Short Stuff

Students who plan to apply for admission to a medical school in the fall 1972 must have taken the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT). The test, prepared by the Psychological Corporation, is given twice a year and all of the accredited medical schools in the United States and Canada require that applicants take the test. The test must be taken at least one year before the date of admission to the medical school.

This year the test was given in May and will be given again on October 16th. A student who has not taken the test previously, or one who wants to repeat the test, must apply for admission to the test. Any student who is planning to take the test this fall, October 16, 1971, must have his application returned to New York no later than Sept. 29, 1971. The application must be accompanied by a "2 by 2" photograph.

Application forms for the MCAT can be obtained from the premedical advisers, or from Dr. Paul A. Landolt, Room 440, Oldfather Hall.

There will be a Transcendental Meditation Introductory Lecture tonight, 8 p.m. in the Nebraska Union.

Alpha Zeta, an agricultural honorary will meet tonight at 5:30 at Scott's Pancake House, 13th and L Sts.

Advertisement for the National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln. It features a black and white illustration of two cheerleaders in 'GO BIG RED' ponchos. The text below the illustration reads: 'The National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln is a great believer in Big Red. So this year, we're giving a FREE Go Big Red-Number One poncho to any student who opens a "Cornhusker" checking account at NBC. Our ponchos are the color of Memorial Stadium on a football Saturday. And they'll last as long as Nebraska's black shirts, well known for their durability. So come in and visit the friendly people at NBC soon. Stop by the main bank, 13th and O, or the drive-in patio office at 10th and O. Both are close to campus and both offer you FREE Big Red ponchos when you open your "Cornhusker" checking account...at the National Bank of Commerce. Member FDIC.'
