

Outstanding Nebraskan nominations submitted

Wells, Zariski, Schrekinger added to preliminary listing

Two professors and one student have been added to the nominations for the "Outstanding Nebraskan" award presented at the end of each semester by the Daily Nebraskan.

Four different letters have noted the accomplishments of Dr. Patrick R. Wells, acting chairman of the Department of Pharmacology.

Dr. Wells was recently honored with a "Distinguished Teaching" award at the 1968 Honors Convocation. Students said they found his lectures, "well organized and meaningful despite the technical nature of the material."

As faculty adviser for the University of Nebraska Student Chapter of the American Pharmaceutical Association (A.P.A.), he is presently in Miami, Florida, at the National A.P.A. Convention accepting the "Outstanding Student Chapter Award" for Nebraska. "It was student desire and direction and encouragement by Dr. Wells that made this achievement possible," one student said.

He is also the faculty adviser of the "Scruple," a College of Pharmacy publication: Grand Council Deputy to Kappa Psi, a pharmaceutical fraternity; a member of the National Executive Board of Kappa Psi; faculty adviser to Province VIII Student Branch of the A.P.A.; and Executive Adviser to Province V of Kappa Psi.

Dr. Wells serves the Lincoln community as president of the Lincoln chapter of NAACP and is often a featured speaker at representative of that organization.

Seven graduate students in the Department of Political Science have nominated Dr. Raphael Zariski for the "Outstanding Nebraskan" award.

Dr. Zariski is a recognized authority in Italian political parties and his courses are among the most popular in the department of political science because of the consistently high quality of instruction. "Dr. Zariski has set standards of excellence in both his research and his teaching," according to the letter of nomination.

"His warm personal qualities, his sense of humor, and his interests in his students certainly commend him for this award."

John Schrekinger, the current research committee chairman of Nebraskans for Young Adult Suffrage and a member of its central committee, has been nominated by four students for the "Outstanding Nebraskan" student.

Schrekinger has held a Regents Scholarship during his four years at the University.

Program initiated by IDA

Administrators to live in dorms

by Mark Gordon
Senior Staff Writer

Nine University administrators will live in campus residence halls this week as part of an Inter-Dormitory Association (IDA) experimental program. Brian Ridenour, chairman of the IDA administrative coordinating committee, said Sunday.

He said the program was being initiated this year in an attempt to foster better relationships between the University's administrators and the student community.

"We're hoping for informal exchanges between the students and administrators," he explained.

The seven men and two women, who will stay in the dormitories from lengths varying from two to five days, were very cooperative, the former IDA President said.

Ridenour, who has been working on the project for approximately two weeks, said although the guests have not planned any formal presentation during their stay, they will informally participate in floor and hall events.

To the best of his knowledge, the program has never been attempted here or at any other university or college, he said.

He said other administrators who are not participating in the program, declined to accept invitations due to pressing conflicts or family schedules.

Conducted on an experimental basis, he said the program will be closely evaluated when it is completed and, if successful, it would be continued in future years.

Ridenour hopes if proved valuable, the project could be expanded next year to include faculty members.

Applications due for Cornhusker

Applications will be available Tuesday, May 7, for the position of Section Editor on the 1968-69 CORNHUSKER. The applications may be picked up on the front door of the office, room 51 and should be returned by Saturday, May 11.

Interested applicants need have no previous yearbook or Cornhusker experience and all living units are urged to send freshmen and sophomore representatives.

STRENGTH IN 77 SECONDS

That's all it takes to help build powerful muscles, trim body. No strenuous exercises... no elaborate gym equipment... no lengthy, tedious work-outs. You don't need time, space, or energy to multiply your strength... to broaden your shoulders... to increase your lung capacity... to trim your waistline... to develop vigor. Now the same method of Isometric-Isotonic Contraction that trained the German Olympic Team and other world-famous athletes can help YOU build a powerful physique. Yes, even if you are 30, 50 years old or more. Unlike ordinary isometric contraction devices, the TENSOLATOR® combines both isometric and isotonic benefits in a series of quick 7-second exercises that you do once a day in your own room—less than 2 minutes in all! Muscles grow stronger, shoulders broaden, chest expands, waist tapers down—and you feel like a new man. Fast! We guarantee impressive results in 10 days or your money back without question. Send for the big brochure that shows step-by-step illustrations of the Tensolator Method. 1968-'69 performing artists include Shankar, Kaplan

The Performing Artists Series presented each academic year by the Union Music Committee will be presented to the University public in the form of a season ticket-paid series next year for the first time.

The 1968-69 Series will feature six performing groups and individual artists in programs of classical, jazz and traditional music, beginning October 29, 1968 with Herbert Kaplan and the Camerata Singers and ending May 1, 1969 with Ravi Shankar.

