Three Summery attired coeds admire the new Revolution look in Summer fashion for college men.

Coeds model new fashions, suffer clouds, cold goose bumps

Playboy announced, a little over a year ago, that "There is a full scale revolution taking place in men's fashions." As any alert college student can tell, this prediction has come true, not only in men's fashions but also in women's.

Men's magazines talk in terms of the casual formal look, featuring dress turtle-necks, striped double-breasted and the like. Women talk about the "Heroine look," the "Gypsy look" and the "Baby look."

I decided to delve into the Nebraska look in both men's and women's fashions. To do this, three coeds were chosen at random and asked if they would model some of their "Summery Apparel" in a Saturday morning setting at Pioneer Park.

The coeds cooperated, but the good old Nebraska weather came on cold and cloudy. The girls deserved medals for being up and about at 8:30 on a Saturday morning, but that was nothing compared to the suffering of exposing bare arms and legs to the nippy air.

Jan Mahaney, a Sellenick freshman, doffed her "electric green" coat to pose in her Spring 'n' summer fun dress featuring a Peter Pan collar with a butterfly bow and a flared and pleated skirt. Complete with white hose and bright green heels Jan was the perfect picture of Spring, in spite of her goosebump makeup, which wasn't her fault.

Janice Stuart wore an attractive straw hat with her bold neon striped summer shift and sporty white sandals. The dress complete with opportunity to try some of that lovely Nebraska goosebump makeup too.

Mary Ann Goedert kept her spirits high while shivering in her sporty white culottes and matching jacket. Indian sandals and earrings which matched the zipper pull on her jacket rounded out her "would be" summer fun suit.

Yours truly was attired in the Dustin Hoffman "Benjamin" inspired radical sports outfit which should be making the scene more and more on today's college campus. The California Lime turtle-neck accented the green Levis and 75 cent surplus utility jacket with the matching pith helmet.

Student tribunal interviews set

Interviews for Student Tribunal will be held Sunday, May 12 from 1:30-5:30 p.m. Openings are for two junior and four senior members. Applications may be picked up on the door of ASUN office, and should be returned there by 5:00 p.m. Friday. All students eligible to participate in activities are invited to apply.

In spite of the weather and the inconvenience, we suffered to bring you the news of the revolution, the fashion revolution of Summer, 1968.
