

Students question poll; regents defend results

"If the basis for a decision is inaccurate, is the decision inaccurate?" That is the question Mike Berns, ASUN Senate president pro tem and member of the Council on Student Life (CSL) asked Wednesday.

Berns said he has reason to believe that many mistakes were made in the recent polling of parents of students living in University housing.

The poll was used by the Board of Regents to determine whether the Magrath proposal for co-ed visitation would be allowed to go into effect. Parents were asked in the survey whether they approved of the new policy. Students were also mailed questionnaires asking for their reply.

The parents overwhelmingly disapproved of the program while students, accepted it by a greater margin.

"There was a major discrepancy in the survey," Berns said. "A random sample was taken of more than 90 students on three floors at Abel Hall. Thirty of those asked said their parents had not been contacted by the University."

Other students claim that their parents received more than one ballot, he said.

"There should be an investigation of the survey. If these errors are typical of the survey it cannot be accurate," Berns said.

Board of Regents President Ed Schwartzkopf also said there might be cause for an investigation.

"If these figures are true," he said, "then we should look into the problem. If this is typical of the survey, it should be thrown out."

Schwartzkopf, said in a Wednesday telephone interview that he would be "surprised, disappointed and concerned" if anything went wrong with the survey.

He said that if there were mistakes they were just errors and not an attempt by the board to slant the survey.

"If every mistake was not an honest one then we (the Board of Regents) are responsible," he said.

Regents Robert Raun and Robert Prokop concurred with Schwartzkopf's opinion.

Regent Robert Koefoot said "the survey was honest and open. We will abide by the vote of the parents," he said.

He did not want to comment on the possible inaccuracy of the poll.

Regent J. G. Elliot said "the man who made those charges is crazy." He declined further comment on the survey.

Black musicians knock conditions

The state of contemporary black music was the topic discussed Thursday by three men integrally involved in that music.

The three—jazz trumpeter Clark Terry; Preston Love, the West Coast Musical director for Motown records and a studio woodwind player; and Don Davis, disc jockey and station manager of Omaha radio station KOWH—agreed that conditions are sub-par.

Clark said each television network is compelled to have 25-40 musicians, and that blacks are represented mainly as tokens.

The reason for this, he said, was that "the contractor is the man who decides on the musicians. Some resist hiring blacks as much as they can."

Love pointed out that blacks are the true originators of jazz and rhythm and blues. But not very many blacks play in the original style anymore, he said, and "jazz" has become an "elastic word."

The greatest jazz players are considered funny because "they swing and sing little anecdotes. Now they're expected to sing abstractly and have that faraway look in their eyes."

He said some of today's soul musicians play well technically, but miss the "blues note."

Said Love: "You've got to get that blues note. Without it, there is no jazz."

ICC urges Magrath Plan support

The Inter-Co-op Council (ICC) has joined the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Residence Hall Association in calling for support of the Magrath Plan for co-ed visitation and the concept of student self-determination.

ICC President Roy Rodgers said Thursday the Council passed a resolution urging its 250 members to support the dormitories.

There are five UNL co-ops in the organization.

SA's discuss discipline Saturday

A mass meeting of ALL UNL student assistants (SA's) has been called for 3:00 p.m. Saturday, according to Abel Hall SA Mike Healey, the meeting is being held to discuss UNL disciplinary measures that might be taken against students if a mass violation of the present RHA visitation policy was to occur.

The meeting is tentatively scheduled for the Nebraska Union.

The $124.85 savings we offer you are real...

The $200 "Smiling Sam Xanadu" offers may not be.

When you're shopping around for a stereo system, beware of list prices, bearing large discounts. These discounts are often and easily attached to equipment which has an inflated list price — one which represents a level of quality that the equipment may not measure up to. If you buy a "Smiling Sam Xanadu $500 system, special this week for only $300", you may well not save $200. Not if you could have purchased a better sounding, more reliable system for the same $300 (regardless of "list" or "discount.")

Sometimes the big savings give you LESS for your money. The $124.85 we're taking off the $474.80 list price of our Harman-Kardon/BSR-McDonald/Utah system represents a MEANINGFUL savings because even at $474.80 the system represents a better value in performance and reliability than does any other system you could buy for the same price — or less. The savings are real because the value of the components is real.

The new Harman-Kardon 330A is an updated version of the world's largest selling receiver, the 330. It provides increased power — 45 watts RMS (the most conservative method of power rating), both channels combined with less than .7% distortion.

The 510X BSR McDonald is actually a full-sized 510X with a lighter turntable, conical stylus and standard base and dust cover. It has damped cue and pause control, synchronous motor, and a Shure M-75 magnetic cartridge.

The Utah Heritage HS1-C bookshelf speakers are large enough to be used as floor standing units, or compact enough to fit in bookshelf spaces. Yet, they offer the big, virile sound that comes from a 12-inch 3-way 3-speaker system.

Each component in our $349.95 system has proved its value and reliability in a series of tests on our service bench. Electronics Unlimited Stereo Studio stands behind this system with the solid reputation of its OWN service department, which does warranty repair work IN LINCOLN on every component we sell.

Walnut enclosure not included.

In our store these components add up to $474.80. We offer you the system for $349.95. At $474.80 it's an excellent value, but at $349.95 it's a great buy on an excellent value.
