

Human Relations group to continue Elks Fight

The battle continues on several fronts in the Human Relations Insight League's (HRIL) war against racial policies of several fraternal lodges in Lincoln.

After losing in fights before the Lincoln City Council and State Liquor Commission, HRIL will appeal the issuance of a liquor license to Elk's Lodge No. 80 before Lancaster County Court and federal courts. HRIL's appeal centers around alleged violations of Nebraska Statute 53-125 and rule no. 17 under the Nebraska Liquor Control Act.

Statute 53-125 forbids the issuance of a liquor license to any organization not in good standing in the community. Rule 17 prohibits the issuance of a license to any organization, "... conducted in such a way as to create public censure or become a nuisance, public or private."

Joe Colantuono, spokesman for the group, also announced that investigations of possible gambling violations in Moose Lodge No. 175 as well as Elk's Club No. 80 have produced some positive evidence. HRIL hopes to hire a private investigator to substantiate their suspicions and has also contacted the Lincoln Police Department requesting an investigation of the matter.

A letter was also sent to Gov. J. J. Exon by HRIL requesting a formal hearing to consider the removal of State Liquor Commissioners Ray Osborn and Ivan Armstrong. The charges center around the failure of these two commissioners to disqualify themselves in the judging of the April 27, 1971, HRIL appeal to the State Commission.

Referring to provision 53-110 of the Nebraska Liquor Control Act, HRIL contends a conflict of interest is present because Commissioners Osborn and Armstrong are members of Elks Lodges.

In the letter to Exon, HRIL concluded, "we are certain that your membership in Elks Lodge No. 80 will not prejudice your decision in this matter."

In order to raise funds to pay for a private investigator as well as district and federal court costs, an "End Racism" benefit will be Thursday in the Sheldon Sculpture Garden at 6:30 p.m. Folk and rock music, will be presented; as well as speakers tentatively including State Sen. Ernie Chambers of Omaha.

Student's spring session

In the Sculpture Garden

Monday

10:30 a.m.—Stephen Rozman—"United States Imperialism and the Third World"

1 p.m.—Schuyler Houser—Classical Music

1 p.m.—David Beckman—Community Power Structure or Erotic Mysticism?

2:30 p.m.—Chief Gail Gade, campus police, and Inspector Robert Sawdon, Lincoln Police—Police-Student Relations

3:30 p.m.—S. J. Stohs—The Content and Quality of Local Illicit Drugs

Tuesday

10:30 a.m.—Paul Olson—Parallels to the Counter Culture in Other Cultures

Old and new ... Mortar Board Kathy Knoell Kaufman taps Dru Mort Toebben.

For love of Ivy. . .

Heavy, as always, with tradition, and blessed by pleasant weather and a fine group of onlookers, the 82nd Ivy Day was the usual success Saturday morning on the mall north of Love Library.

Alfred W. Lewis, Jr., of Omaha was tackled as the new president of Innocents Society, senior men's honorary. He succeeds Ken Wald of Lincoln.

THE INNOCENTS also named four persons as honorary members of the society. They included:

—Stanley A. Matzke, Jr., new director of the State Department of Economic Development and former assistant director of resident instruction in the NU College of Agriculture.

—Harry R. Haynie, president of the University of Nebraska Foundation.

—Hal Smith, assistant director for programs in the Nebraska Union.

—Don Walton, political writer and analyst for the Lincoln Star.

Other new officers of Innocents include: Kerry T. Winterer of Gering, vice president; Dennis L. Confer of McCook, treasurer; Joseph Moriarty of Omaha, secretary; and James E. Gordon, Lincoln, sergeant-at-arms.

NEW MEMBERS include: Gary Seacrest, Lincoln; Mitchell Tebo, Roca; Lynn Webster, Lyons; James Pipher, Tekamah; Arnold Oltmans, Beatrice; Vernon Slaughter, Omaha; Robert Jenkins, Lincoln; Stephen Tiwald, Omaha; Duane Snedeker, Brule; and Rogene Bonnesen, Verdigré.

Janet White of Lincoln was tapped as the new president of the Black Masque chapter of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

She succeeds Julie Marolf of Waverly. Twenty-four other NU coeds were named to the honorary on the basis of leadership, scholarship and service in the University community.

Members of Mortar Boards also named two honorary members of the organization. They included:

—Dudley Ashton, chairman of the department of physical education for women at the University.

—Garnet Larson, professor in the Graduate School of Social Work.

Other new officers of Mortar Board are Beverly Toebben of Nickerson, vice president; Kat Lonnquist, of Middleton, Wis., treasurer; Beverly Goodenberger of Lincoln; historian; Mary Kay Quinlan of Lincoln, secretary.

NEW MEMBERS of Mortar Board include: Jonette Beaver, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Jody Beck, Lincoln; Gail Faaborg, Fullerton; Coleen Ruth Harper, Lincoln; Terri Hietbrink, Adams; Karen Hutt, Broken Bow; Diane Lee, Lincoln; Sharen McNally, Schuyler; Marla Jill McMaster, Lincoln; Jane Musselman, Omaha; Barbara Ostergard, Bothenburgh; Charlene Kay Pflug, Omaha; Lois Petersen, Syracuse; Paula Peter, Omaha; Marjorie Lee Roemmich, Grand Island; Stephanie Scholtes, Omaha; Debbie Stutzman, Lincoln; Dru Mort Toebben, Malvern, Iowa; Pam Whitted, McLean, Virg, formerly of Omaha; Laura Willers, Sioux Falls, S. D.

LEADERS OF THE Ivy Chain, composed of senior women were: Theresa Hawe, Linda Hill, Cheryl Knigge, Chris Seeman, Patricia Perry.

Those named leaders of the Daisy Chain composed of freshman, sophomore and junior coeds were: Nancy Damme, Connie Gillispie, Linda Hofferber, Susan Holyoke.

A 22-year-old Lincoln coed, Nancy Sals, was crowned Queen of the May at the 82nd observance.

The maid of honor was Amy Zimmerman, 22, also of Lincoln. Both were selected in an election by all coeds at the University.

EL CHICANO

MONDAY • MAY 10 • 7:00 PM BY BROYHILL FOUNTAIN

FREE!

Sponsored by Mexican American student assoc & Nebraska union program office

AS PART OF THE MEXICAN AMERICAN CULTURAL OBSERVANCE

Rain check in Ballroom

Publications Board Now Interviewing

Important Positions Open:

- * EDITOR
- * MANAGING EDITOR
- * NEWS EDITOR
- * ADVERTISING MANAGER
- * Sophomore Board Member---

Freshman At Present

APPLY NOW! BEGIN NEXT FALL