Williams. . .hallucinogenic trips are in the wrong direction.

Williams: 'Purity is power'

"True freedom can be found in an enlightened sense of God" was the message conveyed to a small gathering Wednesday afternoon by a member of the Church of Christ Scientist.

Edward C. Williams, C.S.B., told the group spiritual identification answers the question: "who am I?" We exist "to exemplify our God-given identity," said Williams.

Williams lecture, "Freedom and True Identity", was sponsored by the campus Christian Science organization.

"As free citizens we place a high value on freedom," Williams said. "When we exercise freedom we find it carries a solemn responsibility--that of respecting others."

Williams who has devoted his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing since 1942, noted that law determines an individual's degree of freedom and warned, "If one should become the agent of lawlessness, he becomes the enemy of freedom. Obedience is essential to freedom."

He defined freedom as "rights with responsibilities" and said college students sometimes use the wrong means in their search for freedom.

He commented on students who he said actually lose their freedom in the "hallucinogenic world of drugs."

"These trips are in the wrong direction," Williams said. "They have side effects which turn into serious problems."

Said Williams: "There's only one way to find out who you really are and that's to get acquainted with the creator. We must look beyond material concepts to find God."

He suggested that true identity can be found by exemplifying the qualities of honesty, purity and courage. "Purity is power," he said.

He related several anecdotes, both personal and about others, to further express his point.

By living up to those qualities, he said, an individual can rise above the handicaps which he may feel are his burden.

But "our true identity as God's creation is not to be found in a physical body," according to Williams.

"The evil we must all protect ourselves against is the ignorance of God," Williams said. "Only by rejecting false freedoms can we protect ourselves. This is why an understanding of our spiritual identity is so important."

"Let's be our finest selves and we'll find our true identity," Williams concluded.
