

The Nebraska Cornhuskers don't fall easily . . . and neither does their quarterback Van Brownson. The Husker signal caller, who was named Big Eight back of the week, drags three Jayhawks before breaking loose for a 15-yard touchdown against Kansas Saturday. Tight end Jerry List (85) help lead interference on the option play.

Huskers prime

A Bob Devaney coached Nebraska team has never fallen to Oklahoma State. "And we don't want to break that tradition," smiled Devaney about this Saturday's opponent.

But it has never been the Nebraska offense which has stolen the show against the Cowboys. The most points the Huskers have scored against Oklahoma State since Devaney's arrival was 27 in 1964.

"I don't know why we haven't been able to score against them," offered Devaney. "Sometimes we've made errors on offense and sometimes we just haven't been able to solve their defense."

But it could be the OSU offense which will give the Huskers problems this year.

The Cowboys have had a week's rest in preparation for the Big Eight battle with Nebraska. "They're liable to come up with something new," said Devaney. "That extra week should help them prepare and they should be well rested.

Devaney won't be surprised if the Cowboys test the Black Shirts the same way Kansas did — running dive and option plays.

But the big offensive punch for the Cowboys is in their quick passing game. Flanker-splitend alternate Hermann Eben and flanker Dick Graham hold down the receiving positions with authority.

"The difficult thing about Eben and Graham is that they are great ones to go up and wrestle for the football," noted Devaney. "You'll think you've got them covered and all of a sudden they'll come up with the football."
