Registration forms due

Registration worksheets for graduate students and seniors are due at the Bursar's office, 204 Administration building Friday by 5 p.m.

Gerald Bowker, director of registration and records, noted only one change has been made in the registration forms. This change will help identify the students.

Students in the Dentistry, Law and Pharmacy colleges will list their accumulated hours in a special area of the form.

Bowker explained that a law student, for example, may have 90 hours and be considered a senior by the University. Yet because of requirements, he may only be a freshman in the College of Law.

Bowker urged dorm residents to pick up their forms in the living units, at the Nebraska Union, or at the Administration Building.

Worksheets of students with 53 or more hours are due Nov. 19, and those of students with less than 53 hours are due Nov. 24.
