

Wrestlers trounce Missouri squad

Nebraska's wrestling team, looking for its best season in 10 years, defeated Northwest Missouri, 31-3, in a shortened meet at the Coliseum Saturday.

The Cornhuskers' Jim Haug raised his dual record to 10-0 with a decision in the 177-pound division. Joe Orta, 118, was the only Husker to score a pin in the rout.

The meet lasted only 24 minutes as eight mats were used between sessions of the state high school wrestling tournament. Nebraska will host the Big Eight wrestling meet at the Coliseum Friday and Saturday before meeting Drake March 11.

Meditator visits campus

Bill Witherspoon ...

A few years ago, when the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi was touring the United States with the Beatles as his pupils, everyone became familiarized with the term transcendental meditation.

But when the Beatles left the Maharishi's Indian hide-away denouncing him as a sham most people agreed with the accusations and put any serious thought of meditation out of their minds.

Wednesday and Thursday a representative of the Students International Meditation Society was on campus to change that negative image and help students "develop the capacity for full enjoyment and accomplishment in life." BILL WITHERSPOON, who has been instructing in transcendental meditation for about a year, lectured three times daily to what he called "good-sized" audiences.

"It is a direct experience. Necessarily, then, it can't be talked about; a person must have the experience himself to be able to understand," Witherspoon said.

Witherspoon had studied yoga and Zen before being introduced to transcendental meditation. Achieving the transcending experience, he said, made the time he spent studying Zen "seem to fall away."

THE PAMPHLET proclaimed that transcendental meditation, "by developing the inner mechanics of thinking and experience, insures the full development of the individual...it is easily learned by anyone."

The pamphlet also outlined the physical and mental effects of transcendental meditation and called the meditation "unique in that it induces a fourth state of consciousness which is as natural to the individual as the other three states—waking, dreaming, and deep sleep."

WITHERSPOON INDICATED that he will revisit the Nebraska campus March 10 for a second preparatory lecture dealing with the techniques of meditation. Students interested in further personal instruction can begin that phase March 11, 12, 13, or 14. At the time personal instruction begins the student pays a fee of $35.
