

Frosh no longer on outside, looking in

NU Track Rookies Producing

by STEVE SINCLAIR

It used to be that college athletes spent their freshman year on the outside, looking in.

Now, however, things have changed somewhat on the minor sports level because of a recent National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling allowing freshmen to compete on the varsity level in minor sports.

Since football and basketball are the only two major sport considerations, Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne has been cashing in on the new opportunity.

His freshmen trackmen accounted for 32½ varsity points Saturday afternoon as the Cornhuskers impressively opened their indoor season with a 91-38 blitz over Southern Illinois.

Nebraska's top point producer in the debut was Randy Butts, the Grand Island freshman who swept both the 60-yard high hurdles (:07.6) and the 60-yard lows (:07.1). He was the meet's only double winner.

Other freshmen capturing firsts in their events were Hopeton Gordon of Kingston, Jamaica, with a 23-3¼ long jump effort and Dan Brooks with a 6-6 mark in the high jump.

NU frosh who placed included Gary Gressett, second in the 60-yard high hurdles; Jim Hawkins, second in the 880; Don Quarrie, second in the 60-yard dash; Wes Leonard, third in the 6000; and Tim Lebsack, third in the 440.

Lebsack also was the leadoff man on the Huskers' winning mile relay unit.

Quarrie finished a step behind the Salukis' Ivory Crockett in the 60-yard dash. Crockett was the National AAU 100-yard dash king last summer, besting San Jose State's John Carlos, currently ranked the world's top sprinter.

Sevigne indicated that he wasn't surprised by the freshmen's early performances. "We were well pleased with them," he offered. "This is one of the better freshman groups we have had."

He said that the freshmen should improve with more experience and should be competitive Big Eight Conference performers. Friday night's dual meet against Kansas State at Manhattan may provide a truer test, he added.

The Husker freshmen didn't steal the show, however, as the upperclassmen were responsible for 58½ points.

Miller Greg Carlberg's victory over the Salukis' Al Robinson ranked with Butts' hurdle sweep as the meet's outstanding performance, according to Sevigne.

"Robinson is considered to be one of the nation's best milers," Sevigne said. "Robinson beat Carlberg in a dual last season."

Sevigne said the Huskers showed strength in the middle distances and the hurdles. He saw no apparent weaknesses.

Garth Case in the 600, Dan Morran in the 880 and Pete Brang in the 1,000 flashed old form with first place finishes.

CBA to hold open house

On the anniversary of its 50th year, the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration moved into newly remodeled quarters and is planning to show them to the public during an open house from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30.

The $750,000 project refurbished the Social Sciences Hall at 12th and R completed in 1920. After this recent remodeling, the building was renamed the College of Business Administration by the Board of Regents.

It contains 14 classrooms, three lecture rooms, a 260-seat auditorium, reading room and statistics laboratory for teaching the College's more than 2,000 students.

There are also offices for more than 50 faculty members, administrative suites for the dean and department chairmen, a faculty commons and graduate student study carrels.

The offices of the Bureau of Business Research and Center for Economic Education fill additional space.

The College of Business Administration formerly shared the building, in an overcrowded fashion, with several other academic departments in the College of Arts and Sciences. These departments have been moved to new Oldfather Hall.

In addition to facilities for the teaching areas of accounting, economics, finance, management and marketing, the building provides staff space operational areas for service organizations.
