

Nebraska's 160-pound Jerry Munson struggles against Iowa State's Dave Bock during NU's 30-3 loss to the nationally-rated Cyclones. Munson lost 4-2 on riding time.

NU swimmers capture fifth in Big 8 tourney

While Nebraska's gymnasts dropped two Colorado matches and NU's wrestlers split two Coliseum bouts, the Husker swimmers took fifth in the Big Eight Meet at Stillwater, Okla. Coach John Reta's swimmers, who finished sixth last year, finished behind Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Iowa State and ahead of Oklahoma State and Colorado. Freshman star George Sezik placed second in the 1,650 yard freestyle for a Husker bright spot. Other NU placers included Dave Schmidt with a fifth in the 200 yard backstroke and an eighth in the 100 yard backstroke, Walt Brzezinski with a fourth in the 100 yard backstroke and Jim Stasiowski was 12th in that event. Jim Krauss was eighth in the 100 yard breaststroke. Coach Jake Geier's gymnasts closed their regular season over the weekend, losing to Colorado 149.60-133.02 Friday and Air Force 147.40 to 137.15 Saturday. Against Colorado only Steve May, Alan Cook and Bruce Kempkes placed. May tied for first in vaulting and was third in the still rings, while Cook took second in the still rings and Kempkes was runner-up in the horizontal bars. In winning only one event against Air Force, NU placed McWilliams second in the side horse, behind one Husker winner Tom Traver, May was second in the horizontal bars and Kempkes was second in the horizontal bars. In splitting two matches with Iowa opponents in Lincoln, NU wrestling coach Orval Borgianni's squad beat Drake Friday 17-12 and lost to Iowa State's second nationally rated Cyclones 30-3 Saturday. Winning decisions over Drake were Doug Erickson, Dennis Dobson, Joe George and Gene Libal, while Jerry Munson recorded a pin. Only Libal won a decision against the powerful Cyclones Saturday.

SAC Comm. examines role of Student Affairs

Members of the Student in the Academic Community committee are currently considering the role of the Student Affairs committee of the University Senate, according to committee member Tom Morgan. Controversy ranges as to whether or not the Senate committee should continue to exist, and if not, what should replace it, Morgan said. Most work by the SAC group is being done by individuals at the sub-committee level. Specific issues, such as control of student fees are being dealt with, Morgan said. He added that such questions are symptoms of the real problem of an unworkable structure of student government. Morgan said he expects recommendations by the SAC group to be made before the end of the current school year.

Colorado takes Big 8 crown as Huskers defeat Oklahoma

While Nebraska defeated Oklahoma 70-64 Saturday to escape the Big Eight's cellar, Kansas State defeated Kansas 64-57 and Colorado bounced Missouri 92-73 to give Colorado's sophomore-laden Buffaloes the Big Eight basketball crown. The Buffaloes, in what must rank as the league's greatest rags to riches display, just last season were the league's doormat with a 3-11 conference record and a subpar 9-16 overall mark. But this year, the Boulderites, with the Big Eight's top scorer Cliff Meely and playmaker Gordon Tope, sparkled to a 10-4 league record and a 20-6 overall slate. Colorado now advances to the NCAA Midwest playoffs opening Thursday night at Ahearn Fieldhouse in Manhattan, Kans. Nebraska, with its third 1969 victory over the Sooners Saturday, closed coach Joe Cipriano's sixth season at Lincoln with a 5-9 league record, good for a sixth place tie with Oklahoma State, which downed NU 72-63 Thursday night. NU finished 12-14 overall, which was Cipriano's first below .500 season in four years. But next season, all Huskers return since no seniors dot this year's crew. Bolstered by promising freshman such as Chuck Jura, Al Nissen, Mike Peterson and Steve White, NU will aim to improve over its first losing season since 1964-65 when NU went 10-15. The Huskers placed four men in double figures Saturday, led by Bob Gratopp's 19 points and Marvin Stewart's 18 tallies. Center Leroy Chalk scored 14 points and snared 21 rebounds, only five short of the NU record set in 1954. Tom Scantlebury added 10 points and defensive whiz Ken Cagle scored 7, and Dale VonSeggern scored 2. Chalk, in his sophomore season, topped the Nebraska season rebounding record with 257 caroms, shattering Herschel Turner's previous Husker best of 244 set in 1958-59. He also became the 32nd player in Big Eight records to grab more than 250 rebounds in one season.

Tickets on sale

University students attending the state high school basketball tournament games at the Coliseum next Thursday through Saturday must purchase adult $1.50 tickets for each session, the NU athletic department has announced. Student all-sports tickets will not be honored for admission since the event is not a University function, the department said. No pleasure workouts or extra-mural activities will be held at the Coliseum during the tournament games.

Florida seeks candidates

Florida Atlantic University's Faculty Scholars program, now successfully into its first year with 21 scholars, recently announced that it is accepting candidates for the program for 1969-70. Eligibility is based on the results of nationally standardized tests. Students must score above a level comparable to students completing the sophomore year of college. They must also successfully complete a series of interviews with the Faculty Scholars Committee.

Those selected as Faculty Scholars will be credited with a year's academic study and complete an additional three years — all upper division — for a bachelor's degree, or four additional years for a master's degree. They will by-pass the freshman and sophomore years of study and move directly into advanced work at FAU, which offers only the junior and senior years, and graduate work. "The success of FAU's Faculty Scholars program," commented Dr. Kenneth R. Williams, president, "demonstrates that much of the course work at the freshman and sophomore level has already been covered by the best high school graduates. "We are dealing with the top 5 per cent of high school senior classes. The fact that such a program is possible is a tribute to the programs being developed in our high schools."

Human Rights committee to take coordinating role

Are your human rights being violated? The University Senate is in the process of establishing a Human Rights Committee to help answer that question. It will act as a coordinating key between students, faculty and administration. The major purpose of the committee, according to initiator Ivan Volgyes, assistant professor of political science, includes seeking solutions to previously unsolved problems. He mentioned a number of areas to be considered for violations: extent of right to student protest, violation of rights by presence of narcotics agents on campus; conscious and unconscious discrimination against black students on campus and in the Greek system; and restriction against faculty members running for state office except in the primaries without submitting resignation or a requesting leave of absence. The Senate Human Rights Committee will consist of two students, two faculty members and two administrative representatives. Volgyes said nominations for members are currently being processed. He commented that as we live in an age when universities are reluctant and slow to change, this committee will hopefully be able to translate ideas into practice.

okay, renaissance men, here's something for you . . .
Our Regional Group Managers are renaissance men too. We like to think it's because our training program is so superior. But that's only part of it. These guys were superior to begin with. They had to snow our recruiters, ace our tests, and get past interviews with Bill Lawson and Howard Steele. The former is a Southerner and the latter a Vice President. Bill and Howard make the Group Department grow. They also smile a lot, as they should. They've got over five billion dollars of group insurance in force. That's mainly because RGMs work so hard. Besides helping 2300 agents market group insurance, they look after existing business. And manage their own offices. And make direct sales, if they want. The competition is rough and tricky. So are our boys. They earn salaries plus commissions and make a lot of money. Like Bill and Howard, RGMs smile a lot. Why shouldn't they? They live in large cities and run their own shows (now playing: Miami, Denver, St. Louis and thirty-two others). They can go places in the company, too. Tom Watson did — to the presidency. That's a lot of reason to smile. And besides, smiling is good for business. We'll be at the placement office on March 18, 1969. Come and talk to us about being an RGM. Or an actuary, systems analyst, field claim manager, sales manager, reinsurance consultant or financial analyst. Or write and tell us about yourself.
