerned Student Party (CSP) designations will not appear with CSP candidates names on the April 10 ASUN ballot, Ed Hilz, ASUN electoral commission director, said Tuesday. He said the party, formed Sunday in opposition to the lone campus political party, Party for Student Action (PSA), failed to meet the March 15 ballot deadline for party designations. Hilz also announced that write-in space will be allotted to each college senatorial and executive position except the race for Graduate-Professional senator. Two write-in spaces In that contest, two write-in spaces will be provided since only five candidates have filed for seven available positions, he added. He said he has received no applications for advisory board positions in elementary and special education in Teachers College, or the School of Fine Arts in the College of Arts and Sciences. Hilz added that only one freshman and one junior position on the Business Administration advisory board have been filed for from six available posts and that no one has applied for one position distributed among four agriculture majors. The agriculture advisory board positions for biochemistry, entomology, horticulture and plant pathology still remain vacant, he said. Hilz also announced three candidates have been dropped from the ballot. Lee Kinney, an Arts and Sciences junior filing for Second Vice President, has been declared ineligible. John Tivwald, a PSA Engineering and Architecture senatorial candidate, and Gary Rosenbaum, a Business Administration senatorial aspirant, have voluntarily withdrawn from their respective races.

Sharks vs. Jets in the Kosmet Klub spring show

Hammers pounding, saws buzzing and fingers snapping, cast and crew members are busy rehearsing for "West Side Story," the Kosmet Klub Spring Show. The performances will be at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Pershing Auditorium. The musical, a contemporary Romeo and Juliet story, is set in the slums of New York City and reveals the problems of juvenile gang wars and life in the Puerto Rican ghetto. The love story centers around the romance of Tony, played by Wayne Stoerber, and Maria, played by Becky McSpadden. Stoerber, a junior has been in two operas at the University Theatre. Miss McSpadden has been in University Theatre plays and Lincoln Community Playhouse productions. Gangs create excitement The conflict between the "Jets," an American gang, and the "Sharks," a Puerto Rican gang creates tension and excitement from the Prologue fight until the final rumble when they reach an understanding through tragedy. Bernardo, leader of the "Sharks" and Maria's brother, is played by Bill Hartung. Shari Wiemann plays Anita, Bernardo's girlfriend. Steve Smith as Officer Krupke, provides comic relief after the fight scenes. "The cast is in good shape, the sets are tremendous and the orchestra sounds beautiful," Clint Jakeman, director of the show, said. "Everybody wants to be a hoodlum once in his life, and this show gives people a chance to really let go," Lucy Comstock, choreographer, said. "The story is about young people and young ideas so the cast enjoys doing the show and does a good job of it," she said. Miss Comstock said she expected the show to be the best production Kosmet Klub has ever done. She has worked with several shows in the past. Dancing is very important in the show, the "Somewhere" ballet in the second act is a lyrical contrast to the rest of the play, she said. The scenery is in soft colors for the dance. Action in the rest of the play is set against urban backdrops with skyscrapers, billboards and brick walls. Interior scenes take place in isolated units, and lights are used to help the audience. Gang members wear sneakers, long hair and daggers. The "Jets" are designated by gold and blue letter jackets. "Sharks" wear black and red. An orchestra of 26 professional musicians will play for the 2 performances. Linda Ross, a music major at the University, will play the piano. "The rehearsals look marvelous and the show is going to be great," Kosmet Klub President Charles Langhoff, said.

Interviews slated for Spring Day

Interviews for Spring Day chairmen and assistant chairmen will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Nebraska Union, according to Tom Spilker, past over all chairman of Spring Day. Workers will be chosen by interview Sunday beginning at 12 noon, he said. Spilker noted that no applications are required and that students interested in Spring Day positions should sign up for an interview time at the ASUN office. "Spring Day is an all University function," Spilker added, "and is open to all University students."

Unicorns to sponsor spring fling

An Independent Spring Fling will culminate this week's self-proclaimed Unicorn Week on Campus, according to Randy Prier, past Unicorn president. Tickets to the dance, scheduled for Friday from 8-12 p.m. in the Nebraska Union Ballroom featuring the Antelope Pavillion, may be obtained for $1 from all Unicorns member and at the door. Prier said Unicorns, an activity-social orientated group, is attempting to foster its image as a service to off-campus independents this week. The organization sponsors parties, service projects and tries to acquaint off-campus students with various campus activities, he said. Committees for Spring Day are: Men's Games, Women's Games, City Campus Publicity, East Campus Publicity, Trophy Committee and a Secretarial Committee. A Spring Day treasurer will also be chosen by the interviews, he said.

AUF Drive collections go to Malone Center

Funds collected in the All University Fund spring drive will go to Malone Center where a project is underway to help underprivileged families move to new homes. Tentative plans have been made to hire a coordinator to help the people in selling their homes and selecting new ones. The AUF Spring Drive is a solicitation of the faculty members. Letters were sent out last week and collecting will begin next week, Rick Russell AUF president said. AUF board members will speak at faculty department meetings to explain the drive. The official close of the drive is April 12. Russell said a $1200 goal has been set. Last year the spring drive brought $1050.

Meierhenry to address NAEA

Dr. Wesley Meierhenry, chairman of the department of adult and continuing education at the University of Nebraska, will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Adult Education Association set for April 6 at Central Nebraska Tech near Hastings. Meierhenry will discuss the adult education graduate programs that will be conducted by the department established recently within the Teachers College. Gene Harding, president of the Association and director of informal education for the University Extension Division, announced that public relations consultant J. Milton Moore of Des Moines, Iowa, will also be on the program. The meeting will open at 9 a.m. Saturday at Central Nebraska Tech, located on property east of Hastings that was formerly a Naval Ammunition Depot. The University Extension Division is cooperating in sponsoring the meeting.

Advisory Board to hold ag session

A "Lounge Series" session by the Agricultural Advisory Board will be held Thursday, 4:00-5:00 p.m. in the East Union. The possible deletion of the physics and mathematics requirement of agriculture majors will be discussed. In addition amendments to be voted upon at the April 10 election will be reviewed. A progress report of the Ag. Advisory Board will also be given. All photographs in today's paper with the exception of the one on page 4 were taken by Daily Nebraskan photographer Dan Ladely. The Spring weather will see the Daily Nebraskan photographers out in full force to capture campus life. So, whatever you're doing, wherever you may be, CHEESE.
