

Iowa State quarterback John Warder scoots for 15 yards against Nebraska during the second period Saturday on a quarterback sneak. Warder picked up 41 net yards rushing in the Cyclones' 24-13 loss to Nebraska.

Huskers bother Iowa State attack

by Randy York
Assistant Sports Editor
Nebraska had its troubles with Kansas and Missouri. Oklahoma State did its bit too. And Iowa State Saturday was no different as the Cyclones pushed the Huskers, 24-13.

This weekend is expected to follow script. Kansas State, which scored three touchdowns Saturday against Oklahoma, visits Lincoln for the Huskers' homecoming. Nebraska, pressed 14-7 late in the second quarter, launched a 71-yard drive with 1:28 before intermission to take a two-touchdown cushion into the locker room.

QUARTERBACK Ernie Sigler pinpointed six of six passes in Nebraska's last touchdown march, connecting with split end Tom Penney four times, including an eight-yard strike for the six-pointer.

Penney established a Nebraska career pass receiving yardage record by snagging six passes for 84 yards. Penney's three-year yardage total increased to 933, eclipsing the former mark of 881 set by All-American Freeman White.

The K-State game might produce still another Penney receiving record as he needs two more receptions to break Dennis Richnafsky's career mark of 67.

ISU QUARTERBACK John Warder, who passed for 108 yards and rushed for 41 more, engineered the Cyclones' second touchdown, culminated by Rich Harris' one-yard plunge.

Heller's first game of considerable action was not the only top Husker effort. Soph halfback Dan Schneiss, who started ahead of veteran Dick Davis, gained 35 yards on seven carries. Davis, however, finished as NU's top ground-gainer as the Omaha senior ground out 87 yards in 16 trips.

Halfback Joe Orduna, the Huskers' top carrier in the last three games, ranked behind Davis Saturday with 72 yards in 22 attempts. Orduna's two-yard stab with 11:35 left in the first period accounted for Nebraska's first touchdown.

Paul Rogers' 38-yard field goal with five seconds left in the game gave Devaney his seventh straight win over Iowa State.

Soph keys, income tax issues explained to IDA

by Connie Winkler
Nebraskan Staff Writer
Sophomore keys and the campus drive to keep the income tax were explained to the Interdormitory Association (IDA) Thursday night.

"I can't see any stumbling blocks to our goal of sophomore keys second semester," AWS President Mimi Baker told IDA.

THE PLAN will be sent to the Faculty Senate and Regents for approval this month she said. AWS Congress has approved the resolution, and Dean Ross and Dean Snyder are in favor of it, Miss Baker said.

A poll of women students showed that they favor sophomore keys. Parents and faculty are now being polled according to Miss Baker.

NEXT YEAR, if sophomore keys are implemented, Miss Baker felt the dorms would be on a matron system. Second semester, though, sophomores in the dorms would probably use keys she said.

Randy Irej, who is working to keep the state income tax, urged the IDA members to work at the polls distributing information. "If there is no state income tax, state aid to education will be the first to go and that means higher tuition," he said.

IREJ SUGGESTED to the representatives that students on their floors distribute information Tuesday as a service project.

Music students to direct, present concert classics

Twenty University music students will present a fully student-directed and organized opera concert Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Westbrook Hall.

The concert, the Gala Opera Recital, will include ensembles and arias from the classics of the opera world, according to Mal Keelan, student coordinator.

Keelan said the 16 singers and their accompanists will perform selections from "La Boheme," "Rigoletto," "The Telephone," "Il Trovatore," "The Magic Flute," "Tosca" and others.

THE STUDENTS planned the concert, Keelan said, because it offers "a chance to do some things that probably wouldn't be offered through the regular University opera sessions."

"The concert should be good for the singers and for the audience," he said, "since we're presenting live selections none of us might ever hear on this campus."

KEELAN SAID some of the outstanding students in the University Music Department will sing in the recital. They include:

George Carpenter, the lead recital, has appeared in several Lincoln Pinewood Bowl opera productions including a lead role in "Flower Drum Song." He also appeared in "Albert Herring" and sang at The Factory in Malcolm last summer.

Rick Bryandt, another Pinewood Bowl performer, Bryandt has appeared in "Flower Drum Song," "The Music Man" and "My Fair Lady."

MARY PÖTTER, the lead in the University production of "Albert Herring" last year.
