The reason for this frosty exhibition is to solicit female members to ease the current 50-1 ratio of male to female members in Karate Club. An affiliated member of the Tae Kwon Do Association, the club's function is to offer a course in self-defense. Cost to the student is the lowest in the nation — five dollars a month for affiliation with the national association. Above, members Kent Roberts (left) and Richard Park demonstrate the fine art of breaking jaws with frozen feet.

Regents approve sale to city University farm to be park

Omaha — The NU Board of Regents Monday approved the sale of a 228-acre tract in Havelock to the city of Lincoln for development of a park and golf course.

The price of the land, arrived at by three independent appraisals, was $325,000. The Havelock farm property has been used for years for agricultural experimental work which is now being transferred to the Agricultural Field Laboratory at Mead. The remaining 1100 acres of the tract will be phased out later.

THE REGENTS also dedicated to the city a portion of the northwest corner of 17th and Vine to be used for a right turn bypass from 17th Street onto Vine Street. Traffic studies indicate that this improvement would relieve traffic congestion.

Also approved was a recommendation by the University Graduate Council that the Department of Mathematics in Lincoln be authorized to offer programs of study leading to the degrees Master of Arts for Teachers and Master of Science for Teachers.

THESE DEGREES allow teachers to improve their training in the subject they teach. The degrees were requested by the math department on the premise that many teachers need and want more training.

Expenditures up to $160,000 for re-modeling Lincoln dorms was authorized by the Regents. Part of Selleck Quadrangle will be remodeled first.

Gary D. Hansen was named by the Regents as chairman and associate professor of the Department of Family Economics and Management effective July 1. He fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Arnold Barager. Hansen is currently associate professor of sociology at Portland State College, Portland Oregon.

NEBRASKA'S 11th football game of the 1970 season with Wake Forest University on Sept. 12 was given final approval at the meeting. Nebraska will pay Wake Forest $80,000 instead of the one-half of net proceeds of the game as is often done with other opponents.

Also approved were two football games with New Mexico State University to be played in 1979 and 1982 in Lincoln. The University is guaranteeing New Mexico State $35,000 for each game.

CHANCELLOR DURWARD Varner was absent from his first Board of Regents meeting due to the death of his brother.

In other action Monday, the Board of Regents approved:

—An associate degree program in nursing which will be offered at the NU Medical School this fall. The curriculum of the program has been designed to take students through a two-year course of study leading to a registered nurses' license.

—Grants and gifts to the Lincoln campuses and outstate activities totaling $795,031.74.
