

You've got to be a football hero . . . Nebraska varsity football players Randy Reeves, Ernie Sigler, Jim McFarland, Dick Davis and Joe Orduna discover another benefit from their Saturday chores as they are entertained at the Gamma Phi Beta house for dinner. Joe Orduna, above seems to be letting Olinda Bates (clockwise) Dru Mort, Julie Taylor and Barb Long in on a Big Red secret.

Residences plan Christmas party for children

Students in three residence halls are planning a special Christmas party for the crippled, retarded and underprivileged children in Lincoln on Dec. 14-15. The special Christmas is being planned by the students in Harper, Schramm and Smith halls, according to John Brandstetter, chairman of the planning committee. He said plans call for decorating the court yard between the residence halls as "Santa's Winter Wonderland." The students also will decorate the basements of each residence hall.

Brandstetter said students working on the Christmas party are interested in obtaining names of individuals, groups and institutions which serve crippled, retarded and underprivileged children in an effort to extend invitations to everyone.

Inquiries may be made to John Brandstetter at Harper Hall.

Butler remark at Hyde Park corrected

The Daily Nebraskan inaccurately quoted Joe Butler of the University office of Student Affairs at Hyde Park Thursday.

Butler said: "I think that John Dietz is more of a man standing alone than all of you 500 together." He was reported to have said "I don't think that . . ."

Butler was urging those who participated in the march on City Hall to take an active part in eliminating discrimination.

Dietz had previously mailed his selective service card to his local board in protest of the war.

Tribunal judgment provides

To provide a student with judgment by his peers in matters of disciplinary problems is the purpose of the Student Tribunal, according to Lynn Stingley, chairman of the Tribunal.

The Student Tribunal is organized under a charter approved by the Faculty Senate and Board of Regents. It consists of seven student members: four seniors, two juniors, and one law student. Two appointed faculty members also serve.

"THE TRIBUNAL reviews cases of disciplinary action referred to it by the Office of Student Affairs and makes recommendations for action to the Dean of Student Affairs," Miss Stingley said.

Common disciplinary actions include an official warning, probationary period, suspension and restriction of University privileges.

"Each recommendation is determined on an individual basis with reference to the needs of the particular student and the nature of his behavior," Miss Stingley said.

"Our procedure is formal but there is a very important element of counseling and trying to understand reasons for students' misbehavior before any recommendation is made by us," Miss Stingley added.

She felt that the presence of students on a university disciplinary board helped the individual "to communicate about his behavior and therefore allow better understanding between the students and the Office of Student Affairs.

"We do serve somewhat in a liaison capacity between the students and the Office of Student Affairs," Miss Stingley added, "and attempt to fill the generation and communications gap between students and administration."

Junior coeds to complete forms about activities

The Office of Student Affairs is distributing activities questionnaires. In order to have a complete record of junior women's activities, it is requested that every junior woman complete and return a questionnaire. These forms are used as a permanent file in the Office of Dean Helen Snyder. All questionnaires must be returned to the Office of Student Affairs, 207 Administration Building, by Oct. 16.

Where does an engineer intern?

Before you decide on the job that's to start you on your professional career, it's good to ask a few point blank questions . . . like:

- Will this job let me rub shoulders with engineers doing things that haven't been done before, in all phases of engineering?
- Will I be working for an engineering oriented management whose only standard is excellence?
- Will I have access to experts in fields other than my own to help me solve problems and stimulate professional growth?
- Will I be working with the widest range of professional competence and technological facilities in the U. S.?
- Are engineering careers with this company stable . . . or do they depend upon proposals and market fluctuations?

Why not ask these questions about Bendix Kansas City when Mr. R. E. Cox visits the

How to interview 170 companies in half an hour.

Just talk to the man from General Electric. He represents 170 separate GE "companies" that deal in everything from space research to electric toothbrushes. And each of these product departments is autonomous. Each has its own management and business objectives. So a job at General Electric offers the kind of immediate responsibility you might expect to find only in a small business. Right from the start you get a chance to demonstrate your initiative and capabilities. And the more you show us, the faster you'll move ahead.

As you do, you'll find that you don't necessarily have to spend a lifetime working on the same job in the same place. We have operations all over the world. Chances are you'll get to try your hand at more than one of them. Our interviewer will be on campus soon. If you're wondering whether it's possible to find challenging work in big business, please arrange to see him. He speaks for 170 "companies."