The other four artists will be Ella Fitzgerald, jazz vocalist; Byron Janis, pianist; Cro and his Flamenco Dancers; and P.D.Q. Bach, a musical satire.

The paid series is designed to present the coming year's program in a more coherent fashion. In the past there has been no admission charge and the performances have been publicized separately shortly beforehand.

The series is designed to appeal to a wide variety of musical tastes while conforming with the Music Committee's other goal of providing students with a cultural education.

Abraham Kaplan's Camerata Singers will come to Lin-con on their first national tour. A New York-based group, they have been acclaimed by critics as that city's finest choral group.

Kaplan is a long-standing friend of the New York Philharmonic's Leonard Bernstein, with whom the Camerata Singers have made several guest appearances. Their program will be mostly classical.

Byron Janis is a pianist of relatively recent fame in the United States. His first breakthrough to many American listeners was an album of Igor Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite" recorded in Moscow by Mercury Records.

Ella Fitzgerald will appear in concert with a back-up jazz band November 21, 1968.

Cro and his Flamenco Dancers, accompanied by flamenco guitarists, will present songs and dances from their native Spain, February 20, 1969.

FROM THE HALLS OF PROTOZOA

This column, normally a treasure house of twinkly quips and slapdash japey, has now been appearing in your campus newspaper for fourteen years, and if I have learned one thing in these fourteen long years, it is not to try to be funny in the last column of the semester. With final exams looming obscenely close, you don't want jokes; you want help.

So today, foregoing levity, I give you a quick cram course in the subject you are all flunking. I refer, of course, to biology.

Biology is divided into several phyla, or classes. First is the protozoa, or one-celled animal. Protozoa can be taught simple things like bringing in the newspaper, but when shopping for pets it is best to look for animals with at least two cells, or even four if your yard has a fence around it.

Another popular class of animals is the periphera—a shadowy category that borders often on the vegetable. Take, for example, the sponge. The sponge is definitely not an animal. The wash-cloth, on the other hand, is definitely not.

Next we come to the arthropoda, or insects. Most people find insects unattractive, but actually there is exquisite beauty in the insect world if you trouble to look. Take, for instance, the lovely insect poems of William Cullen Sigafos—Tumbling Along with the Tumbling Tumblebug and Fly Gently, Sweet Aphid and Gnats My Mother Caught Me. Mr. Sigafos, alas, has been inactive since the invention of DDT.

Our next category is the mollusca—lobsters, shrimp, and the like. Lobsters are generally found under rocky projections on the ocean bottom. Shrimps are generally found in a circle around a small bowl containing cocktail sauce. Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades are generally found at any counter where Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades are sold.

I mention Personna Blades because the makers of Personna Blades pay me to write this column, and they are inclined to get edgy if I neglect to mention their product. Some get double edgy and, some single, for Personna Blades come both in double edge style and injector style.

Mind you, it is no burden for me to mention Personna, for it is a blade that shaves quickly and cleanly, slickly and keenly, scratchlessly and matchlessly. It is a distinct pleasure to shave with Personna Blades and to write about them but sometimes, I confess, I find it difficult to work the commercial into a column. Some years ago, for example, I had the devil's own time working a Personna plug into a column about Alexander the Great. The way I finally managed it was to have Alexander say to the Oracle at Delphi, "Oracle, I have tasted all the world's pleasures, yet I am not content. Somehow I know there is a joy I have missed." To which the Oracle replied, "Yes, Alexander, there is such a joy—namely Personna Blades—but, alas for you, they will not be invented for another 2500 years." Whereupon Alexander fell into such a fit of weeping that Zeus finally took pity and turned him into a hydrant . . . Well sir, there is no question I sold a lot of Personnas with this ingenious commercial, but the gang down at the American Academy of Arts and Letters gave me a mighty good razzing, you may be sure.

But I digress. Back to biology and the most advanced phylum of all—the chordata, or vertebrates. There are two kinds of vertebrates: those with vertical backbones and those with horizontal. Generally it is easy to tell them apart. A fish, for instance, has a horizontal backbone, and a man has a vertical backbone. But what if you run into a fish that swims upright or a man who never gets out of the sack? How do you tell them apart? Science struggled with this sticky question for years before Sigafos of M.I.T. came up with his brilliant solution: offer the creature a pack of Personna Blades. If it is a fish, it will refuse. If it is homo sapiens, it will accept—and the more sapient, the quicker.

And now you know biology. And now, for the fourteenth time, aloha.

The makers of Personna, The Electro-Coated blades, have enjoyed bringing you another year of Old Max. From us too, aloha.
