

Full winter sport week brings expected results

by Mark Gordon
Sports Editor

Nebraska's winter sports teams completed their first full weekend. The basketball team divided a two-game set in Oregon, the wrestlers finished last in an eight-team field at the Colorado State University Tournament and swimmers captured fifth in the Big Eight Relays. The results weren't surprising. The Huskers, with problems ranging from inexperience to injuries, finished almost as expected but the future will undoubtedly improve.

COACH JOHN Reta's swimmers finished behind defending champion Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Iowa State and ahead of Arkansas, Colorado and Oklahoma State at Columbia. He credited David Backer, a sophomore from McCook who never swam in high school as a surprise. The Huskers finished third in the 300-meter back-stroke relay (Dave Schmidt, Walt Brezesinski and Jim Stasiowski) and third in the 300-meter individual relay with Schmidt, King Little and Terry Sharp.

NU WON fourth places in the 800-meter free-style relay with Steve Nootz, George Sezik, Tom Cook and Sharp and in the 2,000 meter free-style relay with Little, Nootz, Cook and Sezik.

Kansas, defending Big Eight Champion, invades the Coliseum pool at 2 p.m. Saturday to battle Nebraska's underdog Huskers, but we foresee an exciting match with NU swimmers capturing a few upset matches.

NU wrestlers, however, shocked Coach Orval Borgianni by finishing last at Fort Collins behind Greeley, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, Fort Collins, Fort Hays, The University of Texas at El Paso, Wyoming and Montana State, as Nebraska failed to qualify a wrestler for the championship round.

"WE DIDN'T get any breaks, but I'm still not satisfied with the performance," Borgianni said. "You hopefully could attribute the results to inexperience since we started four freshmen and four sophomores."

perience since we started four freshmen and four sophomores."

TWO HUSKERS, Dennis Dobson, a senior co-captain from Alliance suffered stretched ligaments in his right knee and Steve Klingaman, a freshman from Waterloo, Iowa, pulled a groin muscle.

Both are questionable starters for Friday's 7:30 p.m. match against South Dakota State at the Coliseum, Borgianni said.

The coach said Joe George, a freshman from Omaha at 160 pounds, wrestled an almost flawless match Saturday and lost by riding time in his opening match Friday.

Two-time AAU fourth-place finisher Gene Libal at 191 pounds lost to a freshman.

OKLAHOMA RECEIVES standing room only crowds for wrestling as does Kansas for basketball. NU receives capacity turnouts only on rare occasions, but let's change that this weekend.

Music groups to hold concert

A student composer's musical piece will be included in a combined concert of professional music fraternities at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Nebraska Union ballroom.

The musical piece, "Pagants," by Jerome Kohl, a graduate student, is the first commissioned work to be presented in concert.

The collection of Renaissance period music will be presented by the women's music fraternities, Delta Omicron, Sigma Alpha Iota and Mu Phi Epsilon, and the men's, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia.

Student directors of the concert are Dan Schmidt Kendall Gunlicks, John Wilkinson, Joan Allen and Wanda Nelson.

BOTH KANSAS and Oregon State have won two games this season and appear headed for a tight race to become the first to win 1,000 basketball games.

In 67 years Oregon State has won 990 and lost 609 while the Jayhawks have captured 986 victories against 445 losses in 70 years of the sport. Kentucky is third with 984 wins against 303 defeats in 63 years.

Although not in contention for national ranking, Nebraska holds a 674-650 record since 1897.

CREIGHTON and the Midwest's finest basketball player Bob Portman invade Kansas for the Sunflower Doubleheader Friday and Saturday by meeting both Kansas and Kansas State.

The Bluejays have this state's finest team but will meet a Kansas squad at Manhattan Friday that has won its last seven games in the Sunflower Doubleheader.

This year will be the final for the Doubleheader, which features two guest teams against both Kansas Big Eight schools in Manhattan one night and the other in Lawrence the next.

The Jayhawk classic will replace the Sunflower event since scheduling games became a headache, according to KU coach Ted Owens, since to obtain one team, Kansas had to play three games away from Allen Fieldhouse.

LEFTOVER Football Records — end Tom Penney is Nebraska's all-time leading pass catcher with 72 grabs for 988 yards. Field goal kicker Paul Rogers tied the Nebraska season record with six boots. Dick Davis finished as Nebraska's second leading rusher behind Philadelphia Eagle Harry Wilson. Davis had 1514 yards.

Women's swim club organizing

A women's swimming club is being formed on campus to provide an opportunity for conditioning, advanced instruction and possibly intercollegiate competition.

First workouts are now being held Monday through Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at the Sandoz Pool, according to the new club's sponsor William J. Wayne, associate professor of geology.

The club will be under the direction of a competent coach and instructor, he said. He invited all interested University students to join the club.

Several other area colleges and universities have similar organizations, he said.

NU to play Wichita St.

After dividing a two-game basketball series in Oregon, Nebraska's 2-1 Huskers meet Wichita State's Shockers at 7:35 p.m. Tuesday in the coliseum.

The Shockers finished 12-14 last season, their first losing season in 16 years, and have dropped games this year to Southern Illinois and Creighton. But Wichita has never lost to Nebraska in three previous meetings.

Nebraska toppled Oregon 77-65 Saturday at Eugene after losing to Oregon State 79-67 at Corvallis as Vic Bartolme hit 28 points for the Beavers.

THE HUSKERS' rebound effort against the Oregon Ducks was engineered by guard Tom Scantlebury, who bucketed 23 points by connecting on nine of 15 shots from the floor. Four other Huskers, however, also hit for twin digits in the balanced attack — Bob Gratopp with 15, Marv Stewart with 16, Jim Brooks with 13 and sophomore Leroy Chalk with 10.

Chalk, getting his first crack at a starting assignment against Oregon, made an impressive debut by hauling down 16 rebounds.

Bayer, Sandelin finish on top in bowling leagues
