Russell rebounds to Nebraska

The man who led the Boston Celtics to eleven world basketball titles in 13 years will speak at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Nebraska Union Centennial Room.

Bill Russell, who retired last summer to pursue a career in the entertainment field, was regarding as a revolutionary force in basketball.

Russell was the first black to coach full-time in a major league of any sport when he took over for Red Auerbach as coach of the Celtics in 1967.

An articulate spokesman of the black cause, Russell gave full support to the black boycott of the 1968 Summer Olympics.

Prior to Russell the big man in basketball was used primarily as an offensive weapon. Russell was given credit for capitalizing on the blocked shot and other defensive techniques which have become essential for players to master to make it in the pro ranks.

Russell's accomplishments have not been limited to his professional basketball career.
The University of San Francisco was unbeaten in 59 games, including a national championship, when he played there. He won a gold medal playing on the 1956 Olympic team.

When Russell announced his retirement in Sports Illustrated, he said that there are two types of basketball players —the professional and the mercenary. He said if he continued to play he would be forced to become a mercenary.

Without Russell this season the Celtics fell from being world champions to sixth place in the Eastern division of the National Basketball Association.

Off the court Russell's interests include ownership of a restaurant and a rubber plantation in Liberia. His interest in jazz has led to a collection of over 4,000 records.

His appearance is part of Nebraska Union Speakers Series sponsored by the Talks and Topics Committee.

Morrison speaks at YD meeting

Former Nebraska Gov.
Frank B. Morrison will speak to a meeting of the Young Democrats at the Nebraska Union on Thursday evening at 7:00 p.m., according to Mike Jacobs, YD president.

"Morrison said that he would like to try to straighten out some of the facts," Jacobs said.

"The former governor believes that he is the victim of undue criticism and he would like to speak to some of the people who are against his candidacy for the Senate."

The meeting is open to the public.
