

Remarks

Nebraska's smashing victory over a highly-rated Kansas State track squad was the lone ray of hope in an otherwise dreary-sports weekend for Husker squads.

Coach Frank Sevigne apparently has established a track team with enough potential and ability to seriously challenge Kansas for the Big Eight indoor title at the league championships in Kansas City.

IN THE 73-45 triumph Saturday at Memorial Stadium, NU stars Bob Tupper, Greg Carlberg, Dan Morran and a relay team of Bob Pierce, Ron Lange, Clifton Forbes and Garth Case set meet records.

Other NU firsts were by N. S. Hurd in the long jump, Duane Sullivan in the pole vault and football star Joe Orduna in the low hurdles. But can this squad become the first Husker crew since 1963 to win the indoor title?

We think it can take the title after its impressive performance against a Wildcat team that had already set two world records.

Sevigne's gang meets Colorado and Iowa State in East Stadium duels before going to KC Feb. 28-March 1. The all home schedule of four duels meets definitely will aid the Huskers.

BUT UNFORTUNATELY, we can't picture a bright future for NU's other winter teams.

Coach Joe Cipriano's basketball team played well, but Colorado prevailed 83-81 at Boulder Saturday night in a game that was no surprise. But now NU has two relatively easier games at Missouri Tuesday night and at the Coliseum against Iowa State Saturday evening.

Led by Leroy Chalk and Marvin Stewart who each had 16 points against CU, Nebraska stormed back from a 10-point deficit to within two.

THE FRESHMAN didn't fare much better losing to Kansas State at Manhattan 96-82. Coach Bill Harrell's squad dropped its second game in a match we understand to have been ragged.

Coach Orval Borgialli's wrestling squad fell to both Missouri and Kansas State in road matches over the weekend, while coach Jake Grier's gymnastics team lost to Kansas State.

HASTINGS SENIOR Steve May won the all-around title for NU in gymnastics, winning the still rings and placing second in the floor exercise, side horse and long horse.

Despite the fine outputs of NU swimmers Jim Krauss and Dave Schmidt, Coach John Reta's team whipped Colorado but lost handily to the Air Force on Saturday. Krauss won the 50-yard freestyle and finished second in the 100-yard freestyle against CU. Schmidt won both the 200-yard individual medley and backstroke against the Buffs.

All creditable performances, but only track has a bona fide chance for a title, which could foreshadow another last place finish in the Big Eight All-Sports chase.

WE HOPE this doesn't occur, but unless NU develops all-around strength in its athletic program such as Kansas and Oklahoma have, this will be the penalty for over-emphasizing football, basketball and track.

With the exception of track the big three have not produced the favorable results that would boost NU in the ratings.

We place considerable value on the league's all-sports rankings. They are a definite guide to the power behind the school's athletic programs.

OKLAHOMA HAS always been strong in wrestling, football, tennis and golf while KU dominates basketball, indoor and outdoor track.

Nebraska must develop a tradition for all its sports — it's a sad commentary that everyone from Scottsbluff to Omaha knows the starting lineup for the football squad yet can't even tell what sports such fine individuals as Gene Libal or George Setzlik participate in for NU.

One thing that helps both Kansas and Oklahoma develop enthusiasm for sports is the state-wide network that telecasts KU and KSU basketball across the Sunflower state or OU or OSU tube wrestling matches to the Sooner State.

HAVE YOU ever seen a Nebraska sports event televised to Nebraska? We're not talking about ABC-TV's annual OU-NU football game — we mean basketball, wrestling or track meet.

Students, allegedly the most enthusiastic rooters, are undoubtedly the most important factor in generating spirit. High school students support their teams better than University residents back theirs.

We need to develop enthusiasm in this state for all the sports, and until TV and radio announcers and all Nebraskans realize that football is not the only sport, NU will remain last in the Big Eight's All-Sports ratings.

LAST WORDS — Fencing stars remember the co-recreational fencing club's organizational meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in 301 Women's P.E. building. It's a worthwhile club.

Caldwell appointed

The Board of Regents has named Dr. Warren W. Caldwell, as chairman of the anthropology department. He was formerly director of the River Basin Surveys of the Smithsonian Institute.

He succeeds Dr. Preston Holder who will continue as professor of anthropology. Holder has served as chairman of the anthropology department since 1960.

Caldwell has served as assistant professor of anthropology at the University on a part-time basis since 1960.

A native of Davenport, Iowa, he holds degrees from San Mateo Junior College, Stanford University, an M.A. from Stanford University and a Ph.D. from the University of Washington.

He joined the Smithsonian River Basin Survey in 1963 as an archeologist. Caldwell was named chief of the Missouri Basin Project in 1963 and director of the River Basin Survey, the post he now holds, in 1966.

Money is swell stuff. It makes a party... political or social. It builds theatre for people to laugh in, houses for people to live in and churches too. It can make a better mousetrap, develop a vaccine or clear a slum. Lots of fine things are done with money and lots of young people are finding out about the excitement inherent in a banking career. □ As the largest Southern California based bank, Security Pacific is proud of its "now" atmosphere and the many young executives who make the decisions that put things in motion. □ If you would enjoy the involvement of working with a big, strong bank, we'd like to talk to you. We'll be on campus Friday, February 14
