Making their 'living' on 'death' of Paul

New York — (CPS) — Whether Beatle Paul McCartney is among the living or among the dead, the music industry is making a living off the rumors this fall.

The Beatles' own albums — even very old ones — have picked up in sales. And not to be out-done, MGM Records (which has absolutely nothing to do with the Beatles) has put the death rumors to music and released "The Ballad of Paul," which it expects will sell like ... Well, this is the way an MGM news release puts it:

Jumping on the hot topical question as to whether Paul McCartney of the Beatles is alive or dead, MGM Records is this week rushing out a super-special single release titled, "The Ballad of Paul," by a group called the Mystery Tour.

Appeals committee studied

A student committee is currently working to establish a University-wide grade appeals committee.

ASUN 1st vice-president Diane Teisen said that the committee is checking the feasibility of establishing the board. She said that the committee members hope the body can be functioning by the end of first semester.

The University appeal board will give students a source of final appeal for their first semester grades, she added.

The committee is also confirming the establishment of department and college appeal boards provided for by in the Student in the Academic Community document, Miss Teisen said.

Don Stenberg, chairman of the ASUN education committee, commented that the proposal on the committee will be submitted to the faculty senate for approval. Little opposition is expected, he added.

GO BIG RED

Lenny Sheer, director of sales and distribution, has so much confidence in this single, that he has Ok'd a large expenditure for the purchase of this master, proving to the industry that MGM Records is very much in the single business and will continuously come up with new ideas in material and talent for the singles market.

The entire MGM Records staff is going all-out on this release with an initial campaign which will include the packaging of the disc in a special sleeve, full-page ads in all trade papers, saturation distribution of 500 records to radio stations, and a direct mailing campaign of sample discs, and title scripts to One-stops and Juke Box Operators.

Espresso shop relaxes guests

by Dave Landis
Entertainment Opinion

Lincoln has never had a truly successful coffee house. For those potential patrons of such a folk-oriented espresso shop, there is new hope ... Underground Hope, 1445 N. 27th.

Roger Frahm, director of the new coffee house has travelled for six years in search of the right ingredients for the place. In one word, the answer is atmosphere. An atmosphere of relaxation.

Professional entertainment from the national folk circuit has been brought in. Dan McKinnon, versatile guitarist and performer, is the focal point of the evening's communication.

"The place has got something that is lacking in every coffee house from Kansas to Canada," Frahm said. "You can just absorb the things going on around you, or sit and stare at the burlap ceiling."

In December Frahm hopes to premiere underground films by local cinematographer Claude Berry. Other local talent will also be hired.

"The place is not for people to bring their guitars and play games," he added. "We guarantee a talented performer." This style is a pleasing difference from the amateur-oriented clubs that Lincoln has seen.

No one under 18 is admitted. "This is not a place for teenyboppers or lost kids, although the lost are welcome."

The club is open on Friday and Saturday from 8 p.m. until everyone leaves. Since everything else in Lincoln closes up about midnight this too is an appealing feature.

The coffee house has a cover charge of 75 cents per person and $1 for a couple. This includes entertainment, free spiced cherry and apple cider, coke and coffee and atmosphere.

"I think Lincoln needs a place like the Underground Hope," Frahm said. Those students weary of Friday night movie dates and a quick beer couldn't agree more. Frahm hopes the club will attract a wide spectrum of patrons.

"It's not all for long hairs or short hairs," he added. "It's not a place to drop. It's for people who might like to communicate with someone who holds different views from their own."

It is amazing that a campus of 20,000 students has yet to support a professional folk club. After an initial burst of popularity, three clubs have folded; a fourth languishes. It seems the Underground Hope has the answer to what students want in an intimate coffee house. Now all it needs is the students.

Dan McKinnon, folk guitarist, is scheduled to appear at the Underground Hope.

Happenings
