

Historical drama and Legislature are part of week's ETV schedule

An 11th century pacifist king and the Nebraska Legislature are subjects to be featured this week on the Nebraska Education Television Network, Channel 12.

Richard Kiley stars in "The Ceremony of Innocence" on NET PLAYHOUSE at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 13. The play concerns the pacifist English King, Ethelred, and his fruitless efforts to avoid war with the Danes.

Bob Markell, producer, adapted it for television from a play by Ronald Ribman, author of three successful off-Broadway plays. Markell says the play is "more relevant to our times than to the 11th century."

Other cast members include James Broderick, Larry Gates, and Jessie Royce Landis.

Two programs concerning the special session of the legislature will be shown this week.

The first, "Uncameral 1970 Special Session," will appear tonight at 9:30 and an update of the session through and including the Friday, June 12, deliberations of the legislature.

The special session of the legislature has been called by Governor Norbert Tiemann to consider matters ranging from state construction projects, bond interest rate ceilings for housing and airport authorities, to drivers licenses.

The special coverage will be made by a University of Nebraska television remote crew.

The second program, to be shown Sunday at 9 p.m., will include highlights. The half hour program will show the opening session of the legislature.

Richard Kiley, in the role of England's 11th-century King Ethelred, mourns the death of his son in the NET Playhouse production of Ronald Ribman's "The Ceremony of Innocence." It will be shown Saturday at 8 p.m.

KRNU sets schedule

The University of Nebraska's FM radio station, KRNU, will broadcast during the first summer session from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The student-operated station, found at 90.3 on the FM dial, broadcasts from the School of Journalism at Nebraska Hall. Its transmitter is on top of Abel Hall.

Summer broadcasts began June 8 and will end July 17, according to Peter Mayeaux, assistant professor of broadcasting. This is the first summer the station will be in operation, so "we're just looking around to see what we're doing," he said.

KRNU will broadcast standard music from 6 to 7 p.m., jazz from 7 to 8 p.m., and rock music from 8 to 10 p.m. News will be presented five minutes before the hour with headlines on the half-hour, Mayeaux said.

In addition, "Campus Calendar," a report of scheduled events on campus, will be broadcast at 7 and 9 p.m., and "Comedy Time," an excerpt selected from a comedy album, will be broadcast at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The station is operating on a reduced time period this summer because of a limited summer staff — about 12 students in comparison to the regular staff of 60 — and limited resources, said Dr. Larry Walkin, assistant professor of broadcasting.

The station, however, may carry special programs, as it has in the past with the Town Hall meetings and Faculty Senate meetings during the student strike and with spring commencement exercises. It can carry specials either live or on tape, and has direct lines with the Stadium, the Coliseum, the Nebraska Union, Channel 12, the Educational Television Station, and the Lancaster County Civil Defense Headquarters for weather warnings.

Committee to investigate student strike

A seven-man committee has been appointed to conduct an inquiry into events connected with the University of Nebraska student strike (May 5-10) and the student occupation of the Military and Naval Sciences Building.

Chancellor D. B. Varner announced the appointments at last Friday's meeting of the Board of Regents. The committee will consider three questions:

Were any laws violated? Were any improprieties committed which require further action? Were outside influences at work during the events?

The committee members are: Edward W. Lyman, Omaha, president of the U.S. National Bank.

Muri Maupin, North Platte, former president of the Nebraska Bar Association.

Richard Spelts, Grand Island, attorney.

Russell Mattson, Lincoln, former president of the Nebraska Bar Association.

Joe Vosoba, Wilber, attorney and former state senator.

Russell Weber, Fremont, publisher of the Fremont Tribune.

Alton Wilhelms, Stromsburg, president of the Nebraska Press Association.
