Men are ready for new P.E. building

by Mark Gordon Sports Editor

Isn't it impressive to dedicate the new $2.2 million to use its recreational space (if there is any). Building Friday in the midst of the annual farce known as NU Homecoming?

AFTER all, since there is an overflow of women P.E. majors (180 of 18,000 students) and nearly 1,700 freshman and sophomore tures inside its hallowed women will attend 68 sections of physical education, it is much more important to have a women's P.E. building than a Men's P.E. building.

IT REALLY looks great to see a modern structure such as the Men's Physical Education Building, which was built as temporary quarters in the 1940s, still housing the P.E. Department CERTAINLY WE and the Intramural Depart- backing women's activities which the NU heirarchy ap-parently thinks are adequate for the 12,000 men who desire

We need more improved intramural facilities, and anew men's P.E. Building more than we need a glamorous Women's P.E. Building that is off bounds even for Daily Nebraskan photographers to shoot picwalls.

What's this phoney excuse we hear that there is no money for the Men's P.E. Department and for in-tramurals when a beautiful structure is dedicated just in time for the alumni to ooh and ahh over when they return to their annual drink-ment. Theese are buildings and we aren't soying the building is useless. It's a functional building that has given the Women's P.E. Department tremendous facilities after its dreary years in Nebraska Hall. But the men have needed a new building since the 1940s.
