

Lloyd postpones concert till Oct. 4

The Fall Jazz Concert featuring the quartet of Charles Lloyd, originally scheduled for Friday afternoon, has been postponed until Oct. 4.

A call was received by the University explaining that Lloyd was suffering from an illness following an international concert tour.

Lloyd, a 30-year-old native of Memphis, Tenn., has enjoyed a meteoric rise to fame after forming his own group in 1965.

BEFORE THAT, he played saxophone for the Chico Hamilton Quintet and the popular Cannonball Adderley Sextet.

Lloyd and his group had to travel in Europe before gaining real fame, hitting it big at the Continental jazz festivals before his first two LPs made the American best-seller charts.

The Quartet was the first American group ever to perform at a Soviet arts festival at Tallinn, USSR, in 1967, followed by first performances in Leningrad and Moscow by a U.S. modern jazz combo. He was received wildly at all stops.

In June of that year Lloyd broke another precedent by becoming the first jazz artist ever to perform at the world-famous Bergen festival of classical music and art in Norway.

In October he was cheered at the Warsaw and Prague festivals plus becoming the first American modern jazz group ever to play in Rumania, where only Louis Armstrong and Woody Herman had appeared before from the U.S. jazz world.

The group then returned to the U.S. to find themselves accepted widely and made a college tour of the West Coast.

The quartet has made six European tours in the first 18 months of its existence and is credited with being the first group to bring a modern young people back to the jazz sound in America.

Saxophonist Charles Lloyd will still blow his horn on the University campus, but not as scheduled.

Key expansion is AWS Congress discussion topic

The first session of the 1968-1969 Associated Women Students Congress met Wednesday.

The women's key chairman, Christie Schwartzkopf announced that a report by the key committee would be completed in three weeks.

President Mimi Baker said that at that time AWS would make a formal proposal for or against key expansion to the University.

Vice-president, Nesha Neumeister felt that both AWS representatives and University students should understand key rules better.

"It's possible to expand the system but we must insure that it is a good system," she stated. Miss Schwartzkopf also announced that the key orientation meeting is mandatory for those students eligible to use keys. The meeting will be held Thursday night at 7:00 in the Union Ballroom.

YRs will meet Thursday night

Young Republicans will hold a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday night in the Union auditorium. Gov. Norbert Tiemann will be the speaker.

Speakers to address mock U.N. assembly

John G. Stoessinger, Director of the Political Affairs Division of the United Nations, will address students on timely topics at the Model United Nations.

Besides heading the largest division of the United Nations, Stoessinger is a professor of political science at the City University of New York.

Born in Austria he fled the Nazis to Czechoslovakia when he was 11 and from there later moved to China via Siberia. In 1947 he came to the United States.

The world politician received his Ph.D. in 1954 from Grinnell. He has taught at Harvard, Wellesley, M.I.T., and Columbia as well as publishing several books on world politics and international relations.

In 1967 he was appointed to the United Nations post.

A GRADUATE of the University of Nebraska, Dr. Darrell Randall, has just completed a study of Africa including the apartheid problem and the Biafra-Nigerian situation for the United Nations.

Carol Madsen, chairman of the Union Talks and Topics committee said that Randall will address the United Nations on December 7 on his study and then bring parts of that report to the Model United Nations and other interested students.

"All students especially should have the chance to take this course because the amount of time saved alone would add up to days during the semester. By using the principles learned in Reading Dynamics, new areas of enjoyment in the world of books is opened up."

This course gives you confidence in yourself. You can take that history course you never had time for before because there was too much reading involved. By increasing your reading rate you finish your assignments sooner, thereby having more time for extracurricular activities.

I would recommend the course to those that want an efficient and fast method for reading, provided they want to work for it. It will increase your enthusiasm to read more books thus gaining a better background for life.

It is amazing how a person can actually read and comprehend the mood, feeling, meaning and plot of a book as well as being very helpful in study.

It is certainly worth while if you intend to take it seriously. You get back as much as you put in it.

Besides improving your reading efficiency at least 100% of what it was to begin with, this course will also greatly improve self confidence.

I feel the course is very worthwhile and is priceless to anyone who wishes to continue with further education.

I find reading more enjoyable now, it's no more a chore to read. There seems to be no limit to the speed one can attain.

If you want to do more reading but hate to start any book that looks too big, because it takes too long to read, take this course.
