

Carlberg enters NCAA Meet

Greg Carlberg will be the lone Nebraska entry in Monday's NCAA cross country meet at Williamsburg, Va.

The Nebraska senior earned the trip with his victory two weeks ago in the Big Eight Conference meet where he set a course record of 18:53 for four miles. This week the distance will be moved up to six miles.

Oregon boasts the pre-meet favorite in sophomore Steve Prefontaine. Third last year, Prefontaine is expected to challenge for the gold medal this time since both of the runners who beat him have graduated.

But if there is an upset it could come from Carlberg or another midwest runner, Garry Bjorklund of Minnesota. Bjorklund rolled to easy victories in dual meets over Indiana and Wisconsin before annexing his second straight Big Ten title last weekend.

Best of the eastern runners may be a relative newcomer to cross country, Marty Liquori. Liquori was impressive early this fall by becoming the first runner ever to break 25:00 minutes on Penn State's golf course. His 24:49 would have easily won last year's USTFF meet there.

With the Big Eight title behind him Greg Carlberg looks ahead to a bigger prize . . . the NCAA championship.
